THE LATEST.

The Louisville baseball club has a new owner this morning. He is William Grayson, Jr., of St. Louis, Mo. He bought the club yesterday from George Tebeau for a consideration said to have been $50,000. Mr. Grayson is a son of a wealthy lumberman of the Missouri City. He is an inveterate baseball "fan" and will move to Louisville at once and devote his attention to capturing the American Association pennant.

The tariff conferees made progress yesterday and it is probable they will be able to report a tariff bill to-day. The main delay was caused by the hides and leather goods schedules. Oil is to be on the free list and the duty on coal will be 45 cents per ton. A duty of $1.25 per thousand feet for rough lumber has been agreed upon. Iron ore and the cotton goods schedules are still being debated.

At an informal conference between President Cantrill, of the Equity Society, and President LeBus and Executive Committeeman Ferguson, of the Burley Society, no agreement could be reached on the demands made by the Equity Society. President Cantrill offered to strike out the clause providing for a division of the revenues if the other provisions should be agreed to.

President Taft's plans for his Western and Southern trip in the fall are gradually taking definite shape. He has decided that he will make the trip down the Mississippi River from St. Louis to New Orleans late in October as the guest of the Deep Waterways Convention, which will be held at New Orleans upon his arrival there.

Dispatches to Dun's Review indicate seasonable dullness in some branches of trade, but the tendency is toward continued expansion, orders for future requirements showing a satisfactory increase. Many manufacturing plants are operating up to capacity and industrial conditions record steady improvement.

Private telegrams from Belgrade, Servia, say that the condition of King Peter is arousing great anxiety. His Majesty is suffering from calcination of the arteries, complicated by inflammation of the veins. At night he is almost sleepless and his sudden death would cause no surprise.

Roger Whinfield, of Fon du Lac, Wis., died from cholera at Koenigsburg, Prussia. Although every precaution has already been taken to prevent the disease from coming into Germany, instructions were telegraphed to Koenigsburg to use every endeavor to prevent it from spreading.

Madarlal Dhinagri, the Indian student who, on the night of July 1 shot and killed Lieut. Col. Sir William Hutt Curzon Wyllie and Dr. Cawas Lalcaca at London, was found guilty and sentenced to death yesterday at the conclusion of a trial of less than an hour's duration.

The president of the National Tobacco Department of the American Society of Equity has called a meeting of the tobacco members of the society in Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin at Bowling Green August 19.

Cornelius P. Shea, the former Chicago labor leader, who was found guilty on Wednesday of attempting to murder Alice Walsh, was sentenced yesterday to not less than five nor more than twenty-five years in prison.

Fred G. Jenkins, who was assistant cashier of the Farmers' National Bank of Cynthiana, committed suicide by shooting himself. No motive is known. His accounts with the bank are correct.

It is reported in Mexico that the United States Government is contemplating establishing a protectorate over the Republic of Honduras. The report is officially denied at Washington.

Officers are unable to locate Dr. W. H. Nuttall, former superintendent of the Institute for the Feeble-Minded, who is charged with unlawfully detaining a woman.

The Marquis de Villalobar, the new Spanish Minister to the United States, arrived at New York yesterday from Liverpool on the steamer Lusitania.

The nomination of Charles R. Crane, of Illinois, to be Minister to China was sent to the Senate yesterday by the President and was later confirmed.

TARIFF REPORT NEAR AT HAND

Conferees May Come To An Agreement To-day.

Hides and Leather Goods Still Cause Delay.

NO ACTION BEFORE TUESDAY.

PROBABLE REPORT ON "NATIONAL ISSUES."

Following is the probable report of the tariff conference on the "national issues:"

Hides and Leather Goods—No agreement, but substantial reduction of duties on both.

Oil—On the free list.

Print Paper—$3 per ton.

Washington, July 23.—While no agreement was reached by the tariff conferees to-day on coal, lumber, hides, oil, iron ore, the cotton schedule or wood pulp and print paper, it was said to-night by the conferees after adjournment for the day that the prospects of settling these big questions tomorrow were excellent.

For a time to-day it appeared that these so-called "national issues" might be disposed of by the conferees before the end of the day's session. However, when adjournment was taken at 6 p. m. until to-morrow morning it was learned that the matters under discussion were still at issue.

No Report Before Tuesday.

Should the conference complete its work to-morrow it would be impossible to report it before Tuesday, as the House, which agreed to the conference on the tariff bill and, therefore, under the rules must receive it before the Senate, adjourned to-day until Tuesday.

Heroic measures were put into operation to-day in an effort to compose differences existing between the Senate and House on the tariff bill and to carry out President Taft's programme for a reduction of duties on raw materials.

All But Conferees Excluded.

All except the actual conferees were excluded from the chamber and it was agreed that discussions leading up to a settlement of any of the subjects familiarly termed "national issues" should be regarded as confidential. All of the conferees said to-night that the feelings entertained for each other were more pleasant than they had been for many days.

When Arthur B. Shelton, clerk of the Finance Committee, and William K. Payne, clerk of the House Ways and Means Committee, were excused from the conference it was understood that votes would be taken on all of the subjects in dispute before adjournment for the day. As the question of hides is giving the committee more trouble than any other of the schedules that have claimed the attention of the President, it was discussed first. The discussion had not proceeded far before it was developed that the differences between the two Houses were almost irreconcilable unless boots and shoes and other leather goods should be greatly reduced if hides were to go on the free list.

Must Get Together.

Senator Aldrich had reports from many Western Senators protesting against the removal of the duty on hides or a reduction below 10 per cent. ad valorem. The only terms on which the Western Senators would consent to consider the abolition of the duty involved the removal of the duty on leather goods. It is understood that the Rhode Island Senator said that there was no use in reporting to the Senate something that stood no chance for adoption and that the hide interests and the shoe interests must get together and make concessions if an agreement was to be reached.

Discussion then turned upon the amount of reductions the leather trade could stand without serious injury. On this subject a variety of opinions were expressed, many of which appeared to some of the conferees to be inconsistent, considering the relations sole leather bears to boots and shoes, and that harness bears to finished and parts of shoes. Soon it was developed that the conferees would have to confer with associates not on the Conference Committee, and therefore an adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock to-morrow. The strict executive sessions inaugurated to-day will be resumed to-morrow.

Look For Agreement.

After adjournment Senators Lodge and Crane and Representative McCall, of Massachusetts, had a long consultation with Senator Aldrich. It is not known what understanding, if any, was reached, but it would surprise very few people outside of the conference chamber if an agreement is reached to-morrow substantially reducing the duties on hides and all leather goods.

After the duty has been fixed on hides and leather goods little difficulty is apprehended in reaching an agreement to put oil on the free list and in compromising upon a duty of 45 cents a ton on coal, a rate of $1.25 a thousand feet on rough lumber, with proportionate differentials, and a rate of about $3 a ton on print paper. Iron ore is expected to give more trouble than any of these subjects except hides.

Fight For Duty On Iron.

Many Senators thought little objection would be made to placing iron ore on the free list and this question was generally regarded as good as settled. Senator Burrows is making a stubborn fight for the retention of the Senate rate of 25c a ton on iron ore and he is said to be confident that he will prevent the abolition of the duty. It is difficult to predict whether the Senate rate will remain, whether the ore will be made free or whether a rate will be fixed in the vicinity of 10 cents a ton.

"Special Interests" On Watch.

The news that the conferees had excluded the clerks of the committee and were trying to reach decisions on the important items in dispute was not long in reaching the hands of lobbyists in the corridor leading to the conference chamber. From that moment everything was confusion. The representatives of special interests used, without success, every sort of artful dodge in their anxiety to learn something of the nature of the proceedings. Several times the voices of the conferees sounded through the walls at a high pitch that indicated anything but harmony and this added to the excitement. If there was any friction it was smoothed over before the conference was adjourned. All of the members came out of the chamber smiling.

Clerks Keeping Up Work.

There was some disappointment when it was learned the House had adjourned until Tuesday as that action makes it impossible for the conferees to make a report before Tuesday. Representative Dwight, of New York, the House "whip," will be held responsible if there is any delay. Answering some criticism to-day, Mr. Dwight said he had understood that after all of the disputed points in the bill are adjusted two or three days would be required for the clerks to make up the conference report and the statements of the chairmen of the Senate and House

INTERURBAN CAR DERAILED ON CURVE

SEVERAL PASSENGERS AND TRAINMEN INJURED.

ACCIDENT AT SEYMOUR, IND.

Seymour, Ind., July 23.—[Special.]—The Indianapolis and Seymour local northbound car, due here at 12:46 this afternoon, jumped the track on a curve just as it entered Seymour. The car did not turn over, but landed on its side down an embankment. Among the injured were:

S. A. Barnes, lawyer, of Seymour, back wrenched, side injured and one rib broken. He was taken to his home.

George Andy Robertson, of Seymour, aged 69 years, County Surveyor of Jackson county; right hip badly bruised and sprained and other bruises; probably the worst injured.

Claud Holton, conductor, of Scottsburg.

George Hopewell, motorman, of this city.

—— Wilkes, motorman, of Scottsburg.

There were fifteen passengers on the car, but none except those mentioned received injuries more than slight scratches and bruises.

George Hopewell was the regular motorman on the car, but was breaking in a new man, Wilkes, of Vienna. Wilkes was running the car and says that he was in fifty feet of the curve before he noticed it. He at once turned off the power and applied the brakes, but as the track is kept greased on the curve the brakes had little effect. The car was probably running at a speed of forty miles an hour when the power was shut off and possibly slowed down to thirty. The car was not seriously damaged.

"BOOTLEGGERS" FINED; SALES GO ON CONVICTIONS SECURED IN SEVERAL CASES AT EMINENCE.

MANY OTHERS DISMISSED BY THE COURT.

HENRY NEWS' STRAIGHT TALK.

Eminence, Ky., July 23.—[Special.]—The result of the large number of prosecutions instituted in this county by a law and order league for the selling of intoxicants in a local option territory is a dismissal of most of the warrants and a plea of "guilty" in a few of the cases and the payment of fines in those cases. Some days ago the Courier-Journal reported the wholesale issuance of warrants here by detectives brought here by the league for the purpose of discovering leaks in the "dry" country.

The Henry News, a local newspaper, will say editorially in its issue to-morrow:

Apropos of the main topic for local, State and national discussion, that of the liquor question, a few words in regard to the local phase might not be amiss. The recent development in our city as regards "bootlegging" and the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquors lead the writer to believe that no effective method can be used to abolish it. Intoxicating liquor is being sold in Eminence to-day, was sold yesterday, will be sold to-morrow, and every other day so long as the manufacture is permitted in any part of the globe.

If decent business men are not allowed to sell it with a high license and wide-open saloon, then criminals will "boot-leg" it, and the class of intoxicant that is "bootlegged" will make more criminals to take the place of those who are imprisoned.

WILLIAM P. THORNE JOINS THE CHURCH

FORMER LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR BAPTIZED AT CLOSE OF EMINENCE REVIVAL.

Eminence, Ky., July 23.—[Special.]—The three weeks' revival conducted here by the Brooks brothers at the Christian church has come to a close after the reception of many new members into the church. The last night of the meeting was made particularly interesting by former Lieut. Gov. William P. Thorne becoming a member of the church and receiving the rite of baptism.

Not Leon Ling.

London, July 23.—The man whom an American visitor saw outside a jewelry shop here on July 15 and identified as Leon Ling, the Chinaman suspected of the murder of Elsie Sigel, in New York, on June 9, has been traced by Scotland Yard detectives, and found to be a Japanese associated with an Anglo-Japanese financial firm. The Scotland Yard officials are satisfied that Leon Ling is not in London.

BRIAND FORMS NEW CABINET

Announces Success to President Fallieres.

Simyan, Who Caused Strike, Not Retained.

Strong Effort To End Labor Troubles

OFFICIAL NOTE PUBLISHED.

Paris, July 23.—After a day of conferences, Aristide Briand succeeded in forming a new French ministry, and officially announced the success of his endeavors to President Fallieres at 10 o'clock to-night. The new Cabinet is made up as follows:

Minister of Justice—M. Barthou.

Minister of Foreign Affairs—M. Pichon.

Minister of Finance—Georges Cochery.

Minister of Commerce—Jean Dupey.

Minister of the Colonies—M. Trouillot.

Minister of Labor—M. Viviano.

Five Yet To Be Chosen.

The portfolios of war and navy will be filled to-morrow morning. These have been offered respectively to Gen. Brun and Admiral Boue de la Payrere, and both are expected to accept.

The post of Under Secretary of Posts and Telegraphs, which was held by M. Simyan, whose resignation was demanded during the strike of postmen and telegraphers by the Socialists, will be suppressed. An under secretaryship of finance will be created and the office given to Rene Renoult. M. Dujardin-Beaumaz will remain as undersecretary of public instruction and Beaux arts.

Briand's Difficulties.

M. Briand had considerable difficulty in appeasing the appetites aroused by the fall of the Cabinet, and only satisfied the Radicals, who charged him with being a Socialist, by the statement, "I intend to complete the work of the Clemenceau Cabinet and carry out the wishes of the President and form a Republican Cabinet committed to Republican policies."

M. Caillaux, Minister of Finance in the old Cabinet, laid down certain conditions relating to his accepting again the portfolio, which M. Briand could not grant, and besides the opposition in the Senate to Caillaux's draft of the income tax bill made it advisable to substitute M. Cochery, who was Minister of Finance in the Meline Cabinet of 1896-98. It is announced that M. Cochery's selection does not mean the abandonment of the income tax measure, but its modification on lines more acceptable to the Senate.

Important Announcement.

A ministerial declaration, which was formulated and unanimously accepted by the members of the new Cabinet, contains an important statement indicating that the Cabinet is committed to an attempt to end the war between labor and capital, which has disturbed France for so many years.

An official note says this declaration after noting the famous remark of M. Waldock Rousseau, "capital must work and labor possess," insists upon the necessity of an alliance between labor and capital and the avoidance of every cause of conflict; that the members of the Cabinet, regardless of their political affiliations, resolve with the aid of Parliament to ameliorate the moral and material well-being of the workers as far as in their power lies, but that the accomplishment of this end will depend upon the support of the workers themselves; that the latter must give security to capital or otherwise undertakings will be abandoned and the economic development of the country arrested.

POLICE GRAFT NETS FORTUNE EACH YEAR

INDICTMENTS AT CHICAGO CHARGE ACCEPTANCE OF "PROTECTION MONEY."

Chicago, July 23.—An astounding story of graft in the so-called West Side levee of Chicago is said to have been related to the grand jury to-day.

Detective Sergeant Jeremiah Griffin, alleged to have been the collector of protection money from dive keepers, gamblers and cocaine sellers, was indicted on eight counts. He is alleged to have garnered as high as $9,000 a month, a very small part of which remained in his own pockets. In all, Griffin, who travels out of the Desplaines-street station, headquarters of Inspector McCann, is alleged to have collected $150,000 from denizens of the under world of the West Side.

Indictments were also returned against Louis Frank, saloonkeeper and politician, who is said to have accumulated a fortune of $1,000,000 in the levee district, and against Michael Heitler, the latter being familiarly known as "Mike and Pike." They are alleged to have collected money from illegal houses by representing themselves as agents of the police.

Testimony against Griffin was given by Charles Yanker, a levee proprietor, known commonly as "Monkey Charley." Morris Schatz, who is said to conduct an illegal establishment at 108 Peoria street, appears on the indictment as complainant. Four detectives also gave testimony. One witness charged that the price of protection rose recently from $20 to $40 a month, and that he was compelled to quit business on account of the expense.

Big Company Asks Charter.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 23.—The Chattanooga Railway and Light Company filed application for a charter in the office of the County Court Clerk today. The capital is given as $5,000,000, $2,000,000 preferred and $3,000,000 common stock. The incorporators are Foster V. Brown, J. C. Lightfoot, Jr., W. E. Rolleau, Frank Spurlock, T. G. Newman, Joe Brown and M. J. Horan.

BIG CROWD WITNESSES NEGRO'S EXECUTION.

Brandon, Miss., July 23.—Fully 5,000 persons witnessed the hanging here this afternoon of Will Mack, a negro who was executed for criminally assaulting Miss Mamie Meyers, daughter of a farmer living near Pelahatchie, Miss., on November 17, 1908. It was the first public execution which has taken place in Mississippi for years.

Mack proclaimed his innocence to the last and went to his death without a show of feeling.

PRETENDER'S SON WINS AMERICAN GIRL'S HAND.

Lisbon, July 23.—Prince Miguel of Braganza, elder son of Duke Michael, the pretender to the Portuguese throne, to-day renounced forever his rights to the throne of Portugal in order to marry Miss Anita Stewart, daughter of Mrs. James Henry Smith, of New York.

PRISONER AT DENVER ADMITS HE IS BYRD

WANTED FOR KILLING FELLOW CLERK AT MEMPHIS.

BRIDE URGES HIM TO FACE HIS ACCUSERS.

MAKES SELF-DEFENSE PLEA.

Denver, Colo., July 23.—James W. Robinson, arrested here yesterday under the belief that he is J. L. Byrd, wanted in Memphis, Tenn., for the murder of Joseph Black, to-day admitted his identity.

Robinson's confession followed a talk with Chief of Police Armstrong, in the latter's office. Robinson's bride of two weeks, who was present, finally interrupted:

"Jimmie, if you are the man, tell them," she said. "It will make no difference to me, because I will stick by you no matter what the circumstances."

Then Robinson said:

"Chief, I am the man you want. I killed black because I thought my life was in danger. We engaged in an argument over a baseball bet and he started toward me with an open knife in his hand. I seized the only weapon at hand, a shoe stretcher, and struck him over the head with it. I did not mean to kill him. I did not tell you before on account of my wife."

Byrd added that Black previously had insulted him several times.

"For two years I have been wishing I had never left home," he said, "and now that I've been caught and told my story I am happy and will go back there and clear up everything and continue to live right."

Byrd said that in a panic of fear, after his fatal encounter with Black, he went to Texas, stayed there a few days, then came to Colorado, later going to San Francisco and Seattle and returning to Colorado, where he secured employment.

Joseph Black His Victim.

Memphis, Tenn., July 23.—J. L. Byrd, who is under arrest at Denver, Colo., under the name of James W. Robinson, is wanted here on the murder of Jos. Black, who was killed on July 8, 1907, at 4 North Main street, where both Black and Byrd were employed as shoe clerks. It is alleged that Byrd struck Black on the head with a blunt instrument, following an altercation over a trivial matter. He escaped immediately after the fight, and successfuly evaded the police until recognized in Denver by E. A. Collins, of this city.

CHAUFFEURS TELL OF FIGHT WITH SUTTON

WERE NOT PRESENT WHEN HIS DEATH OCCURRED.

AUTHORITIES UNABLE TO FIND LIEUT. ROELKER.

ADJOURN UNTIL NEXT MONDAY.

Annapolis, Md., July 23.—The navy practically rested its case to-day in the investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of Lieut. James N. Sutton, of Portland, Ore., who was adjudged a suicide by the naval board of inquiry two years ago. After a short session to-day Commander John Hood, U. S. N., president of the court of inquiry, adjourned the hearing until Monday. With the exception of Lieut. Harold H. Utley and Dr. F. C. Cook, recently attached to the battleship North Carolina and now on the way to this country from Europe, nearly all the remaining witnesses are considered to be witnesses for the interested persons outside of the service.

Maj. Leonard, Judge Advocate of the court, said after adjournment to-day that the witnesses on hand ought to be disposed of by Wednesday and then an adjournment taken until the absent witnesses arrive.

Most of to-day's session was occupied with the testimony of the two chauffeurs, William I. Owens and Edward Griffith. Owens testified he drove Sutton and a party of young officers from Carvel Hall Hotel to the marine camp on the night of the shooting and witnessed an altercation and interrupted fist fight between Sutton and Lieut. Adams as he left his passengers near the parade grounds, adjacent to the camp.

He was told to "beat it," he said, came back to town and did not learn of the shooting until the next morning. Griffith, who had driven Lieut. Potts and another officer to the camp just ahead of Owens, testified he met the Sutton party on his way back. He stopped because he saw Owens' car standing still and thought it had broken down. He did not see any fight or hear any loud words, he said. His testimony in other details corroborated that of Owens.

Lieut. Roelker who is supposed to have been hit with a bullet from Sutton's revolver during the quarrel, has not yet been located, although his testimony is considered most important. The list of witnesses remaining to be examined consists of Lieut. Utley, Surgeon Cook, Lieut. Templin M. Potts, Jr., Prof. Gilbert P. Coleman, of the naval academy; Frank Fogg, of Washington, D. C.; Private Charles Kennedy, Mrs. Sutton and her daughter.

SECRET WEDDING URGED BY KING

But Degrades Cousin When Marriage Is Published.

Alfonso Even Obtained Necessary Dispensation.

Prince Blames Clerical Party For His Troubles.

MATCH REAL LOVE AFFAIR.

Paris, July 23.—The details surrounding the romantic marriage of Prince Alfonso of Bourbon-Orleans to Princess Beatrice of Saxon-Coburg, which cost him his position as a Prince of the Royal House of Spain and his career in the Spanish army, have become public.

They reveal the fact that King Alfonso, instead of refusing his consent to the marriage, as was reported by Madrid dispatches, favored and actually advised the Prince to marry her secretly, gave him leave of absence for that purpose and personally intervened by telegraph with the Bamberg ecclesiastical authorities, in whose diocese the marriage took place, to procure a dispensation for it.

This story was obtained from the Prince's own lips by friends a few days ago in Munich, where the couple is spending their honeymoon and when it is known in Europe, it is likely to create a greater sensation than did the wedding and the Prince's disgrace.

Refused At First.

Prince Alfonso and Princess Beatrice first met on the occasion of King Alfonso's marriage to Princess Ena of Battenberg, in 1906. The Prince then was only 20 years old and fell deperately in love with the Princess and proposed marriage; but Beatrice refused him in most decided fashion, even declining him permission to correspond with her.

Shortly after this the Prince entered the military school at Toledo and subsequently in 1907 the couple met again at San Sebastian. Both the Queen and the Queen-mother, knowing of the Prince's infatuation, espoused his cause and sought to induce Beatrice to relent. The Princess, however, declared that she never would change her religion, but finally when she said she had no objection to rearing her children as Catholics, the Queen-mother replied:

"Then there is not the slightest difficulty to the union. I always said that if I had had a second son he should have married a Protestant."

She added that she, herself, had Protestant ancestors.

King Asks Her Hand.

Later, at LaGranja, King Alfonso formally asked the hand of Princess Beatrice for his cousin and when Beatrice on that occasion raised the question of religion, his majesty said:

"I give you my word of honor there will not be the slightest difficulty."

The Prince then again proposed and was accepted and the couple, who had not yet apprised Beatrice's mother, the Duchess of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, with difficulty prevented King Alfonso from officially announcing the engagement.

When he returned to Madrid, King Alfonso asked Premier Maura what he thought of the marriage and the Premier replied that the marriage of an infante of Spain to a Protestant could not take place on account of the difficulties it would cause the government. King Alfonso was absolutely furious.

Princess Beatrice, because of her friendship for Queen Victoria, said she would give up the Prince and King Alfonso summoned the Prince to Madrid and asked what it was his intention to do in the matter. The Prince replied that he had given his word to make Beatrice his wife and besides, his personal finances would not permit him to retire from the proposed union and that he intended to marry the Princess regardless of consequences.

Offers To Help Prince.

King Alfonso warmly congratulated the Prince on his attitude, saying that his reply was just what he had expected, that it was worthy of a Bourbon and even if the Constitution prevented him from giving official consent to the marriage without the approval of his Ministers, he as Alfonso of Bourbon would do everything in his power for the couple.

Princess Beatrice then departed from Madrid and Prince Alfonso, upon the advice of the King, went to see Pope Pius and asked for a dispensation for a mixed marriage. The Spanish Government meantime warned the Vatican of the proposed union and the dispensation neither was granted nor actually refused. After this the couple waited patiently, considering themselves affianced, as also did King Alfonso, who visited Princess Beatrice at Munich last summer.

Advises Secret Marriage.

When the Prince was graduated from the military school at Toledo July 12 he immediately volunteered to go to the front, as the war in Morocco had broken out. King Alfonso granted the Prince a three days' leave of absence before going to Melilla and urged him secretly to marry Princess Beatrice, declaring that he would wire the Bishop of Bamburg to grant a dispensation.

Prince Alfonso arrived in Coburg July 15 and the civil marriage took place that morning. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the priest at Coburg received a telegraphic dispensation from the Bishop of Bamberg and at 3:50 o'clock the Catholic ceremony was performed. It was not intended that the news of the marriage should be made public, but it was printed in Spain and the Royal decree of the degradation of Prince Alfonso followed.

Maura Forced Degredation.

The Prince in concluding his story to his friend said:

"Maura, the head of the Clerical party in Spain and because he holds a majority in Parliament, forced the King to kick his own cousin out of the country and the army, to strip him of title and honors for the crime of marrying a Protestant who is a niece of King Edward and a first cousin of the Emperors of Germany and Russia."

The Prince again has wired King Alfonso asking to be allowed to go to the front. The Infanta Eulalie, the Prince's mother, who is here, is almost prostrated over the ruin of her son's career, as she knew that both the Spanish and British royal families were in perfect sympathy with the marriage.

BUILDING COLLAPSES BURYING LABORERS.

Three Bodies Recovered At St. Petersburg and Fourteen Others Are Under the Ruins.

St. Petersburg, July 23.—A six-story house in course of construction on Basyesshaya street fell to-day, burying a large number of workmen in the ruins. Three dead bodies were recovered and fourteen others are definitely known to be still buried under the debris. Altogether twenty-three men are still unaccounted for. Eight of the injured have been sent to hospitals. Several bodies are in plain sight of the rescuers, but the work of recovering them is being conducted with great difficulty, owing to the danger of further collapses.

This is the third similar catastrophe within recent years of buildings in the hands of a man who makes a specialty of reconstructing old edifices.

PROHIBITION FIGHT REOPENED IN GEORGIA

LEADERS ALMOST COME TO BLOWS IN LEGISLATURE.

GOV. BROWN'S ANTE-ELECTION PLEDGE CUTS FIGURE.

"WETS" START A FILIBUSTER.

Atlanta, Ga., July 23.—When the Legislature adjourned this afternoon it was evident that the prohibition fight, which everyone thought was stilled two years ago, had broken out once more and that the battle would have to be fought all over again. The anti-prohibitionists openly declare in favor of filibusters during the remainder of the session, which is only twenty days. The drys promptly forced through a resolution calling the daily sessions at 9 instead of 10 o'clock. And they declare to-night unless the new dry legislation is passed promptly at this session they will force an extra session to accomplish their purpose.

A new feature of the row is a pledge extracted from Gov. Brown, before his election, by which he bound himself to veto any liquor legislation that might be passed by the State Assembly. At that time the prohibitionists did not dream of more stringent dry laws, but were endeavoring to fight against any measure introduced by the wets.

The ethical question as to whether Gov. Brown can sign the new bill is exciting much discussion and even the drys are divided over it.

The bill which is causing all the trouble is the one drawn by Representative Hooper Alexander, of DeKalb county, making it illegal to buy, sell or possess any liquid beverage which contains even a trace of alcohol. It is aimed at the sale of beer and near-beer, under a decision of the courts that to be intoxicating a liquor must contain more than 4 per cent. alcohol. The prohibition law enacted two years ago merely prohibited the sale of intoxicating liquors without specifying what was intoxicating.

When the House met this morning, Alexander declared that Anderson, of Savannah, who always opposes Alexander, had planned a filibuster.

Anderson met the challenge with the defi: "Yes, it is a fight, a filibuster, a row—anything you choose to call it. But it's a fight right down the line."

An attempt to put the bill upon its second reading was prevented by Ellis, of Bibb county, who held the floor until the time for adjournment. Meantime, Alexander and Anderson nearly came to blows upon the floor, but were separated by friends.

The renewal of the quarrel has attracted the representatives of both sides to the scene and the battle is now on. The wets are fighting to retain what they have, under court decisions, while the drys want to shut up even the soda fountains if there be a trace of alcohol in the drinks. They frankly say that the time for absolute prohibition has arrived.

PRESIDENT GIVES OUT SCHEDULE OF TRIP

HE PLANS TO GO DOWN THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER LATE IN OCTOBER.

Washington, July 23.—President Taft's plans for his Western and Southern trip in the fall are gradually taking definite shape. He has decided that he will make the trip down the Mississippi River from St. Louis to New Orleans late in October as the guest of the Deep Waterways Convention, which will be held at New Orleans upon his arrival there.

The date of the President's meeting with President Diaz, of Mexico, at El Paso, Tex., has definitely been set for October 16. The President will spend October 19 at San Antonio, Tex., and then will make a four days' visit to the ranch of his brother, Charles P. Taft, near Corpus Christi. Leaving the ranch the President will stop at Houston, October 24, and go thence direct to St. Louis to begin his trip down the Mississippi. President Taft added Columbus, Ga., to the list of places he will visit. He made this promise to-day to a committee from the Board of Trade and City Council of that city, who were escorted to the White House by Representative Adamson.

EVANSVILLE MAN STEERS MACHINE IN ORDER TO AVOID DYNAMITE ON TRACK.

Evansville, Ind., July 23.—[Special.]—While William Scheriflus was riding along at a lively clip in his automobile to-day he saw a large stick of dynamite lying on a street car track, and to avoid the deadly explosive, he turned his machine and ran into a brick wall. He was thrown out and badly bruised. The machine was wrecked. The dynamite stick was attached to a fuse, and it is believed it was placed on the car tracks by sympathizers of the street car strikers.

DEADLOCK ON AT LEXINGTON

Second Conference of Tobacco Men Without Result.

Equity Willing To Strike Out Revenue Division

If Other Provisions of Demand Are Agreed To.

PROPOSITION IS DECLINED.

Lexington, Ky., July 23.—[Special.]—Following the meeting last night between representatives of the American Society of Equity and the Burley Tobacco Society, at which the proposition submitted by the Equity people was rejected by the Burley men, an informal conference was held this morning between President J. Campbell Cantrill, of the Equity Society, and President LeBus and Executive Committeeman Ferguson, at which a second proposition was presented by Mr. Cantrill.

In this second proposition, President Cantrill offered to strike out of the original demands the clause referring to a division of the revenues if the other provisions should be agreed to. This conference, however, was without result, President LeBus standing by the attitude assumed by the Burley Society at the meeting last night. Committeeman Ferguson, it is stated, was inclined to entertain President Cantrill's proposition.

Miss Lloyd Speaks For Burley.

Following the rejection of the demands of the American Society of Equity by the Burley Tobacco Society, Miss Alice Lloyd, press representative of the Burley organization, to-day gave out the following official statement, amplifying that given out last night:

First—In regard to the first request of the Society of Equity some members of the Burley Tobacco Society committee could be considered, and that the words "A branch of the American Society of Equity" could be inserted in stencil.

Second—Regarding the second request the committee felt compelled to abide by the experience of the executive committee and district board in dealing with the 1906 and 1907 pools, which experience shows that the good of the society requires the double check of the county on the central office and the central office on the county. The board realizes that mismanagement in any given county affects not only that county, but every county in this society.

Third—In regard to the third request, the Burley committee held that to grant it would destroy one of the chief benefits to be derived from the 10 per cent. clause, inasmuch as it would not keep a compact organization, formed by necessity and thus equipped to hold its own on business methods with the manufacturers' combine. Moreover, the Burley committee believes the request springs from misapprehension on the part of the American Society of Equity committee inasmuch as every member of the Burley Tobacco Society owns a proportional share in every warehouse or redrier or storage house in the entire district and receives a share of its earnings, just as much as he owns and profits by those located in his own county. It is true, however, that the amount of the 10 per cent. collected from a county and the expenditures in that county will be in proportion since it takes much or little to store and handle a county's crop in proportion to whether the crop be large or small.

Fourth—The fourth request was not touched upon by either side in the discussion.

Fifth—Upon consideration of the fifth request the Burley Tobacco Society committee found the American Society of Equity to be an expensive agency for pooling the tobacco. The American Society of Equity asks of each of its members $1 subscription for the paper, the official organ, and $1.50 annual dues. In addition they want from the Burley Tobacco Society $1 per hogshead for all tobacco pooled by their agents or local unions, and one-half the buyers' fee. If 150,000 hogsheads are pooled $1 per hogshead and one-half the buyers' fee will amount to $375,000, that is, it takes $2.50 per member and $375,000 in addition to pool the tobacco and leave the Burley Society $75,000 to handle it. When asked to state the name and the number of counties in the Burley belt organized in the American Society of Equity and the paid-up membership of each in order that the Burley Tobacco Society should know for what it is asked to pay this large sum, and what guarantee the American Society of Equity offers that it is able to do what it proposes, the secretary declined to give the information.

Sixth—Regarding the sixth proposition, the secretary was again asked to state the names of the counties in the Burley district in which the American Society of Equity had as many as ten local unions with a paid-up membership, in order that the Burley committee might know the strength of the power and influence for which it was asked to pay so high, the secretary of the American Society of Equity again declined to give the information. Here the conference adjourned at 1:20 a. m.

The Lexington Herald of July 23 states that President Cantrill in an interview gave out that the American Society of Equity gives the Burley Tobacco Society for selling their tobacco nearly $3, while the American Society of Equity receives only $1 for organization work. With the proposition submitted to the Burley Tobacco Society by the American Society of Equity it is easy to figure that 150,000 hogsheads at $2 per hogshead amounts to $450,000. The American Society of Equity in the proposition submitted asks for one-half this sum of $225,000. It furthermore asks for $1 per hogshead on all tobacco pooled by its agents or local unions, and in addition collects in fees and subscriptions for its paper $2.50 per member annually. Mr. Cantrill then states other conditions upon which his committee will co-operate with the Burley Tobacco Society; but this proposition has not reached the Burley tobacco committee. They have no knowledge of what was done by Mr. Cantrill's committee after the conference adjourned.

So far from Mr. Everitt's letter having no bearing on the questions at issue, as Mr. Cantrill states, it shows what were the rulings in the American Society of Equity when the Burley Tobacco Society was incorporated.

In his interview with the Herald reporter Mr. Cantrill still speaks of the 10 per cent. as "spent" and not as invested, as is the purpose of the 10 per cent. clause. This 10 per cent. is to furnish capital upon which to do all kinds of business necessary to preparing the tobacco for market and caring for the same. Mr. Cantrill furthermore speaks of "putting 10 per cent. of the crop of each county in one central place for the building of a warehouse" as if any such proposition had been made by anyone at any time. Mr. Cantrill and his colleagues may yet learn that they are fighting windmills.

Another Equity Statement.

The executive committee of the American Society of Equity, which held a meeting this morning, following the conference with the Burley leaders, adjourned about noon, having taken no action as to what steps to pursue in the matter, but agreeing to give President LeBus and the Burley leaders more time to reply. After the meeting the following statement was given out by Lucien Beckner, representing the Equity people:

The executive committee of the State Union of the American Society of Equity met the committee of the Burley Tobacco Society at the Phoneix Hotel, in this city, last night and made an honest and earnest effort to reconcile the differences that have arisen between the two bodies by reason of the radical departure from Equity methods which the pledge now being circulated makes.

The American Society of Equity feels a serious responsibility in this matter, as it gave birth to the Burley Tobacco Society, induced its members to join it and has permitted it to call itself a branch of our society to the extent that most people have until recently considered them one and the same, using the term "Equity" whenever the tobacco organization was meant. Sometime ago, at Louisville, after careful study of the pooling contract, the State executive committee decided that it could not ask the members of the society to sign it.

Propositions of Night Before.

The propositions submitted last evening were, to state in the contract that the B. T. S. was a branch of the A. S. of E.; that the collection and disbursement of proceeds of sales be made by the county boards of control; that in counties where the A. S. of E. had as many as ten local unions, the county union be given the contract for pledging the tobacco and paid the proposed canvasser's fee of $1 a hogshead for what it got; that the 10 per cent. clause be changed to read that each county board of control manage the amount its county contributed thereto; that a substantial reduction of salaries be made, and that for its services in organizing the district the buyer's fee of $3 a hogshead be divided between the B. T. S. and the A. S. E.

The Burley committee finally decided that they would reject the whole proposition, with the possible exception of the first item, which it asked time to lay before its executive committee. It based its refusal on the items paying the $1 hogshead fee to the county unions, and dividing the buyer's fee; attempting to make it appear that these would produce vast sums of money in excess of the values they would receive therefor.

No Answer.

The decision came at such a late hour in the morning that by the time the State executive committee had considered it the Burley committee had retired, but President Cantrill was authorized to make another proposition agreeing to strike out all of the two items most objected to and agree to support the pool loyally without asking for any sum whatever if the changes suggested in the pooling contract be made. As yet no reply to this proposition has been made. It is hoped that the Burley Society will see fit to comply with these reasonable requests, so that the people of this district may march united to victory; for it is beyond question that the people will not sign the pledge as at present drawn, and a persistence in it will mean defeat for all.

The American Society of Equity has taught pooling at all times and is prepared to take care of its people and such as wish to join it in a winning pledge, and it sincerely hopes that the decision of the Burley Tobacco Society on the last proposition will be favorable and in time prevent the American Society of Equity from going so far in this matter that it can not withdraw. In order to promote harmony we have given up all our hope to secure what we consider a fair share of the profits of a business to which our services are vital and always acceptable, and we believe that a like disposition by the Burley Tobacco Society means peace and success.

BOWLING GREEN MEETING.

Call For Gathering of Equity Men From Tobacco States.

Bowling Green, July 23.—President E. L. Davenport, of the National Tobacco Department of the American Society of Equity, has issued a call for a meeting of all tobacco members of the society in Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin to be held at Bowling Green on August 19.

Pool of Nicholas Crop.

Carlisle, Ky., July 23.—[Special.]—The Nicholas county board of control of the Burley Tobacco Society has appointed solicitors for the purpose of pooling the 1909 crop of tobacco, which is the largest in the history of the county. Over 80 per cent. of the crop will likely be pooled with the Burley Society.

CONFERENCE OF YOUNG PEOPLE'S UNION POSTPONED.

Boonville, Ind., July 23.—[Special.]—The conference of the Indiana district of the Young People's Union of St. Johns' Evangelical church, comprising Cincinnati, Indianapolis and cities of the Ohio Valley, was to-day indefinitely postponed. It was intended to have it at Huntingburg three days next week, but this was prevented by the serious illness of the Rev. Roepke there.

NOT AT HOME.

Officers Unable To Locate Dr. W. H. Nuttall.

BELIEVED TO HAVE LEFT HENRY COUNTY.

FRIENDS SAY HE WILL NOT SUBMIT TO ARREST.

BANKS MUST PAY PENALTY.

Frankfort, Ky., July 23.—[Special.]—In spite of the fact the State officials and the officers of this and other counties in the State will make every possible effort to arrest Dr. W. H. Nuttall, late superintendent of the Institute for the Feeble-minded here, it is believed to be doubtful if he ever faces a jury in this county. A warrant has been issued for his arrest on the charge of unlawfully detaining a woman, and deputy sheriffs in Henry county, where Dr. Nuttall lives and where he was supposed to be, have been trying in vain to locate Dr. Nuttall. It is reported here that Dr. Nuttall went to the Port Royal neighborhood of Henry county last Thursday afternoon and remained there only a short time, leaving for some other place.

Friends of Dr. Nuttall here say that he is a wealthy man, worth probably $20,000, and that he would be able to take care of himself anywhere he should go. The charges against Dr. Nuttall are said to have weighed heavily upon him, and his friends say he is too proud ever to submit to arrest.

The State officials, it is said, will make every effort to arrest him, even if it should be in another State.

Penalty Exacted.

Although Auditor Frank P. James was a banker himself before getting into politics, he says that he doesn't intend that the charge can be made that he is making favorites of the banks of the State, so to-day he sent out notices to four banks doing business in Kentucky, to the effect that when they pay their State taxes for this year they can add on 10 per cent. penalty for not having paid on the date prescribed by law, July 1. Under the statute, when the Auditor puts a penalty on, he has the power to make it $50 a day for noncompliance therewith. He doesn't intend to put it on these banks unless their delay is too prolonged in paying up.

Auditor James was lenient with the banks, for he sent out a second notice of their delinquency some time after the first, and failing to get responses from the Farmers' National Bank of Cynthiana, the First National Bank of Prestonburg, the Mechanics' Bank and Trust Company of Owensboro, or the Custer Branch Bank of Custer, notified them that they must pay the 10 per cent. penalty. This is the first time in years that the penalty has been levied against banks for failing to promptly pay their State taxes.

Pennsylvania To Frankfort.

The Commercial Club of Madison, Ind., through its secretary, M. C. Garber, has written to John H. Cassell, secretary of the Business Men's Club of this city, stating that his club and the people of Madison are willing to co-operate in every way possible with the Frankfort people in an effort to secure an extension of the Pennsylvania railroad from Madison to Frankfort. He incloses a clipping from the Madison Courier, which says that in the past it has been the policy of the Pennsylvania not to extend its lines south of the Ohio River, but that is rather a rumor than a settled fact, for it is positively known that before the panic of a few months ago the Pennsylvania people were in correspondence with some Frankfort people with a view to extending their line from Madison to Frankfort. Of course, there is no definite proposition on foot right now, but negotiations will be renewed at once and then the two commercial bodies of Madison and Frankfort can co-operate and aid every effort made to have the road built.

Secretary Cassell is also in communication with the Commercial Club of Owenton with a view to making a united effort to secure an electric road from Frankfort to Owenton and the indications are that definite steps will soon be taken to do something tangible along this line. The proposed road would really be of more benefit to Owenton and to Frankfort than any other road that either could get and the citizens of both towns should use every possible effort to secure the building of the road.

ARRANGING

Details For Great Waterways Convention.

DARK HORSE FOR COLLECTOR.

Washington, July 23.—[Special.]—Capt. J. F. Ellison, of Cincinnati, secretary of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, arrived in Washington to-day for the purpose of arranging details of the sixth annual convention of the great waterways convention, which will be held in this city December 8, 9 and 10 next.

"The coming convention will outdo all meetings heretofore held for the improvement of the waterways of the United States," said Secretary Ellison. "The fact that President Taft is to honor the convention by delivering an address on waterways has aroused great enthusiasm in all sections of the country. This is evidenced by letters from every State in the Union congratulating the Rivers and Harbors Congress in having secured the President to open the convention with a speech outlining his position toward the waterways of the country. While gratification is general, it is especially pleasing to the friends of Mr. Taft in Ohio, and I may say that his acceptance has produced a better feeling in business and club circles of the President's home city than has been shown at any other waterways meeting.

Plans For Convention.

"Plans for the convention are much farther advanced at this time than ever before, and already the list of speakers shows that the convention is going to be the biggest ever held by this National congress of waterways enthusiasts.

"I have seen the National Rivers and Harbors Convention delegates grow from 600 in 1906 to 3,300 in 1908, and I feel that I am conservative when I predict that there will be 5,000 delegates in attendance upon the meeting of next December.

Propaganda Bearing Fruit.

"The propaganda which has been carried on by the National Rivers and Harbors Congress has begun to bear fruit, for the sentiment is growing in favor of a comprehensive plan for the development of our rivers, harbors and canals, and I believe the convention of next December will show conclusively that the country is ready for some fixed policy of waterways improvement."

Story of a Poker Game.

A delegation opposed to the Senate cotton schedule was interviewing Senator Dolliver to-day, telling him of the manner in which the rates were raised in spite of the insistence of Senator Aldrich that they remain at the old figure.

"It reminds me of the game out in Reno," said the Senator. "The dealer was very deftly shuffling and dealing 'em out and a spectator, who stood behind him, said that he dealt himself four aces. Being an unsophisticated person, not acquainted with the rules of the game as it was played in that town, he didn't like to see the patrons robbed. He edged around to a big Dutchman, who was sitting in the game, and leaning over him said in a low tone: 'Lookout for this hand; he dealt himself four aces.' 'Vot beezniss iss it yours, mine vrendt, about deze game,' demanded the Dutchman. 'But I'm trying to tell you, because you ought to know it that I saw him deal himself four aces.'

"'Say, meester,' said the Dutchman, 'you'd better ged oudt of here; you dond understan dese game. Vot of he didt deal himself four aces? Aind it his deal?'

"'And that's all there is to it,'" continued Mr. Dolliver.

Relating To Mr. Gardner.

Representative Gardner, of Massachusetts, who is one of the leading free hide advocates, but opposed to the reduction of duties on the manufactured product, has this story told upon him by one of his colleagues:

"When 'Gussie' Gardner was a little boy an uncle was telling him of how his great-grandfather, who was a big merchant in his day, traded in his own ships to the East Indies and one time the pirates captured one of his ships. It was a fine and bloodthirsty story and little 'Gussie' was deeply interested.

"'But, uncle,' he asked after the narrative had been finished, 'how much did great-grandfather lose by the pirates capturing that ship?'

"Uncle stopped a moment, and then replied: 'I don't know, 'Gussie;' it depends on how much interest he had in the pirate ship that made the capture.'"

Insurgents of House.

Immediately after the House adjourned this afternoon the Republicans of that body who are opposed to the free raw material policy of President Taft went into conference. The Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia and Tennessee Republicans are specially active in this movement, and are predicting all sorts of things that will be done to the tariff bill if the conferees bring in a report providing for free coal, iron ore, oil and a pronounced reduction in the lumber rates.

Representative Langley says that there are now thirty-five Republican members of the House banded together against this free raw material proposition. Three recruits were secured this morning.

The adjournment of the House to-day until Tuesday, in the opinion of most Congressmen, indicates that the conference report may not be ready for five or six days yet, and quite a number fear that a deadlock is threatened.

Returns To Kentucky.

Representative Bennett has returned to Kentucky. It is said that he has decided to recommend for Collector of Internal Revenue for the Lexington district Tim Fields, of Ashland. If this proves true, and there is every reason to believe that it will, the contest for that position will be an interesting one from the fact that President Taft is known to be very anxious to appoint Charles Berryman, of Lexington, and had hoped his name would be found on the slate that is being fixed up by Senator Bradley and the Republican Representative in the House from Kentucky.

Relief To Farmers.

Representative Stanley, from his inquiries as to what the conferees are doing, says he is confident the growers of tobacco will be relieved of the tax and that they will not be required to keep any books in their transactions, but there are still just a few details to be arranged. The understanding also is that in the amendment relating to tobacco that was introduced by Senator Beveridge the conferees will reduce the tax from 8 cents to 6 cents, and manufacturers will be permitted to use coupons.

Patents To Kentuckians.

Patents have been issued to Kentuckians as follows: F. Able, Jr., Louisville, turning and smoothing device for phonograph records; F. Deering, Covington, machine for forming pipe points; W. W. Introduces Two Bills.

Representative Helm introduced in the House to-day a bill appropriating $125,000 for the erection of a post-office building at Lawrenceburg. The Government already owns a site there. Mr. Helm also introduced a bill to establish a national park at Perryville, Ky. This was the scene of important military operations during the Civil War, and in the measure offered it is proposed that the positions of the troops be properly marked.

The jury in the case of Sam Johnson, the negro barber charged with the murder of his mother-in-law, Fanny Graves, failed to reach a verdict and was discharged by Judge Parker this afternoon. It is reported that seven favored conviction while five stood out for acquittal.

Johnson, who had previously borne a good reputation, killed his mother-in-law, a respected colored women, while firing at another negro, who had threatened his life, he declared. Some of the most prominent white citizens of Lexington testified in his behalf as character witnesses.

Mr. Local Dealer:

The ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY MAGAZINE is published each week as a part of the Sunday issue of this newspaper.

It is a twenty-page magazine comparing favorably with standard weeklies. The covers are printed in three colors by the best known artists, such as Harrison Fisher, Leyendecker, Weber-Ditzler, Howard Chandler Christy, etc.

The stories are by such contributors as John Kendrick Bangs, Agnes and Egerton Castle, Bernard Shaw, etc.

The local pictures are timely half tones provided and printed at a great expense in order to furnish a feature which no weekly or newspaper can duplicate.

The cost of advertising in the ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY MAGAZINE is $1,600.00 per page, and the national advertiser who is willing to spend this money deserves the co-operation of local dealers.

The Van Camp Co. are spending $40,000.000 to stimulate interest in their products in our fifteen cities. This means business for the dealers.

A great many of the largest manufacturers in the country are now using the ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY MAGAZINE, appreciating its sale value.

But a greater number of the manufacturers have not as yet realized this value, and it is on these that we are working. It means so much to you that we hope you will add your voice to the argument for using the ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY MAGAZINE.

FORESTRY WORK

On Extensive Scale by State and Uncle Sam.

AGREEMENT FOR TASK SIGNED BY BOTH PARTIES.

EXPECTED TO RESULT IN SAVING OF TIMBER.

A SYSTEM OF LOGGING.

Frankfort, Ky., July 23.—[Special.]—Under the terms of a contract which was entered into to-day forestry work on an extensive scale is to be undertaken by the Federal Government, with the assistance and co-operation of the State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration. It is expected that the work will result in great saving of timber in Kentucky, as a system of logging suited to the needs of the forests of Kentucky is one of the things which will result. The contract, which shows what will be accomplished, is as follows:

The Contract.

This agreement was made and entered into this sixteenth day of July, 1909, between the Forester of the United States Department of Agriculture, Forest Service, and the Commissioner of the State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration of the State of Kentucky, witnesseth:

That for and in consideration of the mutual promise herein contained and of the mutual benefits to be enjoyed hereunder, it is agreed as follows:

First—That the Forest Service, in pursuance of a field study of the forest resources and forest conditions of the State of Kentucky, shall prepare a report which shall include the following:

(a) A map of the State showing the distribution of forests.

(b) A description of the various types of forests as to composition and conditions.

(c) An estimate of the standing timber, by counties.

(d) Study of the methods of logging for the purpose of discovering practicable improvements which shall maintain the producing power of the forest lands in the State.

(e) Study of forest fires and their effect upon the forest, and the most advisable means of prevention.

(f) The market for the more important commercial trees, with particular reference to stumpage values.

Complete As Funds Can Make It.

Said report shall be as complete as the available funds will permit, shall include recommendations for private owners in the handling of their lands to maintain and improve the forests, and shall contain a recommendation for a State forest policy and a State forest law, if advisable.

Second—That the study which is carried on under this agreement shall be planned and conducted jointly by duly-authorized representatives of the Forest Service and the State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration, and shall be subject to the approval of the proper authorities in each case.

Third—That during the progress of the field work a brief report shall be made in duplicate at the end of every month by the officer in charge, and submitted to the Forester and to the State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration; and, during the progress of the field work, it shall be the duty of the officer in charge to confer frequently, if necessary, with the State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration.

Fourth—That the Forest Service and the State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration shall be free to publish the results of this work at any time, but in all such publications the fact shall be plainly stated on the title page that the results were obtained through the cooperation between the State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration of the State of Kentucky and the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Will Share Cost Equally.

Fifth—That the State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration and the Forest Service shall share equally the cost of carrying out this agreement on the following basis:

That the State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration shall pay toward the salaries and all expenses of the study and reports herein provided for an amount not to exceed one thousand, seven hundred and fifty dollars ($1,750) and a like amount shall be paid by the Forest Service.

The State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration shall deposit with the fiscal agent of the Forest Service not later than August 1, 1909, the said sum of one thousand, seven hundred and fifty dollars ($1,750), which will be covered into the United States Treasury in the special fund of the Forest Service devoted to co-operative studies. All accounts shall be audited by the Forest Service in accordance with the fiscal regulations of the Department of Agriculture, and a statement of balance shall be transmitted monthly to the Commissioner of the Board.

That no member of or delegate to Congress shall be admitted to any share or part of this agreement or to any benefit to arise thereupon. (Rev. Stat. 3733-3741.)

Executed in triplicate the day and year in this agreement first written.

STORM'S WORST HAS BEEN TOLD

Dead Will Not Number Over Twenty-five.

Great Damage To Plantation Homes and Crops.

MORE RESCUES ARE REPORTED

Houston, Tex., July 23.—Other than to add several hundred thousand dollars to the monetary loss, to-night's dispatches from the storm-swept coast sections of Louisiana and Texas and into the interior for a hundred miles add but little to that already told of the hurricane of Wednesday, which rivaled in intensity the storm of 1900.

To-night the number killed is conservatively estimated at twenty-five, those more or less seriously injured twice as many and the property loss is conservatively estimated at approximately a million dollars. While belated reports may add to the list of casualties and the property damage, other than to isolated points, communication has been restored.

Reports of More Damage.

Late dispatches add the towns of Rock Island, Wharton and Weimer to those which suffered much from the sweep of the wind. At Rock Island nine of the largest buildings were either razed or partially wrecked, the damage being estimated at $75,000.

Fifty houses were blown down at Weimer and the property loss will approximate $100,000. Wharton suffered more than from the storm of 1900. The streets are blocked with debris and a shortage of labor is delaying the restoring of normal conditions, while from Quintana comes the report that the sloop Columbus with all hands on board had been blown out to sea.

Dispatches to-night do not increase the list of fatalities. Whether or not the boat escaped to some other port is not known.

Advices show that damage was done by the storm throughout a section in Texas extending on an average of 100 miles into the interior. In some counties some reports indicate that very few home owners escaped losses of at least a minor sort, which in the aggregate total a large sum. While the property destruction has been great the life loss and serious injury is almost inexplicably small. This is attributed largely to the fact that storm warnings gave the inhabitants an opportunity to prepare for the expected blow.

Crops Suffer Heavily.

Again the severest of the blow came in daylight. In many places crops have been prostrated, but the hot sun following the hurricane is doing much to restore normal conditions in the fields and loss estimates from this source are very easy of exaggeration.

Along the coast the storm extended from a point near New Orleans to Brownsville, with the center of severity in the neighborhood of Bay City and Velasco. At Brownsville there was heavy wind, but small damage. In the interior the damage zone furtherest north is along the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio Railway, with zig-zag dives at towns and into rural districts to the north of it. The following is a list of towns from which reports of the greatest damage have come:

Galveston, Bay City, Velasco, Angleton, Wharton, Columbia, Columbus, Palacios, Eagle Lake, Weimer, New Ulm, Schukenburg, Allenton, Beasley, Kendleton, Sublime, Glidden, Markham, Lagrange, Bastrop, El Campo, Yoakum, Garwood, Matthews, Bonus, Waelder, Flatonia and Austin.

OLD HOMES DESTROYED.

Famous Old Plantation Mansions Wrecked By Hurricane.

New Orleans, July 23.—Conspicuous among the reports of property damage wrought by the West Indian hurricane along the gulf coasts of Louisiana and Texas, which are now being received in this city, are the stories of many famous old plantation homes having been destroyed, in some instances at points a hundred or more miles in the interior.

Foremost among these is the old home of the late Gov. Hogg, of Texas, which was situated near Columbia, at the mouth of the Brazos River. It was one of the finest plantations in Texas. The news of the destruction of the old mansion and the devastation of its broad acres serves as a reminder to many prominent Southerners of the happy days they have spent beneath the hospitable roof of Texas' popular Chief Executive. His once elegant home is but a mass of scattered wreckage to-night, a condition which marks many more plantations in the same section.

Surprise Over Small Loss of Life.

In the light of the undisputable property destruction, amounting to several million dollars, and the state of ruin which is now visible throughout the hurricane-swept area, that there was not greater loss of life is regarded as inexplicable. At many places the destructive forces marshaled by the hurricane equaled, if not exceeded, those of the terrible storm of 1900, but this time the appalling loss of life is lacking. This is attributed, in a large measure, to the hurricane warnings which were sent out by the district forecaster in New Orleans early last Wednesday.

Every hour brings reports of narrow escapes. Persons who had planned fishing parties or outings for the day in exposed places took heed when the Government's bulletin arrived and remained in places of comparative safety.

Not unusual in the reports is the story of how families had constructed cyclone cellars following the storm of 1900 and how they used them last Wednesday as places of refuge while their homes were being blown away. Again, the houses which were built over the storm-swept area of 1900 were much better than those which had stood there prior to that year, and they withstood the ravages of the storm in a better way than the old structures.

Spend Day In Cellar.

Huddled together in their dark, damp cellars, many families spent a large portion of the day Wednesday praying for the winds to subside and shuddering at the thought of what news the re-establishment of communication with relatives and neighbors would bring.

At the Baptist Young People's Encampment, on the Gulf coast, where several thousand persons were assembled, conditions bordering on a panic prevailed for some time. Many of the pious folk were at prayer meetings when the wind struck them with such force that in one instance it is reported to have carried parson, pulpit and all down into the midst of his flock. Hymnals and psalm books flew through the air like birds awing, and religious literature was soon scattered broadcast.

The rain began to soak the garments of the worshipers and all sought refuge in flight to places of shelter, and there remained until the fury of the storm had abated.

A special train, which was run down to the encampment by the Southern Pacific Railroad, brought away many of those who have been in attendance upon this protracted meeting and it is probable that the encampment will be broken up.

Dead Bodies Are Found.

New Orleans, July 23.—All doubt as to the fate of Capt. R. L. Bettison and his wife, who were reported drowned when Tarpon pier was washed away near Galveston, was removed this afternoon when their bodies were found floating in the water, near Laporte, Tex., twenty miles away.

Beaumont, Tex., July 23.—The Abernathy family, of thirteen persons, reported lost in the storm Wednesday, has arrived at Stowell, safe and uninjured.

JUDGE DELIVERS ROAST FOR LABOR LEADER.

Scathing Sentence Handed Out To Cornelius P. Shea In New York Court.

New York, July 23.—Cornelius P. Shea, the former Chicago labor leader who was found guilty on Wednesday of attempting to murder Alice Walsh, a former Chicago waitress with whom he had been living here, was sentenced to-day to not less than five nor more than twenty-five years in prison. The former president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters listened stolidly to Judge Foster's scathing remarks in pronouncing sentence.

"Your services for humanity are urged here in your behalf," said the court, "because you have been active in the affairs of organizer labor.

"I believe in the right of labor to organize, but there is a prejudice in this community, and we must admit its existence, against organized labor, because such men as you dominate it with your brutal methods and your coarse, offensive personality, and a part of the community has come to look upon organized labor as being composed of brutes and securing their victories by brutal methods.

"But that is all wrong. I believe I am helping the cause of organized labor by ridding it of one such as you and sending you to State's prison."

TREASURY ASKS AID OF NATIONAL BANKS

PRESENTS PLAN FOR EXCHANGE OF SMALL BILLS.

TRADE OF FIVE-DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR CERTIFICATES.

FOR MOVEMENT OF CROPS.

Washington, July 23.—The co-operation of the national banks with the Treasury Department in furnishing small bills to meet the demands growing out of the movement of the crops in various sections of the country, is urged in a statement given out by the Treasury Department to-day. The suggestion followed a conference of the treasury officials at which the whole matter was threshed over.

The relief sought is to have the national banks issue five-dollar bank notes to their legal limit in place of the larger denominations and then to exchange their five-dollar certificates for one-dollar silver certificates of equal aggregate value. The statement follows:

"The usual fall demand is being made on the Treasury Department by the banks for a supply of small bills for crop-moving purposes.

"To meet this demand the treasury can issue new one-dollar silver certificates in exchange for silver certificates of larger denominations which are sent to the treasury for that purpose. An unusual supply of small bills has been prepared to meet this seasonal demand and the banks can materially assist the treasury by effecting the exchange of their large silver certificates for small bills at an early date, rather than by waiting until the crop-moving season actually begins.

"It lies within the power of the national banks of the country to render further assistance in this matter. Banks are permitted under the law to take out 33 1-3 per cent. of their circulation in five-dollar bank notes, or about $200,000,000. They have availed themselves of this privilege only to the extent of 19 per cent. or about $126,000,000; therefore, the national banks could, if they desired, increase their supply of five-dollar bank notes by $94,000,000.

"In some instances it would involve the banks in the small expense and trouble of having plates engraved for five-dollar bank notes. But the banks would undoubtedly incur this expense and trouble if they fully understood how much it lies in their power to relieve the scarcity of one-dollar bills. For if the banks were to issue as many five-dollar bank notes as they can legally do, instead of issuing larger denominations, it would supply the banks with five-dollar bank notes and enable them to send to the treasury their five-dollar silver certificates to be exchanged for one-dollar silver certificates.

"As in the case of money forwarded for redemption, the banks can effect these exchanges at no other cost than the express charges at Government contract rates."

The two-dollar bills have not proved popular. The banks are not requesting the shipment of these bills and the treasury is not issuing any extra supply of this denomination.

National Banks Obeying Call.

Washington, July 23.—A total of $626,000 was paid into the Treasury Department to-day by the national banks on account of the call of the Secretary of the Treasury of June 30 to return the $25,033,900 deposited with them.

DULANEY SEEN RECENTLY AT COLON, PANAMA.

Nashville, Tenn., July 23.—Gov. Patterson received a telegram from Gov. J. C. S. Blackburn, of the Panama Canal zone, to-day, stating that Foy W. Dulaney, the defaulting Circuit Clerk of Washington county, Tenn., had recently been in Colon, and that he is believed to be in Costa Rica now. The American Minister at San Jose has been notified.

Dulaney left Johnson City about three weeks ago with about $20,000 of Washington county funds, and left behind private indebtedness of about the same amount. His pretty stenographer left the day before.

PROTECTORATE OVER REPUBLIC OF HONDURAS

TO BE ESTABLISHED BY THE UNITED STATES.

STORY FROM CITY OF MEXICO TO THAT EFFECT.

WASHINGTON MAKES DENIAL.

Mexico City, July 23.—That the United States contemplates the formation of a protectorate over the Republic of Honduras in the near future is the statement brought to this city by a secret agent of one of the Central American republics. This man arrived here last night and practically went into hiding, but was routed out by a newspaper man, who obtained from him the story on condition that the informer's identity be not disclosed and that his business in Mexico be not inquired into.

The agent left Panama on the steamer Newport and arrived at the port of Corinto, Nicaragua, July 2. Traveling with him as a fellow passenger was Gen. Domingo Vasquez, a former President of Honduras, who was exiled through the machinations of President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, in 1905.

The Newport man was met at Corinto by a United States gunboat, and the officers of the warship accompanied Vasquez ashore to the offices of the commander of the port. This latter official was informed that Vasquez had on his person documents from the State Department at Washington, guaranteeing him safe conduct across Nicaragua and Honduran territory. The papers were presented, approved, and Vasquez left for Tegucigalpa, the capital of Honduras. He is there now conferring with President Davila relative to the proposed protectorate. Davila is said to look with favor upon the proposition, as he fears he will lose his seat through the treachery and the efforts of the opposition party in Honduras, which is daily growing stronger.

The United States will justify the formation of the protectorate on the ground that the continual disturbances in Honduras will be for the purpose of establishing a precedent that will enable the American Government to intervene in the affairs of Costa Rica. This latter step may become necessary in the near future, as the present campaign in which Rafael Iglesias, the nominee of the Nationalists, who is opposing Ricardo Jiminez, the Liberal candidate for President, threatens to produce a revolution, which may involve others of the Central American Republics.

The United States will not tolerate disturbances in territory contiguous to the canal zone and realizing that sooner or later a protectorate will be made necessary for strategic reasons, will take the first opportunity to settle the question.

The story, as related, was partially corroborated later by statements coming from a high diplomatic source.

EMPHATIC DENIAL.

Washington Says There Is Nothing To Honduras Report.

Washington, July 23.—Emphatic denial of the report emanating from Mexico City that this Government contemplates establishing a protectorate over Honduras, was made by State Department officials to-day. Statements of that character, they said, were merely "idle vaporings."

The United States neither demanded nor requested that safe conduct be given Gen. Vasquez in his travel overland from Corinto to Tegucipalpa, it was stated.

Within the past two weeks William E. Alger, former Consul at Tegucigalpa, has left that place for his new post at Puerto Cortez, which is taken as an indication that the situation was not far from normal at Tegucigalpa.

FATHER IN JAIL

ON CHARGE OF FAILURE TO PROVIDE FOR FAMILY.

Mother and Five Children Being Cared For By the Union Gospel Mission.

"Yes, Mr. Reporter, I think I can give you a 'sob' story, if that's what you're after," responded Miss Elizabeth White, as she admitted the man with the writing tools to the reception-room of the Union Gospel Mission. "Come right in."

It may be explained that Miss White is a former newspaper woman, at present working with the Union Mission, and although her expression, "sob story" was well understood by the reporter, it is defined for the layman as meaning a case having a strong element of the pathetic human interest, or a touch of the tragic, often termed a "pianissimo story."

Once inside, the mission worker explained that a sad case of neglect had come to the notice of the charity through the Board of Children's Guardians. Miss White left the room and soon returned leading a diminutive youngster of three years, whose silvery, curly hair, and the laughingest brown eyes one could see in a day's hunt, made an irresistible combination. The boy was followed by his mother, a woman with toil-stained hands, tired eyes and careworn countenance, and his older sister.

Mrs. Kehl related the story of the family's hardships, which culminated in the rescue of the mother and children from complete destitution by the Board of Children's Guardians and the Union Gospel Mission, and the incarceration of the father in the county jail on a charge of neglect of family.

It was not a new subject, nor an original situation. According to the statement of the mother and the neighbors, the father, Edward Kehl, was a harness-worker, good fellow enough, but improvident, and even though unable to obtain steady work, a man who never forgot to "set 'em up to the boys." For the last year he had been unable to provide the necessities of life in abundance, and gradually the little store laid by for a rainy day was dissipated. There were the mouths of five growing children to fill and the bodies of five little folks to keep warmly clothed, and this soon became an impossibility.

Several days ago Mrs. Kehl became desperate, told her husband that they should have to live apart for a time, at least, and stored in a warehouse the small amount of furniture which furnished the two shabby rooms in which the family had lived on Marshall street. In all this the father acquiesced, and left the family. Until two days ago Mrs. Kehl and the children lived in the two bare rooms that they called "home," subsisting on such food as the mother could buy with the small sums which her oldest boy, aged 14 years, made each day selling newspapers—an amount varying from 30 cents to 65 cents. The purchasing power of even 65 cents was not great enough to satiate the hunger of all the children, so kind-hearted neighbors appealed to the Children's Guardians' agent and the case was investigated. The temporary home at the mission resulted.

Advised by the directors of the mission, Mrs. Kehl is going to place the children in some institution until such time as she can provide a home for them.

When seen at the jail last night the father seemed deeply worried over the fate of the members of his family. Until informed by the reporter, he had no knowledge of their whereabouts. He said that the neglect was not intentional, but that he had been unable to obtain steady work at his trade. In the last few days, and until he was apprehended last evening, he had tried to get any kind of work, but no matter where he went he always received the disheartening reply: "There's nothing doing. We've had to lay off some of our regular hands."

GIRL BABY DESERTED BY MOTHER FINDS A HOME.

Identified By Mrs. Pearl Fitzgerald As Infant Left In Her Charge Four Months Ago.

Touched by the sweet smile and golden hair of the little girl baby who was deserted by her mother Saturday night in the women's waiting-room at the Seventh-street depot Mrs. Pearl Fitzgerald, of 1826 High avenue, has adopted the child and taken it from the city hospital.

Mrs. Fitzgerald identified the baby last Tuesday as the one who had been left in her care by a woman who was a stranger to her four months ago. Last Saturday night the woman visited the Fitzgerald home and after paying the child's board departed with it in her arms. Mrs. Fitzgerald identified the infant by a gold ring she had given it.

Moved by sympathy over the little one's plight and by the remembrance that her own three children were not spared to brighten her old age, she announced yesterday to Dr. Dilly, superintendent of the hospital, that she would rear the child in her own home and lavish upon it the affection that she would have given to her children if they had lived.

the music of St. Boniface church and school. Later he was made director of the Liederkranz orchestra, all of which positions he has held continuously. At the Liederkranz celebration at Evansville, Ind., a few weeks ago Mr. Molengraft distinguished himself as one of the festival stars, conducting the big chorus and the Chicago orchestra.

Mr. Molengraft was graduated from the College of Music, Cincinnati, and also studied music in New York for a number of years. He has had several years of experience in chorus work.

The Louisville Musical Club chorus will begin rehearsing early in the fall, and will take up the study of the "Messiah," which will be given some time during the holiday season.

SAN ANTONIO MEETING PLACE OF PRESIDENTS.

Story Comes From Mexico That Diaz and Taft Will Not Shake Hands At El Paso.

Mexico City, July 23.—Elimparcial publishes an article to-day apparently only inspired, in which it is stated that President Diaz would not meet President Taft at the border line at El Paso, as has been intimated in press dispatches from that place and Washington, but that the meeting, if it took place, would occur in San Antonio.

The article declared that the International Club, of the latter city, had been making efforts to bring this about, and it was intimated that its success was probable. It is pointed out that San Antonio is the metropolis of Texas, the city containing the largest Mexican colony, and it is more fitting that the historic meeting should take place there.

While it was admitted officially that communications relative to the meeting had been exchanged between the State Departments of the two Governments, it was denied here that anything definite had been settled. It is said that in the next twenty days something definite will be decided upon, and that before the middle of August the date and place of meeting will be published.

ASK SUNDAY-SCHOOL TEACHER TO RESIGN.

Montgomery, Ala., Church Ousts Young Lawyer For Opposing Prohibition.

Montgomery, Ala., July 23.—Because he has alligned himself with the organization of business men of the State who are opposing the prohibition section in the State Constitution, Leon C. McCord, prominent as a lawyer, was asked last night by the Dexter-avenue Methodist Sunday-school to resign his place as teacher.

This action was taken after a session of the church officers, in which it was held that the associations of Mr. McCord were such as to render him unfit to further conduct the class, which is made up of young men and is one of the largest in the city.

RAILROAD MEN MEET HERE TO COMPARE NOTES.

Railroad men representing railroads affiliated with the Southeastern and Mississippi Valley Freight Association will assemble in Louisville in large numbers next week to attend the regular monthly meeting of the association to be held at The Seelbach Tuesday, July 27. It was announced yesterday that more than 200 items will be considered. The conference likely will last through the greater part of the week.

M. P. Washburn, of Louisville, who is chairman of the association, will call the meeting to order and will preside at all of the sessions. He declared last night that the meeting is only of importance to the railroad men, and that nothing out of the ordinary will take place to attract the attention of the general public. Traffic managers and general freight agents identified with twenty or thirty railroads will be present.

PRIMARY TO BE HELD IN CAMPBELL

PARTY HEAD DECIDES DISPUTE OF DEMOCRATS.

A. L. REUSCHER SUSTAINED AS COUNTY CHAIRMAN.

CONFERS WITH BOTH SIDES.

Newport, Ky., July 23.—[Special.]—At an exciting meeting, attended by clashes between members of the rival forces, the factional fight between the primary and convention adherents of the Campbell County Democracy was threshed out to-day before Judge J. A. Donaldson, of the Kentucky State Central Committee. A decision was rendered in favor of the primary forces.

The session was held in the Newport Circuit Court room, and long before the meeting was called the room and corridors were crowded with politicians affiliated with both sides. The leaders of both sides strenuously attempted to hold private consultations with Judge Donaldson. Finally Judge Donaldson called the meeting to order and while announcing his purpose to reach a conclusion in the controversy, he said that he had conferred with both sides, but to all appearances they seemed to be hopelessly divided on the issue.

In the decision handed down by Judge Donaldson he holds that the Democratic nominees shall be chosen by the primary election which has been called for August 28. He further declares that A. L. Reuscher is the chairman of the Democratic Committee from Campbell county, which brands the action of Chairman Traver at Alexandria as illegal. The Judge also holds that none of the four committeemen—John Barton, Chris Kolhoven, Michael Horan and Matt Maschinott—were regularly removed by the Alexandria meeting.

As the matter has been terminated by the chief executive of the Sixth District Democracy, there will be no convention held in Alexandria to-morrow as had been arranged.

Candidacy a Surprise.

Newport, Ky., July 23.—[Special.]—There was quite a surprise sprung to-day in Newport political circles when Henry W. Rousch, former member of the Board of Aldermen, announced his candidacy for the Police Judgeship. At present he is Delinquent Tax Collector.

YOUNG AMERICAN DIES OF CHOLERA

ROGER WHINFIELD SUCCUMBS IN GERMANY.

WITH BRIDE ON TOUR OF EUROPEAN COUNTRIES.

WAS TAKEN ILL IN RUSSIA.

Koenigsburg, Prussia, July 23.—Roger Whinfield, of Fon du Lac, Wis., arrived here with his wife July 21 from Russia. The couple went to a hotel here and a few hours afterward the man died from what the bacteriological examination to-day shows to have been cholera.

The body was immediately buried with great privacy so as not to alarm the people of the town. The man's wife and the railroad employes of the train which brought him were isolated and the railway car in which the man arrived was withdrawn from the service and disinfected. It was said that the American and his wife had come across Siberia and that their next immediate destination was Dresden.

Every precaution has been taken to prevent cholera from crossing the Russian frontier and the medical authorities were most reluctant to admit that the man died from cholera, being divided among themselves until the official bacteriological test established that fact.

The widow and the railroad employes are still isolated and will be held until the danger of their contracting the disease has been passed. All of them were in perfect health to-night.

LOSES FATHER AND HUSBAND.

Mrs. Whinfield Doubly Bereaved En Route Home.

Wooster, O., July 23.—Mrs. Elinore Quinby Whinfield, a bride of last February, is en route home from Europe. Her husband, Roger Whinfield, of Fon du Lac, Wis., and her father, Edward M. Quinby, a Wooster millionaire, died within two weeks.

A year ago Perry Strugers, of Zanesville, O., died within a few months after marrying the eldest daughter of Mr. Quinby.

The marriage of the Whinfields took place in Pittsburg, and the couple started on a tour of the world. The death of the young woman's father, who had gone abroad, occurred July 7 at Dresden. To-day the family received word that Whinfield had died. The family has been well known in Ohio for many years, and owns considerable property in Wooster, Cleveland and Pittsburg.

Baggage Seized.

Berlin, July 23.—The baggage of Mr. Whinfield, consisting of four trunks marked with his name, and bearing labels showing that they had been to Vladivostok, arrived in Berlin Wednesday evening. They were seized to-day when the news came from Koenigsburg of the death of their owner from cholera, taken to the Friedrichsstrausse baggage depot and disinfected.

NEW SPANISH MINISTER LANDS IN NEW YORK.

Favors Encouragement of Trade Between His Country and the United States.

New York, July 23.—Marquis de Villalobar, the new Spanish Minister to the United States, arrived from Europe to-day to take up the duties of his post in Washington. The Minister said:

"The relations between Spain and the United States are now most friendly, and the opportunities for greater trade are wonderful. There is but one regular line flying the Spanish flag which enters this port. There should be more. I intend to give constant attention to the subject of improving facilities for the encouragement of trade between the United States and Spain."

THIEF ROBS GUESTS AT BOARDING-HOUSE.

Secures Money and Rings Valued In All At About $500—Detectives Are Notified.

Mrs. Anna Winfrey, who conducts a boarding-house at 654 Fourth avenue, reported to the detectives that jewelry and money amounting to $500 were stolen from boarders at her house Thursday night. The robbery is believed to have been committed while the guests were at supper. The front door was open.

One of the boarders saw a strange young man, whom she thought was a new boarder or a guest for supper, come out of the house and walk away. When she mentioned this later to Mrs. Winfrey the latter and her guests became suspicious and an investigation followed.

Committees. This is an error, it was stated to-night, as the clerks are keeping up with the Conference Committee and will be ready with the reports soon after all matters of controversy are closed.

The anti-free raw material "insurgents" of the House met to-day. There were only twenty-seven members present, and although several speeches were made, no resolutions of protest were adopted.

Cotton Schedule Considered.

The cotton schedule was considered at the forenoon session of the conference committee to-day. While this schedule was not disposed of, the conferees are practically in agreement to adopt the Senate increases on mercerized cottons, but to reduce a number of the Senate rates on lower grades. It is said that most of the specific duties which were adopted in lieu of the existing ad valorems, for the purpose of preventing undervaluation, will be accepted.

It was announced to-day that the increased rates of internal revenue tax on tobacco, which were adopted by the Senate at the instance of Senator Beveridge, will be accepted. It was reported yesterday that these amendments would be eliminated from the bill, and Senator Beveridge protested with good result to President Taft and Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh.

First Rollcall At Conference

The conferees to-day accepted a Senate amendment imposing a duty of 45 per cent. ad valorem on structural steel punched for use. In determining this rate, the House members had their first rollcall of the conference. This method of disposing of the question was regarded as significant in view of the statement by Representative Payne that he would not be governed merely by the will of a majority of the Republican conferees of the House. As Mr. Payne voted with the majority in favor of the Senate increase, however, no issue was raised.

DENOUNCES THE TRUSTS DURING HOUSE SESSION.

Representative Randell, of Texas, Lays the Lash On "Special Interests."

Washington, July 23.—The House was thrown into an uproar to-day when Mr. Macon (Arkansas), reverting to his colloquy lost Monday with Mr. Rucker (Colorado), charged that the Colorado member had inserted in the Congressional Record certain references to him which had not been uttered.

Not only had this been done, he said, but insult had been added to injury by placing in brackets at the end of the remarks "great applause." He wanted it all stricken out, "especially the 'great applause.'" This was ordered done, after Mr. Rucker had explained that he actually made the statement on the floor and insisted that there was applause. The Speaker declared the motion to strike out carried, although he failed to take the negative vote.

The session was further enlivened when Mr. Randell (Texas) wanted the Speaker to appoint a Judiciary Committee to consider bills prohibiting members of Congress and court officers from accepting gifts or employment from corporations, trusts or persons interested in legislation.

Mr. Randell declared that the opponents of such legislation had not only succeeded in preventing the passage of a law of that character, but even suppressed discussion of such measures on the floor of the House. "Looking the facts squarely in the face," he said, "the conclusion forced upon us causes a blush to mantle the cheek of every patriotic and self-respecting man."

"No man," he said, "could serve two masters. It was, he contended, "a pitiable but uncontrovertable fact," that the disinterested and faithful servants of the people are helpless "in the present contest against the organized plunderers of the nation's wealth."

He declared that the beneficiaries of special interests "entrenched in power and firmly combined with the dominant political party," openly derided the American people and brutally demanded the pound of flesh. Should the committee be appointed, he said, there could be passed a law that would "sever the connection of the servants of the people from the interests that now control us."

Never until officers, agents, representatives and attorneys of parties interested in legislation are forced to cease such employment or are driven from the halls of Congress, could a tariff bill be passed or legislation enacted "consistent with the rights, the honor and the great name of the American people."

At 1:05 p. m. the House adjourned until Tuesday noon.

MOTOR MAIL COLLECTORS.

Post-office Department To Extend Them To Other Cities.

Washington, July 23.—Extension to other cities of the use of motor vehicles now employed by the Post-office Department for the collection of mail in Milwaukee, Wis.; Boston and Lynn, Mass.; Washington, D. C., and Indianapolis, Ind., is not unlikely.

Reports to the department show that they perform the work more expeditiously than horse-drawn vehicles, and at no appreciable increase of cost. In the opinion of the department officials the expense is likely to decrease rather than increase as time goes on, the prices of horses and grain having advanced materially during the last decade.

It is asserted at the department that horses suitable for mail service could be purchased a few years ago for $60 or $75 each, and that now they bring from $125 to $175 each. Corn, which formerly was obtainable for 35 cents a bushel, sells now for 85 cents, and oats cost twice as much as a few years ago.

The department to-day entered into a contract for additional motor mail collectors for Indianapolis.

SENATE HOLDS SESSION.

Senator Culberson Claims That All Democrats Are United.

Washington, July 23.—After a session of little more than half an hour to-day the Senate adjourned until next Monday, which is a day earlier than would have been possible under the unanimous agreement for sessions only on each third day while the tariff bill is in conference. The date was moved up in the hope that the conference report on the tariff bill might be in shape to be presented by Monday.

The Senate also listened to a representation from Mr. Culberson concerning the Democratic course toward the tariff bill in the Senate. He contended that the Democrats had been exceptionally harmonious and united and he undertook to refute all statements to the contrary.

In a brief session a large number of presidential nominations were confirmed, including that of Charles R. Crane to be Minister to China.

The Senate at 12:32 p. m. adjourned.

CUSTOMS LAWS EVADED.

Evidence That Naval Postmasters Have Been Negligent.

Washington, July 23.—Evidence that the customs laws have been evaded by means of the mails passing through the hands of naval postmasters led Postmaster General Hitchcock to issue to-day more explicit instructions to postmasters and mail clerks on naval vessels to watch the mails for dutiable articles. Suspected packages are to be given special attention.

The latest evasion was called to the attention of the department by the Surveyor of Customs at DesMoines, Iowa, who discovered a package which had been mailed on the gunboat Helena at Hongkong and which had escaped the attention of the customs officials.

RARE SPECIMENS

OF AFRICAN BIRDS AND ANIMALS FOR NATIONAL ZOO.

Gift From American Through the Roosevelt Hunting Expedition.

Washington, July 23.—Former President Roosevelt's African hunting trip has resulted in the enriching of the National Zoological Park of Washington with an exceptional collection of live African birds and animals, many of which are not represented in the park's exhibit.

While Mr. Roosevelt's purpose was to make a collection of dead birds and mammals for the National Museum, working in connection with the Smithsonian Institution, his visit to Juju farm, near Nairobi, British East Africa, recently, where he and his party were the guests of W. W. McMillan, an American owning the big estate, resulted in the presentation of a collection of live animals to the zoological park by Mr. McMillan through the Smithsonian African expedition.

Mr. Roosevelt has accepted the gifts on behalf of the park and Assistant Superintendent A. B. Baker will leave New York to-morrow on the steamer Arabic for Nairobi to take charge of its transportation to this country.

Lieut. Col. Edgar A. Mearns, of the Smithsonian party, has written to Secretary Walcott, describing the collection. It includes eleven large mammals and three large birds, all in fine condition, and for the most part well broken to captivity, as follows:

A male and female lion, two years old; a male and two female lions, seventeen years old; a female leopard, a pet of Mrs. McMillan; two cheetahs, a wart hog, two years old; one Thompson's and one Grant's gazelle, well grown; a large eagle of unusual species, a small vulture and a large buteo. Specimens of none of these, except the lions and leopards, are at present contained in the park. The collection is now at the farm near Nairobi.

JUDGE M'GEE DISGUSTED WITH POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Tired of Being Bothered With Trivial Cases That Can Be Settled Out of Court.

Judge J. Wheeler McGee, of the Police Court, handed out a "roast" for the Police Department yesterday. The "roast" followed the dismissal of a trivial case that could have been settled by the arresting officer.

"People talk about the efficiency of the Police Department," said Judge McGee. "Here is a fair sample. The Prosecuting Attorney finds he can't make cases against half of the defendants, and asks for their dismissal. I turn around then and am forced to dismiss the other half."

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF DETAINING A CHILD.

Adam Horney, aged 25 years, a clerk employed in the grocery store owned by his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Horney, at 501 South Hancock street, was arrested last night on the complaint of Henry Warnecke, Jr., of 535 East Walnut street, who charged that Horney had caressed Warnecke's 10-year-old daughter with too much freedom when the child went into the Horney grocery store to make a purchase about a month ago.

Horney is charged with detaining a child. When seen at the First district police station, Horney declared that he had not caressed the child with any sinister intention, and that he thought nothing of the incident until he was confronted by the child's mother in the store late yesterday afternoon.

H. J. GRAF FINED AND FINE IS SUSPENDED.

Defendant Testifies That He Went To Defense of Nonunion Employe of Plant.

H. J. Graf, of the Graf-Webb Iron Manufacturing Company, was fined $5 in Police Court yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct, but the fine was later suspended. Mr. Graf was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Frank East, of 108 North Seventeenth street, a striking coremaker. J. Johnson, a nonunion employe at the plant, was fined $10 on a disorderly conduct charge.

The trouble occurred about a week ago. Johnson and a union man were engaged in a fight when Mr. Graf rushed in. The testimony was to the effect that Mr. Graf had a knife and used abusive language. This was denied by Mr. Graf, but he admitted having the knife, which he said was not open. Mr. Graf testified that he wanted to protect the nonunion man, who was being assaulted. The case was on trial several hours.

KILLS HIMSELF.

Fred G. Jenkins, Cynthiana Banker, a Suicide.

BUYS THE CARTRIDGES FROM HIS BROTHER.

MYSTERY AS TO THE MOTIVE.

Cynthiana, Ky., July 23.—[Special.]—Fred G. Jenkins, assistant cashier of the Farmers' National Bank, committed suicide this morning by shooting. The reason is not known. There were three notes left by Mr. Jenkins, one to Mr. Rice, president of the bank, in which he states to Mr. Rice that he will find his accounts with the bank straight in every detail. Mr. Rice stated to the Courier-Journal correspondent that he found Mr. Jenkins' statement correct, and the suicide could in no way be connected with the institution's affairs.

Mr. Jenkins left a note to F. G. Sprake, his brother-in-law, asking him to wind up his business for him and look after his family. The other note is to Mrs. Jenkins, and has not been opened, she having been under a physician's care since reaching the city.

Mrs. Jenkins and the two children had started for Millersburg for a visit and Mr. Jenkins was to join them later on his vacation.

Bought Cartridges From Brother.

Mr. Jenkins was down the street this morning and purchased the cartridges from his brother, Will Jenkins, in the store formerly conducted by them, saying he wanted them for the bank. Some time later the long distance exchange, which had a call for Mr. Jenkins, called up Will Jenkins at the store and asked about his brother. He became alarmed and went to see if the revolver that was kept in the store was there, and he found it was gone. He went at once to his brother's residence and, not being able to get an answer, rushed in the house, and as he reached the stair leading to Mr. Jenkins' room he heard a shot.

Found Man Dying.

Finding the door locked, he gained entrance to the room by the window and found his brother dying. A doctor was summoned and arrived as Mr. Jenkins passed away.

Fred G. Jenkins was 35 years old, and was born in Hardin county. He was the eldest son of Colmore H. and Ruth G. Wynn Jenkins. Both parents and nine brothers and sisters survive.

About ten years ago Mr. Jenkins went to Georgetown and entered the hardware firm of G. H. Watts & Co. Later he came to this city and opened up a hardware store here, a branch of the Georgetown store. Later he bought Mr. Watts' interest out and conducted the business with his brother, Will Jenkins, up to the consolidation of the Cynthiana Bank with the Farmers' National Bank. He was elected assistant cashier, selling the hardware business to Rolla Vanhook.

Mr. Jenkins married Miss Dixie Sprake, of this city, sister of Dr. Richard Sprake, of Denver, and F. G. and S. F. Sprake, of this city. He was a Knight of Pythias, an Odd Fellow and a member of the Baptist church of this city. The whole community is dumfounded, and at sea as to any motive that would prompt him to commit self-destruction. He was congenial with all he knew, was a devoted husband and father. He leaves two children, a boy aged 5 and a girl aged 2 years. No definite arrangements have been made for the funeral, but the burial will be in Battle Grove cemetery here.

GOOD GAMES SCHEDULED IN THE SATURDAY LEAGUE.

How They Stand.

	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
Sutcliffes	7	2	.778
Fetters	6	4	.600
Post-office	6	4	.600
High School	5	5	.500
Y. M. C. A.	4	6	.400
Independents	0	8	.000

Where They Play To-day.

Sutcliffes vs. Independents, Dusty Rhodes Park.

Fetters vs. Y. M. C. A., Portland Park.

Post-office vs. High School, Butchertown Park.

In view of the excellence of the sport in the Saturday League in the past few weeks, there is every reason to believe that great crowds will turn out to watch the amateurs perform at the Saturday League parks to-day.

Billy Semple's independent aggregation will line-up against the present leaders, the Sutcliffes, at Dusty Rhodes Park, Twenty-sixth and Broadway. Wenzel or Brenner and Semple will be the Independents' battery offering, and Manager Newman will oppose them with the famous Welting brothers battery.

The Fetters and Young Men's Christian Association will provide a splendid card at Portland Park. There is considerable rivalry existing between the teams, which will add interest to the game. Boardman or Devitt will pitch for the printers, and Coy or Schmidt will do the backstopping. For Young Men's Christian Association Johnson or O'Neal will perform on the slab, with Abbett behind the bat.

* * *

At Butchertown Park the High School team will lineup against Manager Moss' crack aggregation representing the Post-office. The mailmen have won six out of the last seven played, and at present are producing the best ball in the league. With Abbett in the box for the purple and old gold and Hikes dispensing benders for the mailmen, a pitchers' battle will likely take place. Marsh will pitch for Post-office and Grusser will handle the big mitt for High School.

Play Two No-Hit Games.

Marion, Ky., July 23.—[Special.]—Two fast and interesting baseball games here yesterday and to-day resulted in victories for Marion. Yesterday the Evansville team was held without a hit or run by Cooperrider, and Kraft duplicated the feat to-day against Waverly. The battery work with Perryman catching was a feature of both games, also the fine all-round fielding of the local team.

	R.	H.	E.
High Arts	0	0	1

Elks Win At Bedford.

Bedford, Ind., July 23.—[Special.]—The ball game to-day between the Bedford Elks and a picked team was witnessed by one of the largest crowds on the Bedford diamond this year. It resulted in a score of 18 to 24 in favor of the Elks. The leading feature of the game, which drew the crowd, was the fact that the proceeds went to the benefit of a brother Elk who has long been confined to his home by illness.

Earlington Team Wins.

Earlington, Ky., July 23.—[Special.]—Earlington won from the Boonville, Ind., team this afternoon by the score of 10 to 1. The pitching of Pittman, of London, Ky., the new twirler for the locals, who pitched his first game to-day, was the feature. The visitors failed to connect with his curves and he struck out twelve men. The batting of the locals was excellent. Batteries: Pittman and Stone; Tetters, Battinger and Houston.

JAPAN RESTIVE UNDER TRADE CONDITIONS

WANTS NEW TREATY WITH UNITED STATES.

UNCLE SAM IS SATISFIED AT PRESENT.

IN NO HURRY FOR CHANGE.

Washington, July 23.—Japan undoubtedly is becoming restive under trade conditions imposed in her treaty with the United States. This recently was made evident when she proposed to this Government that negotiations for a new treaty begin at once, notwithstanding the fact that the present one does not expire of limitation for two years.

Japan's statesmen are now at work on revisions of a number of treaties which expire in 1910, and it was her earnest desire that the United States should consent to a termination of our agreement next year, so that we might join in the negotiations with other Powers. Our trade interests in Japan, however, are not suffering, and for this and other reasons this Government did not see its way clear to discuss the questions involved before the expiration of our treaty in 1911.

Under the most favored nation clause of our treaty, Japan extends to the United States all the conventional rates which it has granted Great Britain, Germany and France. On the other hand, none of the reduced rates authorized in Section 3 of the Dingley act which are granted by the United States to certain foreign countries are extended to Japan.

The conventional rates represent in many cases reductions of 60 per cent., 75 per cent. and 80 per cent. from the general rates. Therefore, it is not difficult to understand our desire not to disturb present arrangements until compelled to do so.

NATURALIZATION TREATIES.

Secretary Knox Negotiating With Several Nations.

Washington, July 23.—Secretary of State Knox will soon initiate proceedings with a number of foreign governments looking to a reconstruction of treaties. Almost immediately upon his arrival in Constantinople, Mr. Straus, the new Ambassador, will take up the question of a naturalization treaty with Turkey. Under the regime of Abdul Hamid our dealings with that Government were anything but satisfactory. Under the new rule, however, a very marked improvement is noted.

Turkey having no naturalization treaty with the United States, questions of citizenship are frequently arising. Under the Turkish law a Turk cannot transfer his citizenship to another country and hence it frequently occurs that a Turk is a citizen of the United States, under our laws, and a citizen of Turkey under its laws, out of which anomalous fact many complications have necessarily arisen.

The other nations with which we have no naturalization treaties are Russia, Italy and France, and efforts probably will soon be made to come to some citizenship agreements with these countries. Indeed, negotiations to that end are now in progress with Russia, but little has been accomplished. This Government is insistent that the passports issued by it to naturalized Jews, as well as to all other foreign-born citizens of this country, shall be respected the world over.

A treaty with Siam is a probability of the near future. That Government is extremely anxious that the United States shall surrender her extra territoriality rights in that country, and our State Department is not greatly averse to doing so. She is very keen on this subject, and under an American adviser Siam has undoubtedly made long strides in the direction of modern methods of government, and the United States has about reached the conclusion that it would be quite safe to allow American offenders against Siamese laws to be tried by their courts instead of our consular tribunals.

Uruguay Signs Treaty.

Washington, July 23.—The Secretary of State has received a telegram from the United States Minister at Uruguay announcing that the naturalization convention between the United States and Uruguay has been signed.

The provisions of this convention will not be made public until after it is ratified by the United States Senate. It is understood that the arbitration and the extradition conventions with Uruguay will be ratified shortly.

Uruguay To Negotiate Loan.

Washington, July 23.—Uruguay is to negotiate abroad a loan for $6,000,000 for public works, according to advices which reached the State Department to-day from Minister O'Brien.

The loan is to bear interest at 5 per cent. with 1 per cent. annually of cumulative amortization by purchase or public bid. When the bonds are quoted at or above par the amortization is to be effected by lot at par. The bonds and coupons are exempt from taxation.

BOOKS AND THEIR WRITERS.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION, LECTURES AND OTHER EVENTS AT CHAUTAUQUA

National Army Day—D. A. R.'s Guests and Reception—Moliere's Comedies—"Colleges Do Not Educate," Says Prof. Coe, of the R. E. A—The Servant In the House and the Girl In the Kitchen—Music Present and To Come—Kentuckians Visiting the Great Assembly—Notes and Hearsays.

The Blue and the Gray. Last Saturday was National Army day—not G. A. R.—and veterans of the Mexican, Civil and Spanish Wars from all the neighboring towns flocked through the gates to take part in the patriotic exercises that had the right of way throughout the programme. The first event was the patriotic concert in the huge amphitheater, given by the Chautauqua Band, in which every section of the country was remembered. At 2 p. m. the veterans of both armies formed in line in Post-office Park and marched two abreast to the Amphitheater, where a vast audience greeted them with cheers. Noble, but somewhat sad, they looked, these bearded old men, many of them feeble from wounds received on both sides of the awful conflict. The brothers in gray walked with their brothers in blue and the orator of the day bade them both welcome.

The address was delivered by Chautauqua's chief founder, Bishop John H. Vincent, who chose as his topic "Recollections of Gen. U. S. Grant." Many will remember that Bishop Vincent, previous to the breaking out of the war, was Gen. Grant's pastor at Galena, Ill., the two holding intimate relations which were severed only by death. The bishop's personal recollections were of intense interest. He referred to two letters in his possession written by Grant and generously placed them where all who were interested could call and peruse them.

Mrs. Avery and Mrs. Harris. But all the patriotism was not confined to the men. In the afternoon the members of the D. A. R., their friends and the S. R. gathered in the Hall of Philosophy to hear Mrs. Rachel Foster Avery and Mrs. Edward L. Harris, founder and regent of the Western Reserve Chapter, D. A. R., No. 12, of Cleveland, O. Mrs. Avery is a most finished, fluent speaker, rarely referring to brief notes. She spoke of the work of the D. A. R., quoting in her introduction a wonderfully pertinent text from Nehemiah vii., 64:

"These sought their register among those that were reckoned by genealogy, but it was not found, therefore were they, as polluted, put from the priesthood."

Mrs. Harris spoke on "A Contrast of Days," proving how valuable had been the work of the organization in securing a sane Fourth in Cleveland. The statistics of the first four days of July, 1908-09 emphasized the speaker's claims, and her summary brought forth rounds of applause.

Mr. W. P. Gorsuch. Chautauqua has been treated to a course of Moliere by Mr. Gorsuch, of the University of Chicago, who is taking Mr. Clark's place in the School of Expression. During the week he has conducted the quiet reading hour in the Hall, giving, in a highly acceptable fashion, "The Citizen Who Apes the Nobleman," "The Pretentious Young Ladies," "The Misanthrope," "The Imaginary Invalid" and "The Miser." Mr. Gorsuch's voice is resonant and musical. He not only shows that he appreciates the finer points of the great Frenchman himself, but he renders all the puns, the satire, the sarcasm, the ridicule so perfectly into English that a person must be dull indeed who fails to understand and enjoy.

The Servant In the House. A visitor to Chautauqua, after an absence of four years, went to the reading of "The Servant in the House," by Mrs. Bertha Kunz Baker, and said: "I knew before that Mrs. Baker was a good reader, but I was not prepared for the intensity of her conception of 'The Servant in the House.' It was beyond praise. Her repression, her good taste, her inspiration were marvelous." Mrs. Baker commanded this appreciation throughout the large audience. Not a sound broke the stillness. As one individual the thousands sat in unwearying attention. Those who saw the reader after the performance realized from her exhaustion how much of her spirit went into her dramatic rendition.

The Girl In the Kitchen. Before the Woman's Club Tuesday, Bishop Vincent drew a picture of the ideal cook that filled the ideal mistress with yearning. Cooking he lauded as among the most honorable of the professions, and every mistress agreed with him. The ideal cook should be well educated, perhaps college-bred, should take a lively interest in current events and affairs; should be neat, clean, scientific and confidential. She should choose her profession not because she cannot gain a livelihood in any other, but because she has an aptitude for this and because she wishes to ease the burdens of some overworked mother. In return the mother must give her a light, airy, well-ventilated room with draperies and pictures; must subscribe for a good magazine for her that shall be all her own; must treat her as a friend, sympathizing with all her troubles and helping to solve her problems. The Bishop thinks that kitchens are good places to dream dreams, sing songs and lay foundations for the eternal habitations. Kitchens are good garden plots for planting and raising ideals, for schooling children in the habit of service, in the feeling of profound respect for honest labor and in the kind of skill that adds to the charm as well as to the value of life.

Colleges Do Not Educate. They merely teach subjects in colleges, said Prof. Coe, of the R. E. A., in his address Monday on "Character Development in the College and University." College professors are favorably disposed toward all that is good, but no one feels responsible for the morals or manners of the individual. Open scandals are severely dealt with, but little influence is exerted to promote morality. "Nobody's rank, salary or promotion depends upon the moral output of the college or the university." This was only a tithe of the scathing arraignment of the college that the eloquent professor of the Union Theological Seminary and president of the Religious Education Association made before an interested and somewhat astonished audience.

The chief flaying in the discourse, however, was on the subject of athletics. Gambling and betting, drinking and licentiousness are common. The youth with character to be formed sees vice go unpunished and unrebuked in many institutions. "It is time," said the speaker, "that parents and the public at large should begin to discriminate between colleges on such grounds as these and let the ground of the discrimination be known." College athletics are, as at present conducted, one of the unfortunate features of college life. "Think of the adulation that successful athletics receive from fellow students and of the prominence that they are given in the public press. What is a scientific discovery compared with a new trick at football? What is brilliant scholarship compared with brilliant tackling?"

He went on to show that while these sports were lauded as being recreative play after mental labor, an ebullition of youthful energy, they were, in fact, a great organized business, fundamentally dishonest, requiring large funds, employing numerous paid specialists, who make the sports purely professional and subordinate the interests of the college to athletics, distracting students from their studies, and making what purports to be play the hardest of grinding labor.

Flora's Holiday. On Wednesday the song cycle of old English melodies arranged by H. Lane Wilson was sung by the soloists, Mrs. Bowne, Miss Fiske, Mr. Bastow and Mr. Schwahn. No better quartet has ever appeared in Chautauqua. The concert opened with Thomas' Mignon Fantasie, which was well rendered by the Chautauqua orchestra. The celebrated pianist, Mr. William H. Sherwood played Chopin's ballade in A, and the Verdi-Liszt Rigoletto Fantasie. Mr. Sherwood is in fine musical temper this season and has never played better. Both he and Mr. Marcosson are greeted with vociferous applause every time they appear on the stage.

Friday a popular programme was rendered of "The Songs We Loved to Sing," in which one listened to such dead, but resussitated things as "Killarney," "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," "Sally in Our Alley," "The Last Rose of Summer," "Soldiers' Chorus from Faust" and a potpourri of national airs to which "America" furnished the main theme. The song "My Own United States," written for the National Song Society by Stanislaus Stange, was admirably rendered by Mr. Bertram Schwahn.

Future Music. Next week is the gala week. The New York Symphony Orchestra, under the leadership of the celebrated Mr. Walter Damrosch will give a concert—free to all Chautauquas—in which Wagner selections, Saint-Saens, A. Thomas and Ch. Gounod will figure prominently. The pizzicato and waltz from Sylvia will furnish the lighter numbers. "Elijah," with full chorus and orchestra, will be presented Friday.

Assembly Notes.

The Rev. Francis E. Clark, the founder of the Christian Endeavor Society, who conducted the morning services last week, credits his restoration to health and efficiency from an all but hopeless state of invalidism and depression caused by chronic influenza, to his conversion to Mr. Fletcher's theories of vital economics.

At the reception given by Mrs. B. T. Vincent at the Athenaeum Hotel Friday evening to women's club members more than twenty-nine States were represented.

In spite of Dr. Vincent's entreaties to parents to keep their children away from lectures, concerts, etc., interesting only to adults, the usual nuisance of the noisy, scuffling small boys on the front seats of the amphitheater, assisted by the popcorn and peanut eaters, prevails at every night performance.

Lady (to small boy)—Where's your mother, Bobby?

The reception given to the D. A. R. was enjoyed by all visiting members.

Mrs. Eli Trott, president of the Chautauqua Circle, D. A. R., entertained the guests of honor, Mrs. Avery and Mrs. Harris, at dinner Saturday at the Athenaeum Hotel. The decorations were native ferns and feathery grasses.

Terrible Novel of Russian Life.

Just what Maxim Gorky's object is in this, "The Spy," the American reader will find difficulty in discovering. No one can doubt his love for the people and his hatred for the Czar, yet this book is a more terrible arraignment of the peasant class than it is of the Government. If the horribly realistic pictures he here draws are true, and they bear the stamp of absolute fidelity, then Russia needs reform indeed, for the common people are bad, and to bring about a different condition reformers must begin at the babes.

Perhaps it is the corrupt Government that has corrupted the people so that they are dull, sodden, brutal, immoral and well-nigh hopeless. It is said that if the heart of the people beats true it makes no difference what are the characters of the rulers. In this recorded history of a young peasant, with hardly any exception—really only an inferred one in the case of Olga—no man or woman is much higher than the beasts of the field, some of them, indeed, being much lower, wallowing in physical and moral filth.

Yet the novel is a wonderful piece of writing. It makes Russia barbarous to the core when judged by modern ethical standards; it is hopeless in its pessimism; it shows that only the merest glimmer of good penetrates the lower strata, and that nothing save vileness actuates those in power. And the worst feature of this vileness is that the villains care not who hears of their deeds. Murders are committed in cold blood by members of the Department of Safety, the paid spies openly flout their superiors, and speak more openly of their sinful, brutish pleasures. The author piles horror on horror. One feels steeped in vice, but is forced by the power of the writer to read on and on. When the book is closed its retrospection seems like a nightmare.

THE SPY. The Story of a Superfluous Man. By Maxim Gorky. Authorized translation by Thomas Seltzer. Published by B. W. Huebsch, New York City.

Good For Bobby.

Few young men with rich fathers ever have the chance that is accorded Bobby Burnit to make something of himself. Bobby's father dies and leaves a will which begins in this fashion: "I am profoundly convinced that my son is a fool. I am, however, convinced that I allowed him to become so by too much absorption in my own affairs and too little in his; and therefore, his being a fool is hereditary, consequently I feel it my duty, first, to give him a fair trial at making his own way; and, second, to place the balance of my fortune in such trust that he cannot starve."

Bobby is not to know his trustees, but is to take over the John Burnit store and conduct it as his only resource. He has only known how to enjoy himself and be a good club fellow and a staunch friend. He thinks it will be great fun to go into business, and as a start goes to see Agnes Elliston, a girl whom he has courted ten times. Trying the eleventh and getting a noncommittal answer, he took his first step in the business world by phoning to his tailor to make him three business suits for real business wear.

"You've made a splendid start," commented Agnes smiling. "Now tell me about the polo tournament."

At 10:30 the next morning Bobby, in great pride, descends from his car in front of the old firm and, going into the dusty office where his father had made his millions, he greets the old clerk, Johnson, by telling him lightly that he has come to take over the business. In reply the clerk laid a twenty-page typewritten statement before him on the top of which he placed a plain gray envelope inscribed:

"To My Son Robert Upon the Occasion of His Taking Over the Business."

Bobby is in for it. He is defrauded on all sides. He loses five businesses, but he has one characteristic—perseverence. His unknown trustee has orders to advance $250,000 six times for six ventures, and if at the end of the sixth Bobby has not learned how to make money he is to cease trying, and live on the 2 per cent. interest of $1,500,000. The business portions of the book are valuable object lessons.

The story is good throughout. It deals in rather grand figures, but it is nevertheless a lesson to rich men's sons who desire to make something of themselves. So far as observed, they are, like Bobby, all fools, but being deserving of pity as such it is time that the wave of reform was doing something for them. This book sounds the first note.

Eternal Values.

The true life, said Fichte, lives in the eternal, and this is the keynote to Prof. Munsterberg's interesting volume, Eternal Values. The volume is a translation (wonderfully well done) into English from the author's Philosophie der Werte, which had such a flair in Germany. The present English translation differs, however, somewhat from the original in containing certain additional chapters relevent to recent discussions in America, while meantime other portions apropos of German movements and local German ideas have been omitted.

The volume is by no means in the class with those recent popular books by the same author, "On the Witness Stand" and "Psychotherapy." Closely knit in argument and style, it is addressed to the more scholarly reader. It will be especially suggestive and gratifying to those who feel poignantly the need for a fresh philosophical adjustment of their opinions to fit new ideas and old hopes, those who are weary of an overworked naturalism, skeptism, positivism. And yet for all its scholarly note not without significance is the volume for the brawny-minded among general readers. They will, however, encounter herein no flash of epigram, no picturesque argument or style, but the orderly marshaling of facts, the clean concision of expression must be matter for admiration for any one who can follow them.

The author's aim has been to work in the direction of a philosophy which will do justice to all the knowledge and aspirations of the Twentieth century, notably his own aspirations and those of thinkers unwilling to rest in materialistic formulae for life and its ultimate meanings and trend. He would serve in the battle to liberate men from the pseudo-philosophical doubt into which much of our science and our jejune philosophy would plunge us.

The method of Prof. Munsterberg to accomplish these ends has been to institute inquiries into what is valuable for the spirit of man. Philosophy, says he, has the right to seek an answer to the one question, how far we have the right to give to our values an objective character? Is there anything in the world valuable except our personal likings and pleasures, anything worthless but the sources of our personal discomfort? He takes his view and answers this and similar questions by tracing the various relations in which the spirit of man finds itself—in the outer world; in the world of fellowmen; in the world of the inner life. The values of existence, of connection; the aesthetic, ethical and metaphysical values, are successfully examined. The findings of this inquiry resolve themselves into assertion of eternal values toward which man pre-eminently strives, but toward which nature, too, in some respects moves. The overself, the great realm of the beyond, also beckon this philosopher, not with the erratic violence with which they called to a Bernard Shaw or a Nietsche—but as a definite goal of serenity, unity, ideality, transcending the conceptions the English and German philosophers have set up as humanity's goal. The purpose of apperceiving the world of harmony, of truth and of morality as a valuable self-completing whole demands our effort, says the author, just as science and art and law demanded it. To deny to the seeker the valuable totality of the world is as meaningless, he continues, as it would be to tell the naturalist that the parts of nature are not really in casual connection * * * "the philosophical world-totality is also certainly not something ready-made, not something which the philosopher has to unveil from its masking drapery. It is the goal of apprehension toward which he aims."

If apprehension is constantly demanded by Prof. Munsterberg in this volume of inquiry into what the eternal values are, his work does not stop with affording material for the apprehension of his readers to seize upon. He does more. He stimulates their idealism. He widens the range of their vision from the immediate in temporal and spatial relations to a goal more enriching in its prospects than what we may now perceive, and yet a goal directly in line of march from our present standpoint. To that goal, as Prof. Munsterberg's speculations envisage it for the imaginative or the more prosaically practical reader, man must move as part of a great orb of being wherein abide harmony, unity, moral meaning, dimly apprehended by the thinkers of the past, but still awaiting more complete realization in the minds of future philosophers—a noble company to which the author will evidently give much stimulus by this volume, though they may not go hand in hand with him through all the byways of the fine quest he has made in the kingdom of eternal values. Quotation could be copiously made to illustrate at once his idealism and his vigorous thought, but perhaps one sentence may do some justice to his range and to his main idea in this volume—"to upbuild a world of values!" That is not attainable for our isolated energies. We can take part in the common task of mankind. To unfold his own will in self-faithfulness means therefore for every one to help the upbuilding of the same common world." This idea of the connection of every part with the eternal whole, the value of the will, its freedom, the insistence on the over-self that beckons forward the "little flickering, fluttering flame of the human spirit," as Yeats calls it—these are main threads on which the author has so closely woven the intricate pattern of his fine thought and idealism.

THE ETERNAL VALUES. By Hugo Munsterberg. Publishers, the Houghton-Mifflin Co., Boston.

The Christ of Promise.

The ingenious contention of this volume is that the story of Christ was told by these classic poets whose names appear in the titles, and by Euripides, Alcaeus, even Sappho, and Catullus, as well as several others whose text has sometimes been used in this connection by other Christian apologists.

Having hade this main contention, the author proceeds to prove that paganism was never universal from the Noachic to the Augustinian days, that an inner circle of pre-apostolic Christians existed among the Assyrians, Babylonians, Egyptians, Persians, Greeks and Romans. So, contends Dr. Fitz Simon, the Iliad, the Odyssey, Aeneid, the Odes, Metamorphoses and many other pieces of classic literature were not written for pagan admirers, but for an inner circle; that these works were purely religious in motive, embodying fundamental truths regarding one God, Creator of all things, and a future Christ, Saviour of the race.

Yet if such was the main motive of all that great pagan literature, it did, the author grants, admit of another rendering, one adapted for the profane. But there was never any danger of not reaching the esoteric, for abundant use was made of ciphers, picture words, verbal diagrams and similar forms by which this truth of one God and the Christ to come could be presented to those who formed the inner circles of hope and faith.

The arguments are, of course, highly ingenious, sometimes quite interesting, in some cases convincing, and again apparently entirely too far-fetched. For instance, is it not carrying this contention too far to pretend that the odes, "Quis Multa Gracilis" and "Odi Profanum," come under this head, which is evidently a fixed idea with the author? In all kindness it must be said that, like many other obsessions, this of the author's has borne him a little too far into the misty mid-regions of speculation, which he mistakes for absolute truth.

Timely Book on Ice Cream

The writer has the advantage of practical experience in the confectioner's trade, his mastery of which is apparent. In addition to a large number of recipes for making all sorts of ices and drinks, there are many hints for the management of shop and office. One trick of the trade recommended in all seriousness by the author is particularly amusing and shabby. The wayfaring critic would fain quote for the benefit of a gullible public:

"One way to solicit trade is, for instance, to have several competitors, buy a pint of their ice cream, and have a chemist analyze it, giving the butter-fat per cent. of the cream and articles used. Mark each man's analysis so you will know whose it is, but I do not recommend making any mention to your customers of the manufacturer's name. Then you make and freeze an extra high-grade, all-around cream. Now have the chemist test yours, likewise, and put your test at the bottom of all, with your name attached to it. Yours will be far superior to all, etc."

Nevertheless the recipes for practical use recommend the use of gelatine in all cases, except that in a "Pure Food Law Recipe" it is suggested that "if there are any objections" to the gelatine prescribed, liquid rennet be used as a good substitute.

The "best ice cream" is made of four-day-old 20 per cent. cream, combined with condensed cream, with the addenda of gelatine, vanilla, sugar and soda. The cheap grade calls for milk and water, arrowroot, more gelatine, and coloring matter. The use of soda is recommended for "working up" soured cream.

These details are for the customer. To the dealer, the work will probably prove acceptable by reason of much helpful advice and a sympathetic attitude toward the "bothersome" pure food law.

Pastor Wagner's New Book.

Like the mode of life made famous by his recommendation, Pastor Charles Wagner's religion is simple, honest, wholesome and close to the soil. The name of his new book, "The Home of the Soul," is also the title of his church—or "institution for religious culture"—in Paris. The church building includes, besides the auditorium, a social hall, free dispensary, operating-room, school for cookery, and other beneficial agencies. Among the American contributors toward the erection of this building were John Wanamaker, John D. Rockefeller and Levi Morton. The congregation comes from every quarter of Paris, and includes thinkers, drawn from many schools to—not a new doctrine, but—"the radiant infection of the good."

The present message from this refuge for yearning souls and suffering bodies consists largely of a series of sermons delivered there. The broad spirit of a practical social religion inspires them. As Dr. Lyman Abbott states in his introduction, Pastor Wagner is a teacher of religion, not of theology. He is a champion of the "lay idea," contending that the sectarian has forgotten "the only thing that really counts, which is that he is a man."

"True religion, therefore, is a mighty impulse toward the finding of the spiritual life, and the Spirit itself, in the things of every day."

"The old giant of mythology, Antaeus, was invincible because at the very moment when his enemies were about to make him bite the dust, a new strength came to him from contact with the earth, his mother. The case of religious humanity is identical. Religions * * * lose their combative vigor and their capacity for conquering by lack of contact with the nourishing and tonic qualities of the popular soil."

This charming story of the Runaway Place, which is another name for Central Park, deserves truly its secondary title, "A May Idyl of Manhattan." It is instinct with the true spirit of romance, which flouts lightly such obstacles as a commercial Twentieth century and a grimy workaday New York, interpreting the spell of witching glamor that night flings so mysteriously over a moonlit park. Child Marie is a girl taking a vacation and Child Philip is a man out of a job, who, meeting by chance in the park, agree to go back to the year before last, even further, back into the long ago, when 10 years old measured their earth lives, and to play together. These two children find that both know and love William Morris, so their first adventure is called the Adventure of the Sending Boat, in which they set out to find the little House by the Wood and the Black Knight and Birdalone. In Chapter Two they find a Magic Casement and in Chapter Three Child Philip writes an essay on "How To Be Happy Though in New York," which contains some of the most delightful touches in the whole book. In a quaintly whimsical style he turns easily from "getting married" to Brooklyn Bridge, from New York restaurants to Kate Greenaway's book-plates, and Kate Greenaway's darling brood who were so at home on the plate with a London skyline behind them, but objected distinctly to the skyline of New York. "No doubt they exist within London Town itself, and surely Mr. Barrie knows where to find them." Of books he writes happily. Build you a House of Life of books to be happy in, but build not with too much fiction, for "truth is often a stranger to fiction." Child Marie, one guesses, in her grown-up hours is a kindergartner. In the park she puts Child Philip to work with pad and pencil keeping tally on the movements of a baby of 4 years. In fifteen minutes the baby boy has done seventy things with his body, counting only the main themes and omitting the variations. Chapter Seven contains some subtle and humorous art criticisms, for occasionally the two return to Grown Up Land, and the final chapter leaves them there permanetly, their names still unknown to the reader, who feels that he has dwelt for a time with youth and love and romance.

THE WHIRL. By Foxcroft Davis. Dodd, Mead & Co., New York.

In a hammock under a shade tree one may enjoy a round of gayeties in Washington society, as described in The Whirl, which is a judicious mixture of society novel and love story, with a dash of politics. Miss Lucy Armytage, of Bardstown, Ky., is the heroine, one of those dainty little coquettes who have a specially-appealing glance for each man in turn, though each one thinks it is for him alone. Miss Armytage is enjoying Washington society under the wing of her uncle, whom she introduces as "my uncle, Col. Armytage, of Kentucky. My uncle is a member of Congress; in Kentucky that makes him a Colonel, though I can't understand why." Sir Percy Carlyon, nephew, secretary and probable successor of the British Ambassador, Lord Baudesert, has made up his mind to pass by shrill-voiced American girls and choose an English wife, but he has not reckoned on Miss Armytage, of Kentucky, with her soft voice and appealing glance and startling independence. There are some delightful glimpses of teas and balls and dinners; then comes a more serious note with the advent of a well-bred adventuress, concerned with Sir Percy's past, and still more concerned with Senator March's future. The Senator is the soul of honor, but Alicia Vernon manages to drag him in the dust. It is a good story, with many well-drawn characters and some not so good, but it loses somewhat in force by a lack of unity of purpose, and after the crisis the latter chapters drag a little.

GAELIC FOLK TALES. By Mary Grant O'Sheridan. The Henneberry Co., Chicago.

These tales embody ancient Gaelic myths, being adapted from the three saga cycles of Gaelic mythology. "The Quest of the Eric Fine," "The Children of Lir," "The Ard Righ of Eire," "The Fairy Palace of Quicken Trees" are some of the tales long enough to be divided into chapters. They are simply told, designed for supplementary school reading, and bring some of the rich Gaelic folk lore into readable form. The unpronounceable names necessitate a pronouncing vocabulary at the end, which, however, can be of use only to students or to readers with exceedingly good memory.

THE QUIRT AND THE SPUR. By Edgar Rye. W. B. Conkey Company, Chicago.

The author who warns the critic in his preface, usually has good cause to dread him, and this case is not an exception. The book is put together in an exceedingly haphazard fashion. The author's greatest trouble, as with other untrained writers, is in knowing when he has finished a chapter and just how to begin a new one. However, the material here is quite worth while. Texas in the old days, when the gray wolf and the mountain lion stalked their prey and the lonely trails were beset by bloodthirsty Indians is brought back to the reader quite vividly. To him who has made the journey through Texas on the Texas and Pacific railway past its prosperous towns and fertile cotton fields, it is hard to believe that barely thirty years ago the western terminal of the Texas and Pacific railway was the town of Dallas, across the open prairie the trail continued to the village of Fort Worth, and all traces of the East disappeared at the little hamlet of Weatherford. The book will be especially interesting to Texans or to students of American history, and it is rich with dramatic incident, tales of Indian fights and practical jokes, of holdups and buffalo ranges, of terrific battles and skirmishes and Indian forays, of cowboys and gambling dens, and all sorts of stories of the life in '76 on the Texas prairies. The worst thing about the book is the poetry with which each chapter is headed, apart from this the style is simple, entertaining, and every chapter is crowded with interesting reading.

Author and Publisher.

A new volume in the South American Series, Mexico, by C. Reginald Enock, F. R. G. S., has just been brought out in this country. This book gives a complete history of the political, social and business conditions in Mexico to-day; besides giving a valuable and interesting account of the country during prehistoric times and the Spanish conquests. It contains a map and a number of full-page illustrations.

Robert W. Chambers' publishers have sent out several notes about a book by him to appear next fall, but have not heretofore mentioned the title. There is nothing strange about that, as it is still some time before the book is expected to appear, and the titles of various books and plays, such as "The Fighting Hope," "The Winning Chance," "The Fighting Line," etc., show how ready the people are to follow where so apt a man as Chambers leads. And the title of the new book is one that will bring a satisfied thrill of anticipatory delight to every one of the author's old admirers. It is to be called "The Danger Mark."

Charles Belmont Davis' book of short stories of New York life, "The Lodger Overhead and Others," is now in its second edition.

"A Literary History of Rome, from the Origins to the Close of the Golden Age," by J. Wight Duff, M. A., has just been imported by the Scribners. This volume presents a connected account of Latin literature in its earliest phases and in its best period.

Rex Beach, author of "The Barrier" and "The Spoilers," Alaska novels which hold popular places on the Harper fiction list, has been in New York after an absence of several months spent at Hot Springs, Arkansas. Mr. Beach intends to pass part of his summer on Long Island.

John Reed Scott's new sparkling romance, "The Woman in Question," which created such a stir in social circles of Pittsburg on its recent appearance, is fast approaching a third edition. The publishers report that the continued and increasing demand for this novel presages an even greater success than was accorded "The Colonel of the Red Huzzars" and "The Princess Dehra." Within two weeks after the book was placed on sale by the Lippincotts it was among the best selling books in Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and Chicago.

Elizabeth Robins' new novel, announced for early in the autumn publication, is said by her friends to be her most earnest effort in fiction. It is to be entitled "The Florentine Frame" and it will deal with a human situation so unusual and so vital that it is quite likely to be the most talked of book of its season. The scene is New York City and the characters are all American. It is well known that Miss Robins, notwithstanding her successful European career, is, in a very complete sense, American. She was born in Louisville.

"Inland Waterways," by Herbert Quick, which the Putnams will publish early in the fall, is a study of our water highways, and a comparison of them with the like channels of trade and travel abroad. This book covers in a general way the question of waterways in well-nigh all their aspects—their importance to the nation's welfare, their relations to the railways, their creation, restoration, and maintenance. The bearing of forestry upon the subject in question is considered, and there is a suggested plan for a continental system of waterways. There are a large number of illustrations of the first interest.

The Harpers have made public the complete list of those writers who have been named, in print or letter, for authorship of "The Inner Shrine." Here are the names, alphabetized. And it may be added that not one of these has been authenticated:

Gertrude Atherton, Josephine Daskam Bacon, Alice Brown, Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, Marion Crawford, Richard Harding Davis, Margaret Deland, Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, Mrs. Burton Harrison, Anthony Hope, Mildred Howells, Henry James, Elizabeth Jordan, Basil King, W. J. Locke, Brander Matthews, Leonard Merrick, Gwendolyn Overton, Gilbert Parker, Amelie Rives, Elizabeth Robins, Theodore Roosevelt, van Tassel Sutphen, J. C. Smith, Booth Tarkington, Katherine Cecil Thurston, Mark Twain, Henry van Dyke, Marie van Vorst, Mrs. Humphry Ward, Edith Wharton, Professor Wendell.

"MACBETH" TO BE "REALIZED" BY MAURICE MAETERLINCK.

Extraordinary Production of Shakespeare's Tragedy To Be Given Next Month At the Belgian Author's Castle In Normandy—Drama Will Be Played Without "Properties," the Historic Castle and Its Surroundings Furnishing the Scenes of the Different Episodes—Madame Maeterlinck To Be Lady Macbeth—Mystery of Monna Lisa's Famous Smile Solved At Last—Death of the Discoverer of the "Winged Victory"—King Edward Honors An Author—Gossip of Literary Affairs Abroad.

[From a Staff Correspondent.]

Paris, July 6.—Any American who finds himself in Normandy next month will do well to inquire his way to the castle of St. Wandrille, the home of that distinguished author and dramatist, Maurice Maeterlinck. Ordinarily, the castle itself, which is one of the most ancient in Northern France, would be worth a visit, even were it not the abiding place of as renowned a pair as the author of "Pelleas and Melisande" and his talented wife, an actress, who on the French stage is known as Mdlle. Georgette Leblanc. In August, however, on a date which has not yet been set, there will be given at St. Wandrille what M. Maeterlinck, who is organizing it, calls a "realization" of Shakespeare's tragedy of "Macbeth," which promises to be among the most remarkable performances ever given.

Naturally you will ask why M. Maeterlinck calls the production which he is planning to make of Macbeth a "realization?" He does so because its scenes will be real instead of artificial. There will be no "properties," pasteboard landscapes or limelight. Maeterlinck's castle possesses great courtyards and banqueting halls, mediaeval battlements, suites of Louis XV. apartments and moss-grown ruins. These and places near the castle will form the stage settings for "Macbeth" as produced by the author, who has been called the "Belgian Shakespeare."

The spectators will move to different parts of the castle and grounds as the scene shifts. They will hear the hoofs of Duncan's horse in the distance as the doomed king rides up to Macbeth's castle. On alighting, he will look up at real battlements as he says: "This castle hath a pleasant seat, the air nimbly and sweetly recommends itself unto our gentle senses." And Banquo will observe the real swallows' nest in the walls when he answers: "This guest of summer, the temple-haunting martlet."

The spectators will walk into a real lobby of the castle for the next scene, that of Macbeth's sinister "If it were done, when 'tis done, then 'twere well it were done quickly." They will be in the real courtyard of the castle while Macbeth above is murdering Duncan, and the porter, when the knocks come at the gate, will play his famous scene, the ribaldry of which deepens the horror of what one knows to be happening above. At the banquet the spectators themselves will sit down to the feast and watch Macbeth glancing at Banquo's empty chair. Then it is that they will "stand not upon the order of their going." The rest of the tragedy will be played upon the same realistic principle. Madame Maeterlinck will be Lady Macbeth, and will act the sleep-walking scene in one of the mediaeval rooms of the castle.

These details a friend of Maeterlinck's has confided to a representative of the Paris Figaro, but he fails to deal with some obvious difficulties. He does not say, for instance, if there is a "blasted beech" near the castle of St. Wandrills, nor if the heavens can be depended upon to provide a thunderstorm for the evening of the performance. Nor does he state whether there will be supers enough to represent a real army on a real plain. One cannot expect everything, however, and M. Maeterlinck's "realization" of "Macbeth" certainly will be worth going a long way to see.

Do you know why Monna Lisa smiles as she does? Every American who has visited the Louvre, in Paris, has seen the famous picture by Leonardo da Vinci, and most of those who have not are familiar, through reproductions, with the strange face of "La Gioconda." Her sad and mysterious smile always has been a puzzler. What does it signify? M. Solomon Reinach, a Parisian savant and authority on art matters, believes he has found out.

M. Reinach has discovered that Monna Lisa, who married Francesco del Giocondo in 1495, had a little girl who died in infancy, and was buried in Santa Novella, at Florence. Now, Leonardo painted the portrait of Gioconda between 1499 and 1506. M. Reinach points out that in the picture she wears mourning, and no jewels, and recalls that, according to Vasari, Leonardo, while she sat for him had musicians and jesters brought to chase away her melancholy. It is reasonable, therefore, to deduce that La Gioconda, when Leonardo painted her, was mourning her little girl. The sad smile of Monna Lisa, M. Reinach finally concludes, is that of a grieving mother whose melancholy sweet music and the jokes of jesters cannot dispel, but can only lull for a moment. She smiles in spite of her grief, but does not forget her grief while she smiles.

Speaking of the Louvre reminds one that the discoverer of one of its greatest treasures has just died. The "find" of Charles Champoiseau, who passed away at the age of 80, was the so-called "Winged Victory of Samothrace," one of the two or three most beautiful statues in the world, and which rivals the Venus of Milo as the jewel of the Louvre sculpture galleries. In 1863 M. Champoiseau was French Consul in the Levant, and was sent to excavate in the Island of Samothrace. The wonderful winged figure and the galley prow on which she is poised were found in 120 fragments, bit by bit. The excavations lasted several years and the pieces were brought in different lots to France. The reconstruction was a long task which was admirably done. The head, the arms and part of the wings are missing, but the figure is a marvel, even incomplete.

Social as well as literary interest is attached to "The Story of the Household Cavalry," a monumental work in two volumes by Sir George Arthur, Bart., which has just been published in England. King Edward has accepted the dedication of it—almost the only case on record in which his majesty has allowed a book to be dedicated to him—and he is so pleased with the work which Sir George has done in perpetuating the gallant deeds of his life guards that he has conferred the M. V. O. decoration on the author.

Sir George, who is an honorary Captain in the army, was a Lieutenant of the Second Life Guards, and he has approached the work with all the loving care of an officer whose heart is with his old corps. The book is a history of the three regiments whose duty it is to guard the person of the sovereign—the First and Second Life Guards and the Royal Horse Guards Blue. They are the oldest regiments of cavalry in the British army, and it was about some of them that Marshal Bugeaud, one of Napoleon's Generals in the Peninsula, said that he thanked God that England had so few of them.

The book is more than a history. It is an encyclopaedia of the English court and social gossip of three centuries, for during that period every noble family in England has had a representative in nearly every generation among its officers. Attached as they are to the person of the sovereign, the officers are in close touch with all that goes on at court, and are the heroes of many romances which are now described for the first time. The book is beautifully illustrated, and the binding, which is a masterpiece of the bookmaker's art, is in keeping with the contents.

HAYDEN CHURCH.

BRAKE ROD SNAPS, DITCHING SEVERAL CARS.

The snapping of a brake rod on a Chesapeake and Ohio freight train, which was running at the rate of thirty miles an hour, near Eastwood, at an early hour yesterday morning, caused six cars of the train to leave the track and roll into a ditch beside the roadbed.

After the sixth car left the track, the train broke and the last several cars and the caboose, in which the crew was riding, were saved. The wrecked cars contained merchandise and the train was on its way to the city. Traffic was delayed for several hours.

SATURDAY.........JULY 24, 1909

"Business."

Friday Evening, July 23.—The New York stock market was dull and featureless, closing with unimportant changes.

Money on call was easy at 1¾ to 2 per cent., ruling at 1⅞. Time loans were weaker at 2 to 3½. Sterling exchange was steady.

The Chicago wheat market continued on the down turn, closing 1¼c to 1¾c net lower. Corn closed firm, oats steady and provisions easy.

The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 5 to 8 points, declined about 10 points during the forenoon, then turned upward and closed 6 to 13 points higher than opening quotations.

The Chicago cattle market was steady, the hog market 5c higher and the sheep market steady.

Mrs. Bartlett-Crane's Report.

Plain language characterizes Mrs. Caroline Bartlett-Crane's report upon sanitary conditions in Kentucky. If her statements are somewhat radical in spots they are, nevertheless, calculated to awaken the people of Louisville and the State to the importance of considering seriously the subjects she discusses. Reform is usually the result of radicalism. If there is one paragraph in the report with which a Kentuckian might justly quarrel it is the statement that the death rate in this State "looms exceedingly large."

The last Federal Census figures show the death rate in Louisville to be twenty in the 1,000. It must be borne in mind that this city has a considerable negro population. Yet the death rate compares favorably with a number of cities with smaller negro population. The rate in Cincinnati is 19.1; in Philadelphia, 21.1; in Pittsburg, 20; in Scranton, 20; in Jersey City, 20.7; in New York, 20.4; in Boston, 23.4; in New Orleans the rate is 28.9; in Memphis, 25.1; in Washington, 23.4; in Baltimore, 21.1. This does not mean that there are not "shocking tenements and hovels" in Louisville. There are, in point of fact, such tenements in this and other Kentucky cities. Where they are found they reflect the errors of shiftless landlords who do not realize that there is a net profit in careful upkeep as against a condition of dilapidation. That bad tenements have a bad effect upon health and morals is indisputable.

Mrs. Bartlett-Crane's hints upon the proper sanitation and ventilation of school buildings are valuable. Our laws in this respect are doubtless more sanitary in intention than are our school rooms in fact.

Paragraphs touching the condition of almshouses and jails are to the point and should demand the attention of everyone. Someone who makes epigrams has said that while poverty is no crime it is usually punished as such. The inevitable punishment attaching to indigence are many, and heavy. Almshouses should be places at which they are mitigated. It is too often the case that the pauper who avoids the poorhouse as a healthy man would avoid the pest-house has gained wisdom by experience and knows that it is better to depend upon the chance charity of individuals than the organized charity of the county. The contract plan of "feeding them at so much a head" Mrs. Bartlett-Crane aptly calls "an invitation to give the inmates of an almshouse as little food and attention as may be."

From that part of the report dealing with almshouses this paragraph is quoted because it should be accorded attention:

"A resident trained nurse, with a system of call bells reaching every 'cottage,' medical attendance by a competent physician once every day; Sunday religious services; some separate provision other than the common crowded room for people who are about to die, and burial services for the dead, are things sadly needed and lacking in your almshouses, and needed the more because these people dwell in isolated buildings rather than under the same roof with the keeper's family. A trained nurse could organize the more able-bodied of the inmates, who could help her in nursing, and who could be required to keep the quarters of the sick clean. A trained nurse could prevent the ravages of tuberculosis, which goes on its way unheeded, and largely unrecognized, in these places of misery."

Mrs. Bartlett-Crane's observations upon the jails, workhouses and penitentiaries of the State—mentioning the new Jefferson county jail as a shining exception to the rule of medieval architecture and inadequate accommodations—develop little that is new. They seek to arouse interest in a subject too long disregarded. The worst native criminals caught in the brush in the Philippines and convicted of murder are kept in a prison which is a palace compared with the State prisons in Kentucky, or with the jails where prisoners awaiting trial are housed.

Persons interested in the welfare of the State should read Mrs. Bartlett-Crane's report when it is published in full. We have had in the past too much foolish boasting about the glorious past and the bluegrass pastures of Kentucky, and too little of the critical spirit that is constructive.

Two of a Kind.

I.

Brother Pickett sticks to his text. He loads his fowling-piece with Scriptural quotations taken from the Bible at random and blazes away at all creation regardless of the consequences either to himself or the surrounding foliage. Being, like Mr. Lillyvick, an angel and not a mortal, Brother Pickett is quite out of harm's way, and is to be congratulated equally upon his own abstemiousness and that of his eight sons. "We looks toward" him and them.

We shall not lay down antediluvian learning side by side with the citations of Brother Pickett for the reason which we gave in our former writing that anybody can prove anything to his complete satisfaction by calling the Saints and the Prophets to the witness stand.

The main point we made against Brother Pickett's scheme to exterminate sin, disease and death by closing the drink-places, related to his lack of discrimination between drinks. We surmised that he was ignorant of the many and great contrarieties between a bottle of whisky and a hole in the ground, to say nothing about the differential characteristics of a Gin Ricky and a Horse's Neck. He thinks he does not need to taste in order to know; that he can tell by a system of scientific observation; and he likens a glass of grog to a bullet through the heart, which is loose as well as excessive imagery. Then he speaks of wine and beer with the same levity and lack both of knowledge and discernment, apparently taking beer to be the stronger of the two.

Now the terms wine and beer cover many hundreds of different beverages. Each country produces its own peculiar types of wine and beer and each type has its gradations. The wine of France is not as the wine of Germany. There is a difference even between the wine of the Rhine and the wine of the Moselle, which empties into the Rhine. There are the wines of Spain and Portugal—much too strong and almost obsolete of late years. There are the Italian wines and the Hungarian wines—leave the Tokay and the Lachrimae Christi alone, Brother Pickett! The beer of England is not as the beer of Bavaria, nor the beer of Munich as the beer of Berlin, though this latter is improving; nor yet the beer of Wurzburg. There is the deep, dark, insinuating Kulmbacher—don't you go monkeying with that, Brother Pickett!—and again there is the liquid amber known as Pilsener, which you and your boys can drink till the cows come home without feeling it. (Ask Louis Seelbach if you can't.) Down in Georgia they say that "near beer" tastes and smells exactly like whisky and up in Maine we know that "old cider" means apple brandy.

Thus it will be seen that there is all the difference in the world in "what" you drink. There is also a difference in "how" you drink—not infrequently in "where" you drink. "Forty, or fifty schooners are quite enough for me," says Hans in the Merry Widow. "I'm no hog!"

The "six-bottle men" of London in the Eighteenth century went long ago to keep company with the "seven-barred gate men" of the Shires, and "Old Port" and "Madeira" are rarely seen nowadays on the best tables. Intoxication is in point of fact no longer or anywhere tolerated by society. The Rhine Barons and the Nobility and Gentry of England have reformed themselves without any Prohibition enactments, whilst in the Latin countries drunkenness is substantially unknown either among the Aristocracy, or the peasants, who use the lighter wines.

Brother Pickett refuses to see the facts as they are. Instead, he takes his isolated view, which appears to be limited to the narrow strip of territory lying betwixt the groggery and the gutter. He does not discriminate. In vain for any one to inform, or admonish him. Thus, for example—

"Look not upon the wine when 'tis red.
Take white wine instead."
"Gaze never upon the wine in the cup.
Just drink it up."

II.

Jesu! Mercy! Here's another Richmond in the field! Comes that great and learned Pundit, of Betsytown—our good Brother Sommers—to take issue with both our reading, writing and arithmetic. He opens ominously enough. We quote—

"There can be intemperance in speech as well as in habit and Mr. Watterson allows himself to go beyond the bounds of reason in the heat of debate and to say some very extreme and intemperate things."

Lord! Did we say that a lot of loafers are deriving a good living working the countryside out of its money under the guise of closing the saloons? No. Did we liken all the wild-eyed Prohibitionists to the lamented West, who, whilst getting a good living for himself out of innocent people, was also working their wives and daughters? Not a bit of it. Did we even tell old Ephraim Smooth, who rolls his eyes skyward in public and has a bottle hid under the bed at home, to go to perdition, or words to that effect? Surely not. The Star-Eyed Goddess "is too much of a lady for that." She leaves the professional Prohibitionist to "rar back on his hind legs and raise all the hell to the square inch he cares to raise"—upon paper—contenting herself with preaching the gospel of tolerance and moderation, each and every man to his humor as to his eating and drinking and wearing apparel; morality and virtue, attributes of the soul, not offsprings of an Act of Assembly.

The offense which our accomplished Theban of the County of Hardin finds in our unguarded parts of speech resides in these simple but fatal words: "The moderate use of drink has brought as much happiness into the world as its immoderate use has brought wretchedness," responsive to which most truthful and reasonable statement of human experience Brother Sommers lets loose the following fusillade:

Mr. Watterson complains of the narrowness and the extreme position taken by those who do not agree with him on the prohibition question. Certainly none of them have uttered anything so extreme as this. When we consider homes which have been blasted by intemperance; when we consider the poverty and degradation which has so often followed tarrying too long at the wine cup; when we think of the human blood which has been shed by persons crazed with rum; when we think of the promising lives that have been destroyed by the habit of getting drunk; when we count the widowed mothers and the forsaken and desolate wives directly due to intemperance; when we count the victims of the habit in our asylums, our jails and our poor houses; when we look upon the squalor, and the depravity and the degradation which has brought thousands from respectability and comfort to their low estate; when we think of the many confessions upon the gallows that "drink did it;" when we think of half of the misery and the sorrow and the poverty and the crime laid at the door of intemperance; how can Mr. Watterson say that the moderate use of drinking has brought as much happiness as the immoderate use has brought wretchedness; how can he afford to set the temporary pleasure of the social glass and the hilarious shout of bacchanalian revelry which are but for the moment against the permanent ruin and wreck of human lives and homes.

The unhappy victim of delirium tremens sees nothing in his ravings but snakes and the fanatical prohibitionist in his ravings nothing but drunkards.

Brother Sommers fairly rivals Brother Pickett. He looks through the knothole of a cross-road groggery and beholds therein the world. To him there is no difference between a glass of wine drunk by gentlemen among gentlemen and a glass of poison drunk by toughs among toughs. Every meeting of men and women where wine is served becomes according to his distorted vision a bacchanal, every social gathering a debauch. Fifty habitual drunkards in a community of ten thousand would be a large percentage, and yet all others—the nine thousand nine hundred and fifty—must needs be disciplined by law in order that Brother Pickett and Brother Sommers may try their hands at sobering and keeping sober the delinquent fifty? The sexual relation has brought quite as much evil and suffering into the world as drink. Time was when fanaticism proclaimed celibacy and the cloister as Brother Pickett and Brother Sommers shout prohibition; the argument in either case the same. To what end? Shall lawful love be extinguished because of lawless love? Shall the world's Acropolis of Wisdom and Virtue be transferred from Olympian Shrines to the top of a hen-roost on Muldraugh's Hill? Shall Kentucky crawl into Symmes' Hole and draw the Hole in after?

Go to! Go to! We e'en shall still have cakes and ale; and Christmas egg-nog shall flow; and each shall drink to each; and love shall sparkle and children yet be born; aye, and they shall laugh and sing, too; though Hell and Brother Pickett stand at the door, though the Devil and Brother Sommers seek to crawl in at the window! Did either ever read about the gentleman in Virginia, who made a fortune minding his own business, or the Rooster who thought the sun rose just to hear him crow?

And now, everybody fill to the brim and join in chanting those good old staves which made the rafters ring at Heidelberg a thousand years ago and will continue to expound the true philosophy of life as long as time shall last:

The Pope he leads a happy life,
He fears not married care, nor strife;
He drinks the best of Rhenish wine,
I would the Pope's gay lot were mine.

But then all happy's not his life;
He has not blooming maid, nor wife,
Nor child has he to raise his hope;
I would not wish to be the Pope!

The Sultan better pleases me;
His is a life of jollity;
His wives are many as his will;
The Sultan's throne I would then fill.

But even he's a wretched man,
And must obey his Al Koran;
He dare not touch one drop of wine;
I would not change his lot for mine.

So, then, I'll hold my lowly stand,
And dwell in mine own fatherland;
I'll kiss my maiden, fair and fine,
And drink the best of Rhenish wine.

And, when my maiden kisses me,
I'll fancy I the Sultan be;
And when the Rhenish wine I tope,
I'll fancy then I am the Pope!

The Model School.

When the County Board of Education meets this afternoon it will be its duty to reopen the matter of the consolidated school, so hastily disposed of at the board's last meeting. The offer of $7,000 to this good cause as made by Mr. J. B. McFerran and Mr. J. M. Atherton should be accepted. Forty years ago Massachusetts began the consolidation of rural schools and this improvement has spread as far as California. Has not the time now come for Jefferson county to set the example for this advance in education in Kentucky?

For the first time the school authorities have the funds to take this step. The 20-cent levy gives the board for rural school purposes the net sum of more than $27,000. This is in addition to the revenue of last year, and will be further increased by the additional 40 cents in the State per capita, which will realize between $3,000 and $4,000. In other words, the board has, at the lowest estimate, $30,000, more than ever before for strictly rural school purposes.

Shall this money be spread out thin over one hundred out-of-date schools, or shall $12,500 be added to the offered gift of $7,000 for the establishment of one model school of eight rooms in which the teachers will teach one grade instead of eight? Shall we have one definite something of which we may be proud at the end of the year, a school that represents permanent improvement, or shall we have little but the memory of a large sum of money dissipated in unsanitary shacks under conditions that rendered its expenditure largely ineffectual.

This gift should be accepted, and then different communities of the county should compete for the school that is to be established. That community that is willing to make donations and to levy sub-district taxation in proof of its earnest desire to have this school should receive it. Several communities have shown such interest.

Evolution of the "Hold-Up."

To what is Chicago coming? The frequency of "hold-ups" upon her streets has attracted unenviable attention from time to time, but until yesterday no one had heard, even in Chicago, of a wealthy person being approached by a promoter with a sheaf of silver mine stock in one hand and a pistol in the other, and being given the unhappy choice between buying at once or dying immediately. This evolution of the "hold-up" is truly alarming! Whither are we drifting?

According to reports Mrs. Hinkley is a wealthy widow. It seems that she invested $3,500 in Mexican mining stocks upon the advice of her daughter. Perhaps in the fulness of wisdom gained by experience with the first sheaf of stocks, perhaps in the unwisdom of over cautiousness, she declined to invest a second time. Dazed by fear the capitalist heard a voice and the clicking of a pistol. The voice said:

"There are five bullets in here and if you don't give me the money you shall have them all."

After having received one bullet in her neck the victim was led to a chair, according to her own reluctantly told story, and told to sign a statement that the shooting was accidental.

This new ramification of highwaymanry is distinctly disagreeable to contemplate. Old-fashioned robbery was divided into two kinds. One was peremptorily ordered to throw up one's hands, or hammered over the head with a sandbag or blunt instrument, and relieved at once of such amounts of money and articles of value as happened to be in his pockets or employed as ornaments to his scarf or shirt front. Or one was induced by immoral suasion to invest heavily in a gold brick, a bad quality of counterfeit money warranted to circulate as smoothly as the blood of a trained thoroughbred, or a block of stock guaranteed to advance, through any and all conditions, as steadily as the Light Brigade. This most recent development of the hold-up business combines the most harassing features of the two older forms of taking over hard-earned wages or unearned increment. One is given a choice between being "held up" upon the rough-and-ready highway plan, or buying a gold brick at the point of a glistening nickel-plated pistol barrel over which looks the cold, uncompromising eye of the vender.

Chicago aims worthily at being a leader in many things. She should exert herself to avoid allowing this new and most excruciating form of "hold-up" to become intrenched in the fabric of her social and civic life. The sandbag and the search of the limp contributor to the temporal welfare of the needy highwayman were annoying. The purchase of the gold brick and the subsequent awakening to the stern realities of the swindle added to the sum of human peevishness. But the combination is one that will not be borne with equanimity, even by the long-suffering, but nevertheless liberty loving, citizens of Chicago.

Mr. Gompers On His Travels.

Mr. Gompers has taken away the breath of his European observers. They find him a plain, substantial, responsible American citizen, installed in a comfortable suite in a hotel of the first class, conforming, like anyone else, to the well-established "convenances" of society, with a care for the local peculiarities of his environment and an utter absence of pose. His speech is measured and temperate, his matter thoughtful and thought-compelling, his intrusion into debate under foreign conditions deprecatory and tactful. He does not declaim in impassioned tone against Capital, he does not preach subversion of the established order of things, he does not seek to array the masses against the classes nor to teach that anarchy and chaos must precede the Golden Age. But when he speaks it is with deliberation and out of a full knowledge, and his listeners go away convinced that the party of labor is a party to be reckoned with, and that there are more ways and better ways of improving conditions than by indiscriminate denunciation and fiery appeals to the passions.

To us on this side, accustomed to accept Mr. Gompers and his colleagues as public men of high character and ability, there is about this chorus of wonderment something that partakes of the grotesque. We have not been accustomed to dress up our political groups in costumes conventional and more or less indicative of their platforms. Mr. Gompers in a blouse and red cap would startle us just as completely as would Speaker Cannon in a full-bottomed wig, silk smalls and side-arms. We will not say that such a metamorphosis, in the latter case at least, would not lend an air of dignity sometimes far to seek, but, all things else being equal, we will rather bear the ills we have as philosophically as may be.

But, "over there" they order things otherwise, and the livery of the calling is part of the game. Just as your student is required to be studiously negligent in his attire and to cultivate the Muses with flowing locks beneath a Biscayan barrette; to be baggy as to his nether man, given to the sham and tawdry in jewelry, the Byronic in collar and the velveteen in coats, so your labor member is expected to dress the part. If he can contrive to carry around a kit of tools so much the better; and even Keir Hardie, pioneer of his kind in the House of Commons, was careful to parade a nondescript plaid traveling cap with ear-flaps to keep company with the silk hats on the opposition benches. Those were the older days of the last century when Labor with a capital L was envisaged as a hydra-headed monster of dreaded and dreadful possibilities; when it was feared because it was misunderstood; and when, if one may say so, it was at no pains to cultivate the amenities.

Many things have happened since then, and some are happening. The British Parliament contains forty-one Labor members; and a Cabinet Minister, John Burns, acknowledged leader of his party, was lately photographed in court costume with a duchess on his arm. The new Premier of France is a recognized Socialist, and Germany has lately postponed an appeal to the electorate lest the balance of power should remain, as seems inevitable, with the Social-Democratic party.

Mr. Gompers represents his cause worthily at a time when the side of the picture he represents is being obscured if not actually lost sight of. He speaks with authority, and his observations, so far as at present recorded, show exceptional grasp of the desperate labor conditions of Europe, and, more particularly, of Great Britain. Extreme Socialists condemn him as a reactionary, and the French do not thank him for suggesting that they abandon anti-patriotic campaigns of agitation and devote themselves to the promotion of labor's best interests. But his honesty and his courage find admirers everywhere.

A Honolulu journal says, in commenting upon the probable withdrawal of Prince Cupid from politics, "there are several aspirants for the position of delegate, each of whom would ably represent an interest, but there is none in the field who would represent Hawaii." This shows that the Territory is indeed an integral part of our glorious Union!

From an unreliable contemporary we learn authoritatively that the Republican administration is wholly responsible for Louisville's filtered water. It might also be added, in strict justice, that it was due to the Republican administration in Louisville that Galveston was not overwhelmed by the tidal wave.

Californians who do not like Japanese are said to be rejoicing over the conviction of twenty-three members of the Japanese Parliament charged with accepting bribes. It seems that the Japanese statesmen owe their complete humiliation to the fact that there is no California Supreme Court to split a hair in their behalf.

Senator La Follette merely said that what he does outside of the Senate will bear inspection better than what Senator Penrose does. He might add that those whom Senator Penrose seeks to do by his work in the Senate will better bear inspection than those for whom he does his durndest.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune says that the President's conversation on the tariff schedules "is always punctuated with frequent laughter." Sees the joke, no doubt, of the "downward revision" pretensions.

"Why," asks a New York newspaper, "do so many murderers put the body in a trunk?" Perhaps it is because they are often unmarried and there is no hat box about the house large enough to accommodate the deceased.

Mr. Busch, of St. Louis, has just been made a "Grossherzoglicher Hessischer Geheimer Kommerzienrath." If Mr. Busch can get a steamer named for him he ought to stand a good chance of smashing the trans-Atlantic record.

Bernard Shaw, who says he will participate in a demonstration against the Czar, might add that he will join any and all projects, lawful, unlawful, insane or mildly idiotic, which look to the advertisement of G. B. S.

Rising for a moment from a dive to the crystal depths of his tub of filtered water, the Louisvillian extends a word of sympathy to Lexingtonians who are "sputin'" about their water contract.

Standard Oil, having done its share to prevent the common man from having butter on his bread, adds insult to injury by putting a petroleum substitute on the market.

Since Thomas L. Hisgen says the Independence party is dead will someone pass the microscope that we may hold an inquest over the "remainders?"

"Bright skies for the Consumer," says the New York Evening Post. Does this mean that the empyrean will be left on the free list?

"The way to get Southern trade is to go after it," says the Baltimore News. Or, still better, operate with Louisville as a base.

"MORE SCRIPTURE"

Brother Pickett Again Addresses Himself to the Damnation of Rum and the Saving of Souls.

HE ALSO QUOTES POETRY.

[To the Editor of the Courier-Journal.]

In your editorial review of my article in the Courier-Journal of the 13th, touching the effects of beer and rum, and my acknowledgment that I never drank either, but that both would intoxicate, you ask: "How can Brother Pickett be so positive, having never tried either?" I reply by asking: Mr. Editor, how can you tell that a minnie ball through the heart, a fall of a hundred feet, or a rattlesnake bite, untreated, will kill, since you have never tried any of them? Many things can be known by observation and scientific consideration without any actual test. Does our friend, Watterson, deny the intoxicating effects of beer and rum? Wine is among the milder beverages and the Wise Man declares "Wine is a mocker," and he further informs us that it results in "woe, sorrow, babblings, redness of eyes, wounds without cause," and adds that "at the last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." His exhortation is: "Look not upon the wine when it is red, when it moveth itself aright," i. e., when it ferments.

Israel's great prophet informs us that because of wine, "hell hath enlarged itself without measure; and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that rejoiceth among them descend into it." (Isa. v., 11-14.)

So, friend, if you don't want to be a means of damnation to the souls of men, don't make a plea for the gin-mills. Paul says, "If meat make my brother to stumble, I will eat no meat while the world stands." We should make no defense of an institution through which our brother stumbles. But the saloon is such an institution, hence it merits our condemnation at all times.

Fayette county, W. Va., with saloons, had at one time 159 convicts in the penitentiary. At the same time thirty-two counties without saloons had, combined, but 106 representatives in State prison—fifty-three more convicts from one saloon-cursed county than from thirty-two counties with prohibition. In two years Tennessee sent 1,253 convicts to the pen, of whom 801 were from the twelve counties that were then selling whisky and only 452 from the eighty-two saloonless counties.

In one year Sussex county, Mass. (Boston), had 16,897 convictions, 14,386 from crimes committed under the influence of liquor, only 2,511 from all other causes combined. Only think! With saloons, 16,897; without them, 2,511. Should we not destroy the saloons and save these 14,000 people rather than save the rum shops and destroy the men and the homes represented by these enormous figures? Suppose, further, these or any number of them were your boys, Mr. Editor and kind reader, how would you feel toward the traffic if your boy were in the penitentiary to-day through drink, or, worse still, in a drunkard's grave? But no difference how safe your boys and mine may be—and I am so thankful that none of my eight boys drink—but I am fighting this battle for the boys of other fathers and of broken-hearted mothers. An old Irish mother came screaming into a temperance meeting conducted by the Rev. George Stuart: "Oh, Mr. Stuart, the saloon has got me boy; the saloon has got me boy!"

The preacher, on putting a test vote, found a number of other mothers in that one audience who acknowledged with tears and inexpressible grief that the saloon had also engulfed their sons.

If we could gather the tears and blood shed over the doings of this criminal traffic they would form a bloody sea, while the sighs and groans of the ages attributable to this cruel traffic would make a tornado of desolating power. The bones that have bleached through the murderous doings of King Gambrinus would build another Chinese wall. Rum's victims may be counted through the bloody centuries by the millions. Surely we are too far along in the centuries of the Christian era to allow a traffic to longer exist of which Bacon said, "All crimes on earth do not destroy so many of the human race, nor alienate so much property, as drunkenness."

Wine brought the first sin on the race after the flood. It destroyed Alexander, the world conqueror; brought ruin upon Babylon, under the revelings of Belshazzar; it has wrought ruin to many of the brightest lights of literature and of many statesmen, financiers, jurists, philosophers and even preachers of the gospel it has been the ruin. Let those in the business turn their hands and brains to employments that will bless instead of curse their race, let them uplift instead of debase their fellows. There is no need for anyone to make a living on the wreck of the homes, happiness and hopes of his fellows; but the liquor traffic does that. Let us wipe it from Kentucky soil that our people may be sober, satisfied and saved, that our jails and penitentiaries may be empty, our schools and churches filled, our taxes lightened and the sum of our Commonwealth's prosperity and general good increased.

Kentucky's going dry, Kentucky's going dry,
We'll sing it in the valleys,
And sound it to the sky;
Kentucky's going dry, Kentucky's going dry,
For sure as justice reigns on earth,
King Alcohol shall die.

L. L. PICKETT.

HEARD AND SEEN IN KENTUCKY.

[Larue County Herald.]

A bevy of pretty maidens, five in number, travel-worn and weary, strolled leisurely into Hodgenville after completing a day's journey on foot from Bardstown, a distance of twenty-seven miles.

According to their statement, they were far from home and on a most unusual summer pleasure jaunt. Hailing from Chicago, they said, they left their homes in the Windy City about five weeks ago to visit the Lincoln birthplace farm, with the resolution to make the trip on foot. With the exception of a few instances, when they were able to "get a lift" in a farmer's road wagon or cross streams in boats, they had thus far been successful in carrying out their original plans.

They were well supplied with cameras and each one "toted" a small grip. All of them were intelligent and refined, and presented an attractive and neat appearance. When they inquired the way to the nearest soda fount there were willing gallants who fell over one another in their efforts to direct the way to the fountain. A few bracers in the way of soft drinks revived them and after satisfying their thirsts they went into their pocketbooks and extracted the necessary coin with the air of a Hetty Green, forcibly convincing the young fellows who patronize the soda founts and who were making themselves conspicuous thereabouts just at this particular time, that this was one time when their money resembled "counterfeit" coin with the girls.

Late in the afternoon they started for the Lincoln farm, their ultimate destination, and from there they walked to Buffalo, where they spent the night.

The lassies stated that they would possibly visit the Mammoth Cave, since they were in such close proximity to it.

They gave their names as Misses Mabel and Susan Martin, Julia Nelson, Agnes and Gertrude Smith. Their ages range from 18 to 22 years, they said.

[Madisonville Journal.]

While at work on his farm near White Plains Tuesday morning W. H. Stanly was attracted by a squealing noise similar to that of a mouse, and upon investigation discovered a most remarkable colony of bats and a more remarkable cohabitation of species.

Looking up to center the noise he saw issuing from a hole in an old tree ten or twelve feet from the ground a flock of bats. He began to count them as they came out and says with certainty that there were 117 and possibly more. That sounds "batty," but the tree was a large one and the hole somewhat of an opening and Mr. Stanly a truthful man. But listen further: Mr. Stanly set fire to the old tree and in a short time a chicken snake of "enormous size" came forth "knowing what to conquer, not." It's up to the snake to tell the truthful tale. However, Mr. Stanly needs no corroborative testimony.

Five Generations.

[Cynthiana Democrat.]

Dr. T. Righter brought to the Democrat office Saturday an interesting picture, showing five generations of the Whitley family, including the great-great-grandmother, who was 101 years old on January 28, 1909. The old lady, barring poor eyesight which has come upon her in the last year, is in splendid health. Her hearing is perfect, and she takes a keen and lively interest in all of the affairs of the household and the farm. She was the mother of thirteen children, only three of whom survive. Her grandchildren number eighty. The picture, which was taken on the Lark Garnett farm, where Mrs. Whitley resides with her granddaughter, shows the great-great-grandmother, Whitley, aged 101; the great-grandmother, Whitley, aged 75; grandmother, Mrs. W. W. Williams, aged 47; the mother, Mrs. Laura Humphrey, aged 22, and Thelma Humphrey, aged 5.

Eighty-six-Year-Old Schoolmates.

[Elizabethtown Mirror.]

Mr. Melford Stuart, of Glendale, was a guest at the home of Mr. James Montgomery this week, where he met Mrs. E. A. Slack, an old schoolmate with whom he attended school near Lebanon over three-quarters of a century ago. A coincident in their ages is that they were both born on April 20, 1823. They are now four-score and six and are hale and hearty. It is very seldom that schoolmates ever meet at such an advanced age.

Quail Crop Short.

[Elizabethtown Mirror.]

Mr. G. R. Smith, the veteran miller, who threshed his wheat crop near Smiths Mill last week, reports the quail crop short. He informs the Mirror that the recent heavy rains destroyed the nests and the young of the partridges and that the quails are now remating to hatch a second brood. He is of the opinion that the Nimrods this fall will only bag squirrels and rabbits.

Heavy Turnpike Traffic.

[Winchester Democrat.]

It is a notable fact that no landings or wharves have been built along the Kentucky River above Frankfort though the navigation has been open for several years. There is no wonder, however, when we consider that it takes a boat an hour to pass a lock, thus while a boat is passing a lock a freight train makes twenty miles. The time consumed is so great that shippers prefer the higher railroad rates. The hauling on the turnpikes of Clark county in a year amounts to almost as much as that of these three rivers combined.

Fox Chase At Fair.

[Mt. Sterling Gazette.]

Among the many unique attractions to be offered by the fair committee will be a fox chase on the first day of the fair. A prize of about $50 will be offered for the first dog to come under the wire. From the fact that in this and adjoining counties fox-hunting is a great sport and many fine dogs are to be had, this event will be a big success.

Kentucky Tobacco Knives.

[Dover News.]

George Ladenburger has received an order for six tobacco knives to be made and shipped to Frank Newman in Missouri. Mr. Newman says he has thirty acres of as fine tobacco as he ever raised, but he had to send back to old Kentucky for a Kentucky blacksmith to "show 'em" how to make the right kind of a knife to cut it.

Change In Management.

[Crittenden Record-Press.]

The Crittenden Record-Press goes to its 4,000 readers this week under a change of ownership and under new editorial management, N. E. Calmes having leased the plant from S. M. Jenkins for the term of seventeen months, with the privilege and expectation of buying at any time during this period.

STORIES OF THE TOWN.

Urbanity sometimes wilts a little in the face of something adverse to it. No one would doubt that Dr. Harris Kelly, once Coroner of Jefferson county, is urbane; in fact, that is one of his chief characteristics, as those who remember his famous toast to Marvin Hart, "the uncrowned king of Kentucky," will agree.

The other afternoon Dr. Kelly was walking in Third avenue and saw a sight that moved his heart to pity. It was, of course, a woman in distress. She had been driving a runabout, and a sudden spring forward of her horse had thrown her to the ground, cutting her face badly.

"Madam," said the doctor with his grandest bow, "I am Dr. Kelly, and if I may be of any assistance to you I should be delighted to extend it."

Sweet words, were they not?

"I don't know anything about you; I never heard of you!" snapped the woman, her feelings being somewhat explained by the fact that her countenance was marred by dust, blood and tears of vexation.

Nevertheless, he helped her to get to her apartment, only a short distance away, and waited until her own physician had been communicated with.

Musicians who play on wind instruments must be very careful of their teeth. A member of a band playing here at present consulted a dentist the other day, saying that he wished to have some teeth filled, and that he wanted it done quickly, as he was not playing in the band while his teeth were, so to speak, in the hands of the dentist.

"Blowing on my instrument," said he, "causes me the greatest pain if there is a cavity in one of my teeth. The passage of the air over the tooth seems to affect the nerve and makes it ache. So until you have finished your job I shall be a gentleman of leisure."

"I can easily remember," said a business man who is not so very old, "when land around Crescent Hill was sold by the acre. Back in the days when the Jefferson County Fair was held annually in that part of the country, Crescent Hill was considered a very rural section indeed. And as it is within comparatively recent years that it has built up to amount to anything, it is worth recording that land units have come down or gone up, as you care to put it, from acres to feet. And when you buy it by the foot you have to pay a stiff enough price to convince you that Crescent Hill is very much in the city indeed."

"Vox Populi" and "Pro Bono Publico" have held the center of the stage for many years with their communications "To the Editor" about every subject under the sun, from the way the neighbor's dog barks at night to whether or not Mars is inhabited; but they will presently have to take a rearmost seat, if indications are to be taken into account.

It will be sad, it is true, to lose such faithful old friends and constant companions as "Vox Populi" and "Pro Bono Publico," but there is an end of all things, even friendships. The writing on the wall shows that they have outlived their usefulness and that their time has come.

All of which is suggested by the fact that a recent editorial communication was signed thus: "Vermis Volvens," which, being interpreted, means "the worm turning." There is so much class to that that poor old "Vox Populi" and "Pro Bono Publico" may as well throw up the sponge right now and admit that they are only specimens of antiquity.

London, Ky., has been growing so rapidly of late that one hesitates to remember the time when its streets were not paved and its citizens walked to their homes at night through pitchy darkness thick enough to be sliced off and wrapped up. Such conditions no longer prevail, if the glowing descriptions of London's people are to be given credence. There recently came a bit of news from there, however, which pointed to the fact that though these municipal improvements have been brought about, London is still wild and woolly and may be regarded only as the frontier.

"Two big black bears," ran the news item, "were seen near town the other day. Several nimrods started in pursuit and trailed the bears into the mountains, but were unable to land them."

So the next time you want to emulate Theodorus Africanus don't imagine you have to cross the water to do, or that you must go to the Rockies, Canada or Mississippi. Simply get on a train and ride to Laurel county.

A tragedy that has shocked all acquainted with the facts has taken place in Louisville during the past few weeks—or months, perhaps. It was the passing of a soubrette who was famous not only at High School, but in the Triangle Club of Princeton. The golden tresses, the carmine complexion and the sweet smile that made the Willie boys hunt the stage door will never again be turned upon them. Guy Warren has raised a mustache!

But now my hat each passing day
Looks bummer.
I'll have to give the thing away

URGES BOARD

To Reconsider Action On Consolidated School Matter.

FULL TEXT OF THE MEASURE.

The Louisville Real Estate Association, through its board of directors, appeals to the Jefferson County School Board to reconsider its recent action in turning down the gratuitous offers of J. B. McFerran and John M. Atherton toward a consolidated school in Jefferson county. At a specially called meeting of the board yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the offices of the Fidelity Trust Company, an important resolution, asking the county board to take up the project again before it is too late, was adopted by unanimous vote.

The resolution in nowise attempts to cast a reflection upon the county board for its unexpected step in rejecting the offers of the two men who were willing to contribute money toward establishing the school. It merely says that the children of the county stand in great need of educational opportunity and requests that the board employ the thirty days, time-limit fixed by Mr. McFerran and Mr. Atherton when their offer was made, in looking further into the plan and taking definite action before the offers are withdrawn. The resolution, in full, follows:

Text of Resolution.

Whereas, We have noted with regret the action of our County Board of Education in rejecting so summarily the public-spirited and disinterested propositions made by Messrs. McFerran and Atherton; and

Whereas, A similar proposition may never be offered our county again and the opportunity forever lost of affording our county children the privilege and advantages of an education they have so unjustly been deprived of in the past; and

Whereas, Such propositions were couched in courteous language and gave thirty days for investigation and deliberation upon the merits of the proposed school without cost to the board or its members; and

Whereas, We feel confident that our trustees did not fully consider the communication as a separate proposition and freed of all other issues; and

Whereas, The children and the county are entitled to have a careful investigation and report by each member after a personal inspection of similar schools; and

Whereas, The members of this association, by long experience, have deliberately come to the conclusion that of all elements which make up the advancement in city and especially county values of land, nothing compares with schools when properly located and properly equipped; and

All Vitally Interested.

Whereas, Every individual, whether he be a resident of the city or county, is vitally interested in the progress of the whole community, the enhancement of land and the proper development of them; and

Whereas, Nothing adds to the material wealth, happiness and progress of the community in which we live as education, proper schools and equal advantages for all children, whether they live in cottages or palaces; and

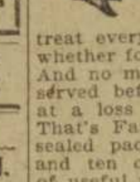

Whereas, In at least one county of this State the people have, with promptness, voted for such a school without aid from any public-spirited and generous citizens; therefore, be it

Resolved, With intense earnestness we respectfully urge our county trustees to reconsider the proposition, take advantage of the thirty days for personal investigation and seek, if possible, to secure a renewal of the proposition made so unselfishly by our fellow-residents of the county.

VEGETARIANISM AND SPAGHETTI

Faust Brand Spaghetti adds a new joy to vegetarianism because it is not limited to a single dish. In fact no other daily food can be served in such a great variety of appetite-tempting ways. And how NOURISHING it is! strength-producing and SO EASY ON THE DIGESTION. It is a food that means family health—FOOD ECONOMY, and satisfaction in the kitchen.

Think of it! No matter how many "pernickety" people there are in the family, there can be a new treat every day to please everybody—whether for first, second or last course. And no matter how often it has been served before, the cook will never be at a loss to serve it in a new way. That's Faust Spaghetti. Sold only in sealed packages. All grocers. Five and ten cents. Write for free book of useful recipes.

WILLS PROBATED

Mrs. Griswold Leaves Property To Her Children.

IN THE COURTS YESTERDAY.

Two wills were probated yesterday in the County Court by Judge Arthur Peter, that of Mrs. Mary M. Griswold and that of Joseph Short.

That of Mrs. Griswold, dated February 24, 1905, names her son, Alexander V. Griswold, as executor without bond. In it she directs that notes owed to her by the son named executor on money borrowed from his father, the late Alexander Griswold, and the mortgages which secured them shall be canceled.

To her four children, Alexander V., George M. and Margaret H. Griswold, and Mrs. Harriet G. Kirby, she leaves $2,000 each. To Judge Samuel B. Kirby, son-in-law, and to Lizzie Lee Griswold, she leaves $250 each. Similar bequests are made to her three granddaughters and her two grandsons, as follows: Harriet Lee Griswold, Mary Douglas Griswold, Mary Ellen Kirby, Samuel B. Kirby, Jr., and Alexander G. Kirby.

Bridget McHugh and Rosetta Thompson are each made beneficiaries in the sum of $50 on account of their kindnesses to her in times past. As a last provision Mrs. Griswold directs that her home, on Chestnut street, between Seventh and Eighth streets, shall be sold and the proceeds divided equally between her daughter, Mrs. Kirby, and her son, George.

Mr. Short's will is dated August 19, 1891, and contains only the provision that all his property shall go to his wife, Mrs. Eugenia Short, whom he names executrix without bond.

Workhouse Prisoner Insane.

James Moran, an inmate of the workhouse for several weeks, was adjudged insane yesterday in the Criminal Court, Judge Gordon sitting. Moran is 40 years of age and was scheduled to serve a long time in the city prison. He was convicted in Police Court on five charges of taking improper liberties with little girls and fined $50 and put under $1,000 for one year in each case. The attendants say he has a morbid fear that everyone is going to hurt him, that he has suffered a total lapse of memory and that his condition is growing worse.

Mrs. Anna Holliday became insane and also was committed to the asylum at Lakeland. She is 25 years of age and has been in this condition for only three weeks.

Annie Davis, a colored woman over 70 years of age, also was adjudged insane and committed to the asylum. Her condition is due to paralysis and senility. Her daughter, on the stand, testified that one of the evidences of her mother's insanity was a "craving" for money.

Runaway Boys Sent Home.

Four runaway boys, haled into the Juvenile Court yesterday, by now are on their several ways back home. Two of the defendants were from Shelby county, the court supplying them with transportation. One each of the others was from Tennessee and Alabama and their parents supplied the transportation. The boys all said that they had seen enough of the world.

There were thirty-seven cases on the docket, one that of a girl who jumped into the river. A gang of West End stone-throwing boys occupied some of the attention of the court.

Court Paragraphs.

—Dulweber & Co. sued the Bergen & Meehan Company for $434.12, alleged due on a note.

—The Bernheim Distilling Company sued A. F. Beyer for $125, alleged due on account for goods sold.

—Louise Rial sued Beattie E. Rial and E. E. Rial, her husband, seeking to secure possession of a piano which she alleges has been wrongfully detained by the defendants, and for $100 as damages.

FINED ON CHARGE OF CREATING DISTURBANCE.

Police were called to quell a disturbance which started on the sewer construction work of the O'Connell Construction Company in the vicinity of Twelfth and Oak streets Thursday afternoon. Otis Webb, William Bottom and H. C. Miller were arrested by Patrolmen Morgan and Rees on charges of disorderly conduct in connection with the case. According to the officials of the company, Webb was discharged and as soon as his dismissal became known Bottom and Miller resigned. The men are then alleged to have gone to Morris Martin, engineer on the hoisting engine, and urged him to resign.

In Police Court yesterday, W. Lynch, superintendent of the O'Connell Construction Company, testified that Bottom climbed up on the hoisting engine and threw the throttle back, starting the engine to work. Lynch stated that Bottom pushed the engineer back when he attempted to stop the engine. Martin was chased from the works, it is said, and negroes working on the ditch became frightened and lost little time in leaving the spot.

The men stated that they did not intend to do damage to the works, and admitted that they had been drinking.

Bottom, Webb and Miller were fined $5 each. J. W. Caswell, who was arrested because he is alleged to have threatened negroes, was fined $10 on a disorderly conduct charge. When arrested Caswell had $9.96 on his person. His companions contributed 5 cents each to add to the money to his credit at the station house in order that he might pay his fine and also have car-fare home.

EIGHTY-THREE INFANTS DIE THAT MONTH.

HOW CITY IS NOT CO-OPERATING WITH HEALTH BOARD.

CONSUMPTION CLAIMS MANY.

The Louisville Health Department yesterday gave out its official report for June. This report shows that during the month there were sixty-three deaths at ages under one year and twenty-two at ages from one to five years. During the whole month not a single dairy had been inspected, and this in face of the fact that the State Board of Health and the County Board of Health was doing all in its power to reduce the unfit quality of much of the milk supplied to the Louisville public. Someone connected with the city administration told the State board that Louisville would co-operate with the State board in giving Louisville pure milk.

There were also thirty-four deaths from tuberculosis of the lungs.

It is charged that he was quarrelsome with the other members of the engine house.

CUMBERLAND TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH COMPANY

(Incorporated)

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 16, 1907.

Gentlemen:

The undersigned, a special committee appointed by the Board of Trade and accepted by the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company as a committee to investigate as to what constitutes a fair and reasonable rate for the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company to charge for its SERVICE IN THE CITY OF LOUISVILLE, now beg to report:

First—After considering the subject carefully and ascertaining all the facts bearing on it which could be obtained from trustworthy sources, notably by sixteen meetings held at Board of Trade rooms, beginning April 3; by frequent personal conferences with the officers and more expert employes of the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company, and by a thorough examination of the books and accounts of said Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company, at the hands of an expert accountant, selected by the committee, viz., W. J. Munster, of Cincinnati, we find that the average net yield to said Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company from its investment in the city of Louisville, since it acquired ownership of the Louisville property seven years ago, has been but 4.14 per cent. per annum.

Second—That the rates for telephone service in the city of Louisville proposed and put into effect by said Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company March 1, 1907, are proper and reasonable, because they will not yield to said Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company more than a fair and equitable earning on its investments in the city of Louisville.

Third—The committee further declares that the rate or rates for the various classes of telephone service in the city of Louisville put into effect by said Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company March 1, 1907, should be maintained as a rate for such service for the three years beginning July 1, 1907.

This report is predicated on the promise and agreement of the company to give the best possible service to its subscribers and to most approved devices and appliances for the transmission of messages.

Respectfully submitted,
MARION E. TAYLOR, Chairman;
WILLIAM R. BELKNAP,
ATTILLA COX,
GEORGE GAULBERT,
LOGAN C. MURRAY.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 16, 1908.—President and Directors Louisville Board of Trade.—Gentlemen: The special committee provided for by resolution of the Board of Directors, August 26, 1908, to make investigation as to the complaint of Mr. C. M. Bullitt that the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company was unfairly raising its rates for service in this city, and was discriminating in rates amongst its patrons, etc., have to report that they have carefully made inquiry as to the facts and have failed to find a single instance in which said telephone company has charged a rate for any of the various classes of telephone service other than was determined by the old committee of the Board of Trade (which agreement was to determine the rate for a term of three years) in its report submitted to the Board of Directors of the Board of Trade September 4, 1907, nor have we found any discrimination as between patrons except that the increase in rates allowed by the old committee was not made by the telephone company to apply to all patrons at the same time, for the reason, as stated by the company, that there were outstanding contracts between the company and its patrons which expired at different times, and for the further reason that it was not feasible for the company to at once so alter its rules as to make the new rates apply to all patrons at the same date.

In regard to whether the rates determined upon by the old committee, under the agreement entered into between the Board of Directors and the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company in April, 1907, are fair and reasonable, your committee have only to say that the old committee appears to have made a most thorough investigation of the whole subject, their inquiry extending through five months, during which time they held sixteen meetings; had before them for interrogation officers and employes of the Telephone Company, and others, and the assistance of a high-grade, expert accountant employed by the committee, and we have nothing before us on which we can base an opinion that the old committee erred in its conclusion.

Your committee desires to call your attention to the fact that under the agreement with the Telephone Company, the rates fixed by the old committee were to stand for three years from July 1, 1907, and that about one-half of that time has now expired. If at the expiration of the full period of three years it is found that the profits of the Telephone Company, after careful and economical conducting of its business, have been greater than should be allowed, the rates and charge for the future can be intelligently adjusted.

We ask that this report be received and filed, and that the committee be discharged. Respectfully submitted,
WILLIAM R. BELKNAP,
LOGAN C. MURRAY,
HARDY BURTON,
CHARLES EARL CURRIE.

ST. LOUIS BOY BUYS THE LOUISVILLE BALL CLUB

George Tebeau Sells Local Franchise, Contracts On Ball Players and Lease On Eclipse Park To William Grayson, Jr., For $50,000.

TRIED FIRST TO PURCHASE THE KANSAS CITY CLUB.

New Owner Declares He Will Strengthen the Colonels At Once If Money Will Do It.

DEAL IS CLOSED AFTER LENGTHY CONFERENCE.

Rich Lumberman's Son, a Baseball Fan, Takes a Place As American Association Magnate.

WILLIAM GRAYSON, Jr., of St. Louis, the son of a millionaire lumber man of the same name, now owns the Louisville baseball club, of the American Association. Shortly before 10 o'clock last night Mr. Grayson signed the necessary papers in the office of Thomas A. Barker, in the Louisville Trust Company building, at Fifth and Market streets, and the young St. Louis man now owns the Louisville club lock, stock and barrel.

The price which George Tebeau received for his holdings was $50,000, though the price was not announced, and last night Mr. Tebeau entertained Mr. Grayson and several of his friends by giving them an automobile ride through the local parks, with a crisp check calling for half a hundred thousand dollars safely tucked away in his inside pocket.

This means that George Tebeau has finished with Louisville. It means that the local ball club is owned by a youngster—a newcomer. Mr. Grayson is scarcely twenty-five years of age. He looks like a boy, but he has had plenty of experience in financial affairs. He is a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and his father is said to be possessed of at least his share of this world's goods.

Mr. Grayson, after the deal was closed last night, stated that he had thought about few plans for the Louisville club because his purchase was so sudden. He said he would keep Messrs. Chivington and Peitz temporarily, but that it would take him some time to decide on what was best to be done. He promised to strengthen the team as soon as possible and declared that he was ready and eager to put up any reasonable amount for new players who would make the Colonels stronger than they now are. He expects to have a conference with Manager Peitz this morning and take whatever steps are necessary which will give Louisville a pennant-winning team.

How Trade Was Made.

Young Mr. Grayson's efforts to secure the Louisville club and franchise were developed suddenly. More than a month ago he conceived the idea of buying the Kansas City club, which Mr. Tebeau owns. Mr. Grayson has been a baseball enthusiast for years and he played on the Ann Arbor team when he attended the Michigan College. He was told by a number of his friends that the Kansas City club would be a splendid investment, and two weeks ago he went out to the city by the Kaw and had a conference with Owner Tebeau.

The Kansas City baseball club is a very valuable piece of property. Kansas City is one of the best baseball towns in the West, but this is not the reason why Mr. Tebeau's holdings are so valuable. He has a long lease on the baseball park and it is situated in exactly the right spot for a great terminal station. For the past two years two railroads which enter Kansas City have been trying to buy this lease from Mr. Tebeau in order to build a great depot. At the present time a movement is on foot in Kansas City to purchase this lease by popular subscription and to build a mammoth terminal station on the site of the baseball park. This matter has been put up to the public and a vote will shortly be taken to decide the question.

This unusual condition caused Owner Tebeau to ask a good deal more for the Kansas City Club than the club was worth. He fixed a price of $120,000 on his holdings. Mr. Grayson cared nothing about railroads or the chance to make money by disposing of a lease to them for a depot. He is a baseball fan first, last and all the time, and his idea was to buy a ball club. As a result the deal for the Kansas City Club fell through and Mr. Grayson returned to his home in St. Louis, while Owner Tebeau went to California, where he expected to purchase a first baseman for the Louisville club. He offered this man $1,450 for two months' work, but the first baseman referred to refused to come to Louisville. He stated that he had promised the management of the Boston team, of the American League, to remain on the coast during the present season and then sign a contract with the Boston Red Socks. It was just then a question of a ballplayer desiring to jump from a coast league to one of the big leagues rather than to the American Association.

Confers With Barker.

In the meantime, however, young Grayson decided that he could use the Louisville Baseball Club if he could get it at a fair price. About ten days ago he wired George Tebeau in San Francisco and asked him what he would take for his holdings in this city. Mr. Tebeau, being nearly 3,000 miles away from the scene wired Mr. Grayson, instructing him to see President Thomas A. Barker, of the Louisville club, and that whatever Mr. Barker did would be satisfactory to him. He stated that he had given Mr. Barker power of attorney to act in any of his affairs when he was not present.

Mr. Grayson and several of his friends arrived in this city from St. Louis at 11:30 o'clock last Sunday night. Since then he and Mr. Barker, up to last night, had been engaged in a discussion of the purchase. President Barker wired Owner Tebeau to come to Louisville at once because it looked like a trade could be made. Mr. Tebeau arrived in the city yesterday morning from Chicago and it did not take long for the men to reach an agreement, because both of them meant business. The deal was practically completed yesterday afternoon, but the papers were not actually signed until nearly 10 o'clock last night.

Tebeau's Rapid Rise.

George Tebeau came to Louisville in 1902. He came here with a very small bank roll, but how he has succeeded is shown by the fact that yesterday he disposed of one of his clubs for $50,000 and that he and other people value his holdings in Kansas City at $120,000. He organized, almost alone, the present American Association, but he received assistance from Owner Watkins, of the Indianapolis club. He said last night that he would have liked to retain the Louisville club, but that the figures offered were so satisfactory that he was unable to refuse. More than this, he thought it best to sell one of his clubs and retain the other. He declared emphatically that Mr. Grayson had bought every share of stock in the Louisville club and that he had a check for it in his pocket. He stated that the lease on the ground at Eclipse Park ran for three more years after this summer and that it could probably be renewed, because the real estate agent, who has charge of the Dulaney property, begged him last year to renew his lease.

Owner Grayson Talks.

William Grayson, Jr., who is now the sole owner of the Louisville Baseball Club, when seen shortly after he completed the deal for the transfer of the plant here to him, said:

"It is true that I have just completed the deal with Mr. Tebeau for the Louisville Baseball Club. I have just signed the papers which transfers the club, the franchise, the leases and the good will, free of all encumbrances, for a price which I do not care to disclose, but which is entirely satisfactory. I intend to come to Louisville at once and make my home here and assume immediate charge of the club. I will be the president and treasurer, and for the present I will not make any further changes, but may do so later.

"I have always been anxious to become a baseball magnate, and after I failed to come to any understanding for the Kansas City club I directed my energies toward purchasing his holdings in Louisville. I have never been in baseball before, and it is a new venture for me. I intend to give the followers of baseball in Louisville a winning team. I will do all I can to have a pennant winner here, and will spend all the money necessary in order to have one. I will always try to please the fans here by giving them a good club. I sincerely hope that the enthusiasts here will accord me their most hearty support. I am new in the business, but I am alive to what the followers of the game here want. I intend to strengthen the team when and where it is necessary. I am confident that I can get several good players, which I will at once make efforts to secure. No person outside of myself possesses a single share of the Louisville club. I shall direct the policy and handle the team in order to please the public. I have always been fond of baseball, and for several years I have been trying to own a club in one of the big leagues."

Why Tebeau Sold.

"I do not own the Louisville ball club any longer," said George Tebeau last night. "I have just signed the papers which transferred the Louisville plant absolutely to W. Grayson, Jr., of St. Louis. While I have had a number of offers made me by persons in Louisville the amount they were willing to pay for my property here did not meet with my views.

"The sale of the club, I must admit, was rather sudden. I had no idea when I left California on my way East to join the Kansas City team at Toledo, that Mr. Grayson was in Louisville ready to buy my holdings here in the American Association. I received a telegram from Thomas A. Barker to immediately come here. I arrived in Louisville this morning and was met by Mr. Grayson. It did not take us long to agree on the details as he already had my price, which he said he was ready to accept. The papers transferring the property to him were drawn up and have just been signed by both of us.

"I disposed of the Louisville club, first, because I got my price for it, which, I am frank to say, is very satisfactory. Another reason for disposing of the plant here is the fact that there has been so much talk about syndicate ball and my owning two clubs in this association. To end this talk was also a factor in selling the club. I was not anxious to sell, but I have a good, profitable piece of property in Kansas City and now I will devote all my time to building up a good team there. I came to Louisville in 1902 and without any assistance in a financial way I started the club in the American Association. I have always tried my best to give the fans in and around the Falls City a good club. I have always had the best of feeling for and have always taken a great deal of interest in trying to please the fans in Louisville. I have always been treated well here and wish my successor all the luck that I could wish for myself. I am satisfied that Mr. Grayson will try his best to have a winning team in Louisville, and I have promised to aid him in every possible way to help him toward gathering a winning team. I sincerely trust that he will be accorded the support to which he is entitled. I leave Louisville with much regret and I will always entertain the best wishes for the welfare of the club. I have a number of friends here for whom I shall always cherish the kindest feelings.

"The Louisville baseball franchise in the American Association is perpetual. No club in this league can be transferred or ousted without the unanimous consent of all the members of the association. I want to say there is no chance for a change of the A. A. circuit. Any clubowner has the power to block a deal of this kind. I had this rule adopted in order to protect each magnate. This makes the franchise a valuable asset."

SOUTH ATLANTIC LEAGUE.

Macon, Ga., July 23.—The home team outplayed the visitors to-day and won easily. Five earned runs were scored by Macon. The feature was the working of the squeeze play in the fourth inning by the locals, Lee scoring from third and Norcum from second on Lawler's bunt to the pitcher. Vaughn pitched well. Johnston made a home run.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 23.—Weaver was in fine form and Knoxville had no chance to win. The first two batters in the first inning hit him for singles, and not another hit was made until the eighth inning. The game was called during the eighth on account of rain. The score:

Augusta, Ga., July 23.—A pitchers' battle was fought here to-day between Southpaws Pierce and Miller, the former winning, 1 to 0. The only run of the game came in the third, when Carson singled, Pierce sacrificed and McLaurin's single to center brought Carson in. The score:

Columbus	4	0	0	0	0	0	3	3	0	10	10	1

Rain Prevents National League Baseball Games.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Jupiter Pluvius spilled his rain pots throughout the East to-day, and the heavy downpour caused a general postponement of baseball games. All contests in the National, New England and State Leagues except at Elmira, where six innings were played, were declared off on account of rain and wet grounds, while in Cleveland the New York-Cleveland game in the American League was also postponed because of the elements. In only three cities of big leagues—Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis—were games played to-day.

The Eastern League was more fortunate, the games at Montreal and Buffalo being played. Only one game was played in the Tri-State League, that at York, Pa.

The postponement of the New York-Chicago contest here caused disappointment among thousands of baseball enthusiasts, as both teams are fighting for second place in the National League, so as to be in a position to dislodge Pittsburg from the leadership.

COLONELS ARE UNABLE TO HIT

VISITORS BUNCH SAFE DRIVES.

CLARKE MAKES FINE PLAY.

JOHN McCLOSKEY'S Milwaukee Brewers yesterday had little trouble in defeating the Colonels by the score of 5 to 1. It was the fourth straight victory for the team from the city made famous by beer. Schneiberg, who is tall and lanky, was at the slab for the visitors. Although he was not in condition to work he twirled brilliant ball. The locals only succeeded in locating his offerings for four safe drives. Two of the hits were gathered in the second inning and the other two in the ninth round.

The Brewers found the pitching of Hogg just to their liking. McCloskey's men bunched their safeties in the first and fifth innings. In these two rounds the visitors secured their five runs.

Despite the closeness of the score it was a one-sided contest. The Milwaukee team won an easy victory because Leader Peitz's men, with the exception of the two innings, were helpless before the fine twirling of Schneiberg. As in the previous contests the Brewers played splendid ball afield. The three misplays charged to them did not produce any scores.

The only chance outside of the ninth inning the Colonels had to tally was in the second session, when they had three men on as many bases. Hogg had the opportunity to put his teammates in the running, but the best he could do was to tap the ball to the pitcher, who easily tossed the local twirler out at first base. In the other rounds Peitz's men were retired in one-two-three order.

The outfielders on both sides were given plenty of work. This was particularly true of Strunk, who had seven putouts. This youngster is a grand fielder, a graceful catcher, speedy on the bases and covers a wide territory in the middle garden. In yesterday's fray, as in the previous contests, he took a prominent part in bringing victory to the Milwaukee team. He deprived the local players of a number of almost sure hits, which fielders in the same position on other teams would not have accomplished.

Besides the playing of Strunk the fielding of Third Baseman Clarke was a feature. In the sixth inning he robbed Sullivan of a sure double by snatching a hard-hit ball back of third and then threw Scooter out at first. It was a bad throw and McGann caused the fans to cheer by stopping the ugly throw.

The Colonels secured their one run in the ninth inning after two men were out. Woodruff singled past third. Strunk took care of Delehanty's fly. Sullivan walked. Quinlan laced the ball to left and Woodruff crossed the plate. This saved the locals from being blanked.

In the second round Peitz's crew crowded the stations. Sullivan bingled. Olson flied to center and Quinlan did likewise to left. Both drives looked to be good for one or more bases. Reilly walloped the sphere to right. Hughes was hit by a pitched ball. All were left when Hogg died at first.

Three singles and two sacrifices produced the two runs in the opening round for the visitors. A base on balls, an error, a double and a single yielded three more tallies. The score:

CHAT OF THE GAME.

The Colonels were unable to hit Schneiberg's benders. This accounts for the defeat. The locals secured four safeties, two in the second and two in the ninth.

George Tebeau, former owner of the Louisville Ball Club, witnessed the game yesterday from one of the boxes.

W. Grayson, the purchaser of the Louisville Ball Club, saw the contest yesterday from a box.

Danny Shay, the new player secured by George Tebeau, owner of the Kansas City club, will join the Blues at Toledo to-day or here next week. Besides playing one of the infield positions, he will have full charge of the team. Jake Beckley, who managed the team, will continue to cover first base and act as captain. It is said that Shay is a splendid ballplayer and that he will add considerable strength to the Kansas City outfit.

The Colonels secured their lone tally in the ninth inning. Woodruff singled to left, the locals' third hit of the game. Sullivan ambled to first on a base on balls. Quinlan bingled sharply to left and Woodruff scored, which saved Peitz's men from a shut-out.

The Brewers batted Hogg's slow twisters for three singles and two sacrifice hits, which produced the two runs in the first inning, Strunk, Barry and McGann pinching the bingles in succession.

Leader Peitz changed the batting order of the Colonels. Reilly was shifted to seventh place and Sullivan was put in the clean-up corner.

There will be two games to-day between the Colonels and the Saints from St. Paul. The first contest will be called at 2 o'clock.

* * *

Another double-header will be played to-morrow afternoon with the Saints. The opener will start at 2 o'clock.

* * *

The Colonels, with three men on bases and two out, failed to score in their half of the second. Sullivan singled and took third on Reilly's bingle to right and Randall's juggle of the ball. The stations were crowded when Hughes was hit by a pitched ball. Hogg proved to be an easy out, Schneiberg to McGann.

The Brewers will play the Indianapolis team two games this afternoon. One is a postponed contest.

Gerald Hayes will handle this afternoon's double-header without assistance. Conahan will be back to-morrow.

* * *

Manager McCloskey has a trio of outfielders who will compare favorably with any in the league.

* * *

Hughes, in the fourth, made a quick recovery of the ball after dropping a wild pitch and threw out Randall, who was trying to steal second.

Sullivan did not get a chance for a put-out until the fifth inning, when he caught McCormick's high foul fly.

The Saints are traveling at a fast gait. Flushed with their victories at Indianapolis, they will make the Colonels play better ball than they have been with the Brewers.

The leaders in the A. A. race annexed three runs in the fifth on one hit, two errors and a base on balls. After McCormick fouled out to Sullivan, Moran walked. Schneiberg was safe on Hogg's fumble of a slow tap of the ball. Moran scored on Woodruff's misplay of Strunk's rap. Schneiberg and Strunk crossed the plate on Barry's safety over second base. Barry was caught trying to steal and McGann flied out.

* * *

In the sixth Moran and McGann ran after Dunleavy's foul fly. The ball fell to the ground and then a short colloquy was held between the two players. "Skeeters" walked.

Clark and McGann engineered a pretty play in the Colonels' half of the sixth. Dunleavy was on first and two were out. Sullivan larruped the ball viciously toward third. Clark got it back of third with one hand and threw it to first. The ball bounded badly, but McGann made a great stop and Scooter was robbed of an almost sure hit.

* * *

Umpire Hayes must hurry the players. He allows the game to drag unnecessarily, which has the tendency to make the game slow and uninteresting.

* * *

Managership tells. McCloskey is entitled to practically all the credit for the present standing of the Brewers. Barry McCormick had a better team last year.

Columbus 2—0, Kansas City 1—2.

Columbus, July 23.—Kansas City did the most hitting in to-day's double-header, but fell a victim in the first game to three fast double plays, one in the tenth inning by Moriarity alone. Columbus won in the twelfth. Kruger doubled and Congalton singled. Dorner filled the bases by walking Jones purposely, and then hit Odwell, forcing Kruger home. Link had one bad inning in the second game, while Flaherty prevented any Columbus runner from reaching third. Rain fell at intervals during the afternoon. Score:

Detroit 5—4, Boston 2—2.

Detroit, July 23.—Detroit won both games from Boston to-day. Wood's wildness in the opening inning and errors in the eighth, with which Detroit mixed two triples, decided the first contest. Mullan saved the game for himself by a great stop off Stahl with bases full. In the second game Boston bunched hits off Speer but once. Collins pitched well, but Detroit hit whenever he gave openings by wildness. The games were played on wet grounds. Scores:

Atlanta, Ga., July 23.—Little Rock defeated Atlanta this afternoon in a ten-inning game. There was a wrangle over the decision, but it stood. In the tenth Collins and Cocash scored on a base on balls and three singles. Atlanta was not able to overcome this and lost. FEDERAL SLEUTHS CAPTURE ARRIGO

ALLEGED BLACK HAND LEADER TAKEN IN OHIO.

FIGURED IN AMERICAN CASE.

Cincinnati, July 23.—[Special.]—Salvatore Arrigo, alleged deposed president of the Society de Banana, or Black Hand, whose leaders were arrested several weeks ago in Marion, Cleveland, Toledo, Bellfontaine and Dennison, Ohio, was arrested late tonight on a farm near Goshen, Clermont county. Postal Inspectors Oldfield and Pate and Deputy United States Marshal Sanderson went to the Clermont county farm, where Arrigo was said to be in hiding and captured him.

Arrigo, it is alleged, was deposed three months ago by Salvatore Lima in favor of Francisco Spadero, who in turn was deposed by Lima. When Spadero was arrested here on June 17 by the postal authorities Arrigo fled. He had been living at 1709 Hughes street. He went to the farm in Clermont county, where friends lived and thought himself secure.

To-day Postal Inspector Oldfield reached Cincinnati and this evening the party went to catch Arrigo. He was suffering from rheumatism and was an easy catch. He was taken to the county jail at Batavia, O., where he is now held. Arrigo is the fourteenth man to be arrested in Ohio for alleged complicity in the attempt to extort money from John Amicon, a wealthy Columbus fruit dealer.

CONFIDENCE

In Business Is Developing Rapidly.

WITH TARIFF OUT OF WAY PROSPERITY WILL COME.

PRICES ADVANCE IN IRON AND STEEL TRADE.

CROPS SHOW IMPROVEMENT.

New York, July 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade to-morrow will say:

"With the disturbing tariff question soon to be out of the way and with crops that give promise of satisfactory dimensions and of an aggregate value hundreds of millions of dollars in excess of the best previous record, business confidence is developing rapidly, although it is noticeable that enterprise is not outrunning conservatism in buying for the distant future.

Prices Continue To Advance.

"Prices continue to advance in several branches of the iron and steel trade and higher quotations are expected on some products that have ruled on a very low basis. It is believed that the leading interest will shortly follow the action of independent producers in asking better terms for steel bars, plates and shapes, which have been in active demand since the general recovery set in. In the dry goods markets further expansion is noted in the demand for fall merchandise and in operations for next year's spring trade.

Conservatism In Production.

"Conservatism in production is still a feature, not only in cotton, but in silk and ribbon mills and in some other directions where the character of the future demand is not clearly defined. Price adjustments to higher levels, consequent upon higher cost of production, are having a somewhat conservative effect, but at the same time confidence is abundantly manifested that the general volume of transactions will be maintained. The movement of goods from mills and agencies continues of large proportions. The increased volume of imports in textiles is due in some measure to the anxiety of the large houses to be as free as possible of complications that must arise when a new law goes into effect.

Exports of Cotton Goods.

"Exports of cotton goods thus far this year are more than double those of last year. Tanners are more encouraged over the prospect for hides in the tariff bill and are consequently more disposed to hold off from buying. Domestic hides, though quiet, are unchanged in price and a further advance has been scored in foreign dry hides. Leather is quiet, owing to buyers holding off until they have secured more shoe orders. Prices, however, are very strong and decreased receipts offset the diminished demand. Trade in shoes continues quiet and some of the factories are partly idle in their cutting-rooms, owing to having finished up what fall orders they had and having insufficient new business to keep them fully employed. The prospects are good, however, for an increased trade after the question of the tariff is finally settled."

FALL TRADE GOOD.

Manufactured Wares Show An Upward Tendency.

New York, July 23.—Bradstreet's to-morrow will say:

Improvement in the crops, rather better advices as to ultimate outcome of the leading cereals, easing in prices of breadstuffs consequent thereon or because of larger wheat crop movement, a good distribution at retail under the stimulus of clearance sales and a slight enlargement of fall trade among jobbers and wholesalers are the leading features this week. Connected with this in some degree are the advices from leading industries of enlargement of output, of a continuance of the upward tendency in values of manufactured goods, a larger demand for money for crop-moving purposes and a perceptible increase in harmony visible between employers and employes in a number of lines. This latter is a natural phenomenon of the industrial situation, possibly made more notable this year by reason of the high level of prices of commodities and the consequent cost of living.

All pig iron markets report firm prices, which tend to advance, if anything, but business shows no especial activity except in the East. An agent of a Spanish ore producing concern is said to be in this country making sales to Eastern interests for shipment in 1910. Copper is firmer, largely on operations in London. Production is still of record proportions.

Crude Rubber Goes Up.

Another rise in the price of crude rubber to $1.85 per pound, an advance of 37 cents since July 1, and of 9½ cents over July 1 a year ago, has made the position of rubber manufacturers difficult. Present prices for manufactured goods are said to be below cost of production, and a general advance is predicted.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending July 22 were 230, against 206 last week, 263 in the like week of 1908, 155 in 1907, 171 in 1906 and 197 in 1905. Canadian failures for the week number 24, as compared with 36 last week and 24 in the corresponding week in 1908.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending July 22 aggregate 9[illegible]3,358 bushels, against 1,468,108 last week and 2,529,922 this week last year. For the three weeks ending July 22 exports are 3,814,079 bushels, against 6,793,886 in the corresponding period last year. Corn exports for the week are 32,092 bushels, against 100,113 last week and 73,830 in 1908. For the three weeks ending July 22 corn exports are 179,673 bushels, against 191,695 last year.

BUSINESS OF THE BANKS.

New York, July 23.—Bradstreet's bank clearings report for the week ended July 22 shows an aggregate of $3,017,508,000, as against $3,002,438,000 last week and $2,549,169,000 in the corresponding week last year.

TWO FAVORITES WIN AT BUFFALO

GERRYMANDER IS BEATEN.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 23.—[Special.]—Rain spoiled what promised to be a good card to-day, and the scratches were numerous, the handicap, the fourth event, being declared off altogether.

Favorites fared badly, only two crossing the winning line, the rest of the winners coming from the ranks of well-played second choices. Jockey Davenport still maintains his lead of the winning jockeys, having piloted two to victory to-day in Tom Dolan and Light Blue.

The track conditions spoiled several well-planned coups. Hickory Stick, in the first race, was backed from 50 to 1, his opening price, to 15 at post time, and finished fourth. Dolly Maddis, backed from 100 to 50, had better luck and finished third. With good racing luck the latter could not have lost.

Tom Dolan was the odds-on choice in the second race, making his first appearance in some time. He displayed his old-time fondness for the heavy going by winning as his rider pleased. Uncle Jimmy Gray, the second choice in the betting, simply toyed with his field in the third race and won by ten lengths, pulled up, from the favorite, Cloisteress.

The fourth race proved to be the best betting race of the day, Tom Holland, Light Blue and Strike Out dividing the play. Tom Holland was always the favorite, with Light Blue next in demand and Strike Out heavily played for the place and show. Strike Out was well meant. He jumped into a commanding lead at the first quarter. At the far turn Light Blue shot out of the bunch and soon overhauled the pacemaker, and after a short struggle raced Strike Out into submission, and then drew away to win as his rider pleased. Strike Out lasted long enough to save the place from the fast-coming Tom Holland. The latter ran a good race and was in tight quarters the first part of the journey and came fast when clear, but could never get up, finishing a bang-up third.

Lannigan, the second choice, won the fifth race in a romp from the favorite, Gerrymander, with 4 to 1 against his chances. Gerrymander, the favorite, was doing his best at the end to take the second place from Sensible, one of the outsiders in the betting.

Malediction at last found a soft spot and easily took the long end of the purse from Gilvedear in the closing event at a mile and three-sixteenths. Summaries:

Bad Roads For Glidden Tourists.

Julesburg, Col., July 23.—The pilot car of the Glidden tour, with E. Dan Lewis at the wheel, arrived at 1:45 p. m. to-day after covering 206.2 miles from Kearney, Neb., over the worst roads so far encountered. It was found necessary to secure teams to help the cars over the ridges. No accidents are reported, although some delay was occasioned by a car not in the contest which was stalled in a mudhole near Ogalalla. The contesting cars continued to arrive at short intervals.

‡Ex-dividend.

The State Railroad Commission of Texas has issued a statement of railroads operating in the State for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1909, compared with the year ended June 30, 1908, as follows:

		Increase.	%
Total gross earnings	$82,274,600	$6,928,350	9.20
Net earnings	20,673,246	8,117,602	64.56

*Decrease.

A feature of the strong bond market in Boston during the past year has been the extent to which national banks and trust companies have participated as buyers of new bond offerings.

It is reported that the Chattanooga Railways Company contemplates spending about $500,000 for improvements to its system. The management of the company has recently passed to E. W. Clark & Co., of Philadelphia.

According to present indications 1909 will be a record year for the United Railroads of San Francisco. Gross earnings for March were $597,848, or $58,916 more than those for the same month of 1908. This is at the rate of $7,174,176 per annum, or about 15 per cent. on the capital stock. The fixed charges and other expenses for the years since 1906 are not available in detail, but it is known that they have increased somewhat, owing to the fact that the company has electrified practically all of its 240 miles of road and has had to purchase operating current from an outside concern. The corporation, however, has now acquired, through its holding company, the Stanislaus Power Company's works, and in 1910, when the plant will be supplying the power for the United Roads, a material reduction in operating expenses is expected, with a consequent increase in net income. With the earnings of 1909 as large as they have been and the constantly improving conditions in San Francisco, it would be reasonable to expect a resumption of dividend payments on the preferred stock of the company in the near future.

E. H. Harriman is president and Epes Randolph general manager of the recently organized $75,000,000 Southern Pacific Railroad Company, of Mexico. All the Harriman lines in Mexico and all the Harriman concessions have been taken over by this holding company.

The weekly earnings reached the high point in the excess of 1909 over 1908 during May, but the percentage in favor of 1909 fell off quite sharply in June, so that the earnings for the four weeks of the latter month were something of a disappointment. This is the fourth year that June has increased over the immediately preceding month, in this group of roads. Comparing June with May this past year there is an increase of $1,488,412, also an increase of practically the same amount over April, but the total is below March by about $500,000 and as against October, the largest month of the year, it is $6,272,070 less.

Commenting on the Union Pacific's sale of $10,000,000 Atchison preferred stock and $17,500,000 Southern Pacific convertible bonds the Wall Street Journal says: "There is good authority for believing that Union Pacific is in process of disposing of some other investments acquired at about the time of the Atchison purchase. If this proves to be the case it would not be surprising to find later on that the company has been concentrating its outside investment capital on not more than two chief connections with the Eastern seaboard and the Gulf, all with the purpose of solidifying the vast transportation machinery which goes by the name of the Harriman system."

MARKET LETTERS.

New York.—Toward the close prices hardened and the close was indicative of a higher range to-morrow.—(Kelley, Howell & Co. to Almstedt Bros.

New York.—The fluctuations in stocks during most of the afternoon indicated that prices had reached a standstill for the time being and were waiting for the new tariff bill. Interest centers chiefly on Steel common. The tape appears to say that the dividend will remain unchanged at next Tuesday's meeting of directors. That this would cause any sharp decline in the stock is unlikely, according to the best authorities. They point to the fact that Amalgamated Copper, following like action some days ago on its dividend, which is the same as that on Steel common, has since advanced, being the strongest on the list to-day. We think the market outlook is reasonably good and would buy stocks on all setbacks.—(C. I. Hudson & Co. to S. C. Henning & Co.

New York.—To-day's trading would appear to indicate that operators were willing to await next week's developments without apprehension. If anything recent discussions have encouraged moderate liquidation, particularly in the Steel shares, about which speculative interest has so largely centered the past few months. The earnings and booked orders to be reported next Tuesday have been estimated so high as to leave little to be determined on their actual announcement. The street expects an increase in the dividend, and on this question the action of the market will depend for perhaps a brief period next Wednesday. The entire investment and speculative situation looks healthy, and whatever may be the ultimate intentions of the larger holders of securities there is nothing in the money market, either present or prospective, to induce selling of standard issues, with the hope of better returns than now afforded in dividends.—(Finley Barrell & Co. to E. E. Paine & Co.

STOCK MARKET REVIEW.

New York, July 23.—Money on call easy at 1¾@2 per cent.; ruling rate 1¾; closing bid 1⅞; offered at 2; time loans weaker; 60 days 2 per cent.; 90 days 2½; six months 3½; prime mercantile paper 3¾@4. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.86@4.8610 for 60-day bills and at $4.8740@4.8745 for demand; commercial bills $4.85¾@4.86. Bar silver 50⅝c. Mexican dollars 44c. Government bonds weak. Railroad bonds irregular.

The sluggish and torpid state of the stock market to-day was significant of a waiting mood on the part of the speculation. The event awaited with most interest at present is undoubtedly the meeting of the United States Steel directors on next Tuesday to act on the quarterly dividend. Speculative opinion has about reconciled itself to the view that there will be no change in the dividend rate at that time. There was less fear to-day that this would be attended by active selling of the stock and a decline in the quotation. United States Steel was quiet and steady to-day and conveyed the assurance by its action that the peg had been inserted again at above 70, which had been withdrawn successively at 72 and 71 on the downward course from the maximum price at 73, which was touched last Saturday.

A hopeful feeling was imparted to speculative holders of United States Steel by the action of Amalgamated Copper. The rise in this stock, which is paying a dividend at the rate of 2 per cent. to above 84, caused it to be cited as evidence of what could be done with the price of an industrial security paying 2 per cent. and with prospects. The recent ½ of 1 per cent. quarterly dividend on Amalgamated Copper had been preceded by rumors of an intended increase.

The immediate influence in the rise of Amalgamated Copper to-day was the active market at advancing prices for copper warrants in the London market. This gives rise to hopes that the accumulation of Copper stocks in second hands in Europe may be in process of absorption. The exports of copper from the United States, however, fell during the past week to less than half of the total for the preceding week. The rise in the price of warrants in London was accompanied by the marking up of the bid price at the Metal Exchange in New York. There were reports that one of the large producers was taking no more orders for deliveries beyond October, in the confidence that prices will be higher by that time.

Guesses were prevalent in Wall street to-day on the date of agreement on the conference report on the tariff bill, now believed to be imminent, and it was apparent that this, together with the Steel dividend meeting, would be awaited with interest. The strength of occasional stocks in the list, and, even more, the renewed support accorded United States Steel, was effective in holding the general market, in spite of the semi-stagnation of the trading.

Estimates of the week's currency movement indicated a larger inflow from the interior than had been anticipated, in view of the week's decline in the interior exchanges on New York.

The Subtreasury operations also have yielded a small amount to the banks. The loss of nearly $8,000,000 by the week's gold exports to South America promises to be made up sufficiently to leave an indicated net loss in bank cash of but little over a million dollars. The gold outgo to South America is expected to continue and the London discount rate hardened again to-day on that account. The latest statement of condition of Canadian banks shows a reduction of their loans on call outside of Canada of eleven million, but that item still standing at $115,250,000. This item represents, for the most part, New York indebtedness and a power to call on New York for remittances to that amount.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales (par value), $2,956,000. United States 2s and the 3s declined ¼ per cent. on call.

FOREIGN FINANCIAL.

London, July 23.—Money was plentiful on the market to-day, with a moderate demand. Discounts were firm. Trading on the Stock Exchange was much more cheerful under the influence of a smart rise in American shares, home rails and copper shares, the latter improving with the metal, and new York buying, while home rails were strong, with broadening business on dividends and the prospects of a settlement of the coal trade dispute. Foreigners and diamond shares hardened on Paris support, but gilt-edged securities were checked by the gold export. American securities opened steady, a small fraction higher. Good buying of Amalgamated Copper, the Harriman issues and Atchison strengthened the list, and at noon the tone was firm, with prices ranging from ¼@⅝ over yesterday's New York closing. The advance was maintained until the afternoon, when New York sold the market down fractionally, and, although there was a slight recovery, the final tone was easy. CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 23.—Wheat prices sink to a still lower level on the Board of Trade to-day, the July delivery dropping to $1.11, or 1c below the low point of the previous session. The market closed weak at almost the bottom at net losses of 1¼@1¾c. Corn closed firm, oats steady and provisions easy.

Pronounced weakness was manifested in the wheat pit nearly all day. The bearish influences were too overpowering for the bulls to attempt to conquer and the supporting of the market was left almost entirely to those who had sold "short" on previous sessions. The first rush of new wheat to market is now on in earnest and the prospects are for a heavy movement for some time to come. In addition to this weather conditions in the Northwest were extremely favorable for the spring-sown crop, which is now nearly ready for the reaper. Foreign news also was unmistakably bearish. Wheat at Liverpool was down ⅛@1¼d, shipments of wheat for the week from Argentina were much larger than expected and Russia was reported to be offering new wheat freely at constantly declining prices. During the day the July delivery sold between $1.11 and $1.13, while September ranged between $1.06⅞ and $1.08½. There was considerable selling of the deferred months by Northwestern interests, presumably prompted by a break in prices at Duluth and Minneapolis, due to the favorable weather conditions in Minnesota and the Dakotas. Final quotations on July were at $1.11⅜ and on September at $1.07.

Reports of damage to the new crop by hot weather in Oklahoma and Kansas had a strengthening effect on the corn market, sentiment in the pit being bullish all day. Prices at one time were about 1c above the low point of the session, but with the exception of the July delivery all of the gain was not retained. Receipts were only moderate and cash interests claimed there was little prospect of another material increase in the movement. The market closed strong, with prices ⅛@⅝c above yesterday's final figures.

The oats market held up remarkably well, considering the extremely favorable reports which came in regarding the new crop. Commission houses were sufficiently urgent bidders to offset the scattered selling which was in evidence all day. The strength of corn had a tendency to cause some firmness in oats. The market closed steady, with prices a shade higher to ¼c lower.

Poor demand for the cash products had a weakening effect on the provisions market, which was rather heavy all day. Local longs were moderate sellers throughout the entire session and demand was not urgent. Prices at the close were unchanged to 10c lower.

GRAIN LETTER.

Chicago.—Liverpool was ⅛@1¼d lower again, the influences affecting prices being continued free offerings of Russian and Danubian wheat and larger Argentine shipments than those predicted. The market opened ¼@⅜c below yesterday's closing price and ruled heavy in tone all through the session. Local receipts 354 cars, against 312, estimated. Weather in the spring wheat country was more favorable, and the Northwest markets led in the decline. The large export demand, which has been a factor in the past few days, was lacking, and estimated receipts—334 cars for to-morrow—added to the prevailing bearish feeling which exists locally, and the professionals pressed their advantage. There did not appear to be any particular selling of long wheat, and the market is very apt to get into an oversold condition. Corn seems to have independent strength and is not readily influenced by weakness in other grains, which, we think, is due to the already outstanding large short interest. The oats market clearly lacks buying power, and, with movement of oats so near at hand, it would appear difficult to get a sustained advance.—(Bartlett, Patten & Co. to Washington Flexner & Co.

COTTON MARKETS.

New York, July 23.—The cotton market showed continued nervousness, but trading was not so active to-day and the general tendency was higher, with the close steady at a net advance of 13@22 points. The market opened steady at a net advance of 5@8 points in response to firm cables and the early weather map, which showed less rain in Texas than had been anticipated, and nothing in the way of a low barometer to indicate much further precipitation. Sentiment, however, was evidently very much unsettled, and while Liverpool buying helped to sustain the early market, this was supposed to be chiefly in the way of undoing straddles, so after the Liverpool close there was less support and prices broke sharply. The detailed Texas weather report showed considerable precipitation—rather too light at some points and rather too heavy at others—but served to indicate pretty general showers of rains over the State, and this helped the decline which carried December off to 11.72 and the general list to a net loss of 5@9 points. Later the market firmed up on renewed covering, and some fresh buying, which may have been partly encouraged by reports that representatives of a local firm, who have been making an investigation of crop prospects, estimate the prospective yield at only 11,575,000 bales maximum. The best point of the day was reached in the late trading, when December sold at 11.98, and the close was within a point or two of the top. Southern spot markets officially reported early were unchanged to 1/16c lower.

Receipts at the ports to-day 2,956 bales, against 2,449 last week and 5,004 last year. For the week 20,000 bales, against 30,929 last week and 23,660 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans 651 bales, against 329 last year.

Spot market opened quiet; middling uplands 12.20c; do gulf 12.45c. Closed quiet and 15 points higher; middling uplands 12.35c; do gulf 12.60c. Sales 1,821 bales.

Receipts 651 bales; stock 83,613.

Futures opened steady at an advance of 1@7 points under the influence of better cables than expected. During the first hour of trading the market was very steady on a broad buying movement, but the higher price levels reached called out heavy pressure from prominent bears, who were said to be making an effort to force big longs to liquidate. This sent prices down until they were 4 or 5 points below yesterday's closing. At this point a prominent New York firm put out a crop estimate of 11,575,000 bales and buying commenced again amongst both bulls and bears, with the result that prices were sent to the highest of the day, standing late in the session at an advance of 20@21 points above yesterday's final quotations. The closing was very steady at a net advance of 19@20 points.

COTTON COMMENT.

New York.—Volume of business not large and selling was only by scalpers who expected to buy their lines back before the bureau report.—(Hill, of Logan & Bryan, to W. L. Lyons & Co.

A rumor was in circulation that a very prominent house would issue a crop estimate of 11,500,000 bales. This seems to be extreme, but even a 12,000,000-bale crop will mean much higher prices.—(Finley Barrell & Co. to E. E. Paine & Co.

Cotton will be hard to bull after these Texas rains, and the probability of a better Government condition August 2, but on dips after this break of over 100 points we think cotton can be conservatively purchased on the general merits of the prospective supply and demand situation.—(J. S. Bache & Co. to Washington Flexner & Co.

COFFEE MARKET.

New York, July 23.—The market for futures opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points and ruled generally steady on covering by near-months shorts, a little support from near-months bulls and smaller offerings from trade sources, although the primary receipts continued very heavy. There was nothing in the foreign markets to have much effect on sentiment, with Havre closing unchanged to 1½ points higher. The local market closed steady, unchanged to 15 points higher. Sales were reported of 24,250 bags, including July at 7.05@7.10c, September at 5.70@5.75c, December at 5.30@5.40c, March at 5.35@5.45c and May at 5.70c.

Size of Coffee Crops.

Supplies of coffee for the new year from Brazil are within about ten days of arrival from shipments made at the beginning of July. The stocks in local market are given as 3,123,600 bags. Nearly 300,000 bags are afloat from foreign countries, including 8,500 bags from Europe. July prices for Havre are 42.50 francs and December 39.75. The difference of 3.75 francs measures the weight of the market on account of the new crop.

The size of the new crop is still being variously estimated. At least 9,500,000 bags can be counted upon from Santos. Predictions of 5,000,000 to 5,500,000 bags from other Brazilian sources are widely entertained. Outside of Brazil, still less information exists as to the probable yield. A comparison of the yields of earlier years, with deliveries and supplies at the end of each year, discloses the fact that the average yield for the preceding five years was 19,417,000 bags, while deliveries were 17,322,000 bags, leaving a surplus averaging 4,095,000 a year. The yearly returns are thus stated from all sources:

	Yields.	Deliveries.	Surplus End of Yr.

To Vary the Menu.

When it is considered that, apart from breakfast, seven hundred and thirty big meals must be prepared during the year—year in and year out—it is little wonder that the housewife is so constantly at a loss to know how to vary the menu.

But, once knowing the great variety of cooking uses to which Faust Brand Spaghetti can be put, no woman who has at heart the success of her meals need ever be without the means of preparing new and delectable dishes. Everything from soup to dainty desserts can be made with this wonderful food, which, besides being as nourishing as meat, is one of the most economical foods sold. In fact, so nourishing and inexpensive is it that, in many homes, it replaces meat altogether, and forms an article of daily diet which never grows tiresome.

Faust Spaghetti is made from American grown Durum wheat—best in the world, and is sold in sealed packages which preserve its freshness and purity. In every five and ten-cent package is a book of famous Spaghetti recipes, which only begin to indicate the endless ways in which Faust Spaghetti may be served.

COLUMBUS, OHIO,

SELECTED BY RETAIL CLERKS AS NEXT MEETING PLACE.

Fourteenth Biennial Convention Closes After Sessions Covering Four Days.

The fourteenth biennial convention of the Retail Clerks' Protective Association came to an end yesterday at the Galt House. All the officers of the association were highly pleased with the meeting just concluded, and are loud in their praises of the treatment accorded the delegates while here.

Columbus, O., was chosen as the next meeting place. Several other cities had made bids for the honor of entertaining the next convention, but toward the end most of them had dropped out, leaving San Francisco and Columbus as the only contenders. The vote gave the latter an overwhelming majority, but San Francisco is slated for the 1913 convention. The Ohio delegates say they will immediately begin plans for the entertainment of the clerks in 1911.

The greater part of yesterday's session was taken up by consideration of the report of the committee on constitution and by-laws. The changes in the constitution are said to have been important only in a few instances. It was said that the section regarding assessment was revised.

The resolutions committee, of which J. C. Thompson, of Mobile, Ala., is chairman, presented several resolutions. One of these was a resolution on the death of Max Morris, who for thirteen years was secretary and treasurer of the international body.

A resolution also was presented thanking the merchants of Mobile for voluntarily signing an agreement which provided for the closing of their stores on Saturday night at 9:30 o'clock, and calling on the clerks of that city to express their appreciation by every means in their power.

Another resolution was adopted thanking the clerks and others of Louisville for their hospitality.

The convention gave a rising vote of thanks to M. E. Licht, first vice president, who presided at all the sessions, for his efficient and impartial rulings.

Mrs. E. P. Nichols, the president's secretary, who acted as secretary of the convention, also was given a vote of thanks.

With the convention concluded, the association now has to elect a secretary-treasurer to succeed the late Max Morris. This selection is to be made by a referendum vote, which will begin on August 1. It will require several months to finish the vote. The present candidates are H. J. Conway and D. B. Manning, of Washington, D. C.

New Construction Company.

Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday in the office of the County Clerk by the Falls City Construction Company, which listed its capital at $50,000, divided into shares of $100 each. The company will continue the general building and construction business it has been engaged in as a corporation. The incorporators, each of whom has three shares, are W. N. Cox, H. P. Lewman and M. P. Micol.

THREE DEATHS

DANIEL C. M'DANELD SUCCUMBS SUDDENLY.

CANCER PROVES FATAL FOR MRS. SARAH GIBSON.

MRS. JAMES A. MORGAN DIES.

At a time when he was believed to be rapidly convalescing from an attack of typhoid fever, Daniel C. McDaneld, of Jeffersonville, suddenly collapsed yesterday morning at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ella McDaneld, 112 West Chestnut street, and in a short time after being placed in bed was dead. Some three months ago Mr. McDaneld became ill of typhoid fever and was in a critical condition for several weeks, but finally there was a change for the better. Improvement was slow until within the last few days, when the belief became current that the patient would be out in a short time.

Yesterday he appeared to be so much better that he was permitted to sit up and expressed a wish to write a letter to a brother. While in the act of doing so he complained of having a chilly feeling and was assisted to his bed. He did not rally and death ensued in a short time. His mother is the widow of W. S. McDaneld and the family came to Jeffersonville four years ago, but Mrs. McDaneld lived there before her marriage. After that her home was near Watson, Ind., where the son who died yesterday was born January 23, 1891. At the time Mr. McDaneld was taken ill he was employed as a clerk in a clothing store.

His death was the first in a circle of eight brothers and sisters, the surviving seven being Winfield S. McDaneld, Dion McDaneld, Miss Flora McDaneld, Miss May McDaneld, Miss Evelyn McDaneld, Mrs. Bonnie Clehan, all of Jeffersonville, and Nathan McDaneld, of Pine Bluff, Ark.

Dies of Cancer.

Mrs. Sarah Gibson, who was the wife of Jacob Gibson, an influential farmer of Clark county, Ind., died at her home, Cedar Grove Farm, near Prather, and ten miles east of Jeffersonville, Thursday evening, of cancer. She was a member of two of the oldest families in the county. Her father was Adam Howard, whose father, George Howard, located near what is now Fisherville, Ky., during the latter part of the Eighteenth century and finally went to Indiana. Her mother's maiden name was Mary Lutz and her ancestors came from North Carolina about 1801.

Mrs. Gibson was regarded as a model Christian woman and for a good part of her life had been identified with the Christian Church. Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Stella Dettmer, of Charlestown, Ind., and Mrs. Carrie Lawrence, whose home is near Watson, Ind. There are three brothers and three sisters still living, as follows: Henry Howard and James Howard, of Jeffersonville; Charles Howard, Mrs. Lydia McGarvey and Miss Clara Howard, of Charlestown township, and Mrs. Oliver Blythe, of Indianapolis. The funeral services will be conducted from Union church, Utica township, to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Long Illness Fatal.

Mrs. Sarah Mangan, who was the wife of Prof. James A. Mangan, died of stomach trouble at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Raymond Stanton, 325 East Chestnut street, Jeffersonville, last evening. Previous to her last illness her health had not been good and when she was taken ill no relief could be found for her and yesterday morning all hope was abandoned. Mrs. Mangan was a devout member of the Catholic Church. She was a native of Ireland and was about 76 years of age.

Besides her husband and Mrs. Stanton she is the only other survivor of Mrs. Mangan is another daughter, Miss Mary Mangan. The funeral arrangements will be completed to-day.

BABY RESTLESS AND SUFFERING

With Severe Eczema—Spread from Face All Over Scalp—Developed into a Solid Scab and Her Ears Seemed Ready to Come Off.

PERMANENTLY CURED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"My baby suffered about three weeks and she was in a very bad condition. The eczema commenced on her face and spread all over the scalp. It was a solid scab and sore, and her little ears looked as though they would come off. She was very fretful and could rest but very little. She would rub her little ears and head much of the time. She looked awfully bad. We then heard of the Cuticura Remedies and I bought some Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and I decided to give them a trial. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment. At the time I commenced to use the Cuticura Remedies she was in a very bad fix. I began the treatment by bathing with Cuticura Soap three times a day and also used Cuticura Ointment after each bath, and it was but a few days before we began to find out she was improving. She continued to improve and in about three weeks she was entirely cured and has not been troubled with any skin disease since. She was at that time about three months old and she is now three years and two months and is a fine, fat baby girl. I will gladly recommend the Cuticura Remedies to any one who is suffering from that terrible disease and I give to Cuticura many thanks. I will gladly tell of her cure to any one who will ask or write about it. Mrs. M. M. Reynolds, Box 40, R. F. D. 2, Windsor, Va., Oct. 20 and Nov. 6, 1908."

FROM HOSPITAL,

William, Alias George Davis, Escapes.

WAS AWAITING TRIAL IN LOS ANGELES, CAL.

A. HEIMBERGER FOR MAYOR.

Word was received in New Albany yesterday of the escape of William Davis, alias George Davis, from the county hospital at Los Angeles, Cal., where he had been sent from jail on account of illness. The case is interesting to the New Albany police authorities from the fact that Davis came here about five years ago and opened a wholesale commission and grocery house on Main street, between Pearl and State streets, and got credit to the amount of several thousand dollars from New Albany merchants, F. N. Curl being the principal sufferer. He closed his store one night and left the city. He was arrested in Cincinnati and brought back here, and had about $3,000 when arrested.

It was found that he was wanted in Los Angeles on the charge of swindling merchants out of $5,000 in that city, and the Indiana officers allowed him to be sent there on the promise that he would be prosecuted.

Nothing was heard of the case until yesterday, when Sergt. McLaughlin and Chief Adams, of the police force, heard of his escape from the Los Angeles hospital.

It is surmised that Davis will not come this way, although he said he liked New Albany as a business place, it being so easy to get credit.

Davis is 41 years of age, 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs about 145 pounds. He claims to have been suffering from consumption.

Urged To Make Race.

A number of leading Democrats of New Albany are urging Adam Heimberger to make the race for Mayor on the Democratic ticket. They argue that he could win with ease if nominated. Although the position only pays $1,200 a year, business men want Mr. Heimberger to run, feeling that he would be a safe man in the position and would bring the city out of debt and reduce expenditures. Mr. Heimberger is president of the Commercial Club, and has the confidence of the business community. He is always among the foremost in promoting the city's best interests, and would poll a large independent vote, as well as Democratic vote, there being no question as to his Democracy. He served with ability as City Controller several years ago, and made a fine reputation in that position, not only for strict integrity, but for economy and reform. For these reasons it is urged that he would be an ideal Mayor. So far the party has been unable to unite on any of the candidates mentioned, and it is possible that Mr. Heimberger could be prevailed upon to accept the nomination under certain conditions.

Juvenile Court Session To-day.

The Juvenile Court will meet to-day in New Albany, Judge William C. Utz presiding. An interesting case will come up from Lafayette township, wherein a woman seeks to secure possession of her child. Mrs. Louis Kaiser sues her own mother, Mrs. Margaret Fenwick, who has had possession of Mrs. Kaiser's little girl since infancy, she now being 12 years of age. The grandmother does not want to give her up.

Joe Kraft, probation officer, will have several boys and girls before the court, among them Cleon Walker, colored, aged 11 years, who has been stealing all kinds of goods from stores and residences for several months, on his own confession. Mr. Kraft has already recovered about $100 worth of the property, and is looking for more of it, which is supposed to have been secreted.

Raymond Bloat, a white boy, also will be before the court, charged with pointing a pistol at a woman who lives next door to his parents on lower Fourth street.

Must Renew Mortgages.

In compliance with a new law County Auditors in Indiana must have all school fund loans which have run for five years or more paid or renewed by notes and mortgages. Julian Miller, of New Albany, Auditor of Floyd county, will proceed to enforce the law, and is sending out notices to all who hold school fund mortgages that the law must be complied with. The law only applies to school fund loans which have run for five years or more, the statute providing that such loans may not be made for a longer period than five years. Attorney General James Bingham has construed the law, and all County Auditors are expected to carry it out according to his written opinion recently handed down. The purpose of the law is to compel those who have not given sufficient security to make good.

Pretty Babies Win Prizes.

A baby show was given in connection with the picnic and outing of Alpha Lodge, Shepherds of Bethlehem, at Glenwood Park, and there were a large number of entries. The first prize was awarded to Wallace Gwin Sinex, son of Patrolman Harry Sinex. The second prize was given to Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Kirkpatrick, of Lexington, Ky., who are visiting relatives in New Albany, and the third prize went to Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Low, 1608 East Oak street. Special prizes were awarded to the twins of Mrs. Anna Royce, 1001 Vincennes street.

Former Treasurer Injured.

Former City Treasurer Samuel M. Weir, of New Albany, suffered the loss of a portion of a finger on his right hand at his farm, near Galena. Mr. Weir was hoisting hay into his barn with a pulley operated by horse power, when his hand became entangled in the ropes and his hand was severely crushed. Mr. Weir was City Treasurer of New Albany for nearly fifteen years, and when he retired from office engaged in farming in Greenville township.

BEGINS ITS CAMPAIGN

Ties String To Rule By Making It Possible To Deviate At Opportune Times.

The Board of Safety has issued an order to the effect that hereafter whenever substitute firemen are to be promoted to regular places they will proceed according to their terms of service as substitutes. Most, if not all, the substitute firemen are said to be Republicans, and in the opinion of the Board of Safety this is a good time to begin a civil service in the fire department; it insures only Republicans as members of the department. It will be noticed that the rule issued by the board says that there will be no deviation except by unanimous vote of the board. When a Democrat happens to be in line of promotion, the unanimous vote of the board can be invoked to change the rule in that particular case. It is also possible to back track on physical qualifications. Under the rules a man may work as substitute until he is black in the face, no matter what his physical condition, but when it comes time to promote him, his physical condition figures.

Louisville, Ky., July 22, 1909.—Maj. Fillmore Tyson, Chief of Fire Department—Dear Sir: Your favor of the 8th instant, recommending that hereafter when substitutes are promoted to regular positions in the fire department that they be selected according to the date of appointment, provided they are competent and pass a physical examination, has been received, and is this day approved by this board.

The list of substitute firemen that you inclosed has also been received and filed, and we now inclose you the following order that has been spread upon the minutes of this board:

"The board has this day ordered all the substitute firemen now in the fire department to be numbered according to the date of their appointment, the oldest substitute being No. 1 and so on until the last substitute appointed, who will take the last number on the list.

"A list of the present substitutes and their numbers to be spread on the minutes.

"That hereafter each substitute, when appointed, will be numbered one number higher than the number of the last substitute appointed.

"Hereafter all appointments of substitute firemen to be regular firemen will be made according to the date of their appointment, the oldest substitute being appointed first, and so on. There will be no deviation from this rule except by the unanimous vote of the board."

Yours very truly,
BOARD OF PUBLIC SAFETY.
H. B. GREEN, Chairman.

The Benefits of Modern Plumbing.

One of the most generally approved ideas of modern plumbing is that of installing one-piece lavatories supplied with hot and cold running water in the sleeping apartments and dressing chambers of the individual members of the household.

The benefits derived from this arrangement will not only be found necessary to modern living, but also prove a source of convenience and comfort to the occupants.

We have a very complete line on exhibition in our showrooms and will be glad to aid you in making selections.
